Witness Says Shaw, 'Leon Oswald' Were In Plot to Shoot JFK

Powell Insists He Will Appear In New York

Claims Harlem Will Not Let Him Remain in Jail

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell, who announced plans to return to New York next Sunday, says if he is arrested the "people in Harlem" will not let him remain in jail.

He told a news conference Monday he would "walk the streets of Harlem" and deliver a Palm Sunday sermon at his Absyssinian Baptist Church despite the threat of arrest on a contempt-of-court warrant. The warrant makes him liable to arrest any time he re-enters the state of New York.

A lawyer in the New York sheriff's office said, "We do not know now whether we would arrest Mr. Powell if he came into town Sunday, because arrests in civil cases are not usually made on Sundays."

Hails Withdrawal

Powell joined with Negro leaders in Harlem and across the country in hailing James H. Meredith's withdrawal as the Republican leaders' choice to oppose Powell in a special congressional election April 11.

"I didn't think a civil rights leader would allow himself to become a white man's puppet," Powell replied when asked why he thought Meredith had dropped out of the race.

Meredith told a news conference in New York that he pulled out because the Republicans had not delivered on promises of money to help finance his campaign.

Stay in Politics

Meredith would not say whether he would support Powell. He said only that the election was "bigger than Adam Clayton Powell."

America has a secret ballot, he said, and "I'll decide when I'm ready."

Meredith said he planned to stay in Republican politics, but

Court Backs Order

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York State Appellate Court by a four to one vote, today refused to vacate a lower court order permitting the arrest of former Rep. Adam Clayton Powell if he comes here on Sunday, as he has promised.

Supposed White House Meeting

Heated Clash Reported on RFK, LBJ Vietnam Stands

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson castigated Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., last month for his stance on Vietnam and told the senator his political career would end rapidly if he maintained the stance, Time magazine reports. Time says Kennedy called the President an s o b

"He (Kennedy) did not call the President an s.o.b.," said two aides to Kennedy—Frank Mankewicz in Washington and Adam Walinsky, who was in Oklahoma City with the senator on a speaking engagement.

Kennedy could not be reached directly.

In Washington, White House press secretary George Christian said the version of the Johnson-Kennedy confrontation that has appeared in print in several more or less similar forms "doesn't accord with the memories of three people who were in that meeting."

'Not True'

Christian was not present. One participant, however, was Walt W. Rostow, Johnson's special assistant for national security affairs.

"There's not a word of truth in those quotations," Rostow said.

In its current issue, Time reports that Kennedy is said also to have told the President at one point, "I don't have to sit here and take that — — — —."

Both Kennedy aides denied that this was a correct version.

"There are substantial inaccuracies," said Mankewicz. "It (the Time account) is way off. There was a meeting Feb. 6 at the White House, it lasted 45 minutes but that's about it."

Time bases its account on the Feb. 6 meeting and said it lasted 45 minutes.

'Discussed It'

Asked if President Johnson castigated Kennedy at the meeting as reported by Time, Mankewicz replied: "I wasn't there, but I think not. The whole tone of the article is all wrong."

"The senator," continued Mankewicz, "got back from Europe and they talked about what happened. The senator told the President what he heard about Vietnam and the President gave him his views. They discussed it, and that's about it."

"The senator never used the language described in there (the

Developments Of Conference Will be Minor

White House Puts Clamp on Guessing About Guam Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has placed a damper on speculation that President Johnson's trip Saturday to Guam will result in any spectacular developments concerning the Vietnam war.

Presidential aides said Monday the Guam meeting is just one of a series being held semi-annually to review military and civil development aspects of the Vietnam effort.

White House press secretary George Christian said, meanwhile, that Johnson "would not allow politics to interfere with any decision affecting the Vietnam situation."

He was responding to questions about the decision of the California Democratic Council — a 30,000 - member political group — to support a "peace candidate" in the 1968 California Democratic presidential primary unless the war is ended by September.

The council in the past has supported an end to U.S bombing of North Vietnam.

Garrison's 'Informant' Testifies

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Perry Raymond Russo, a witness for Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison, tesufied at a preliminary hearing today that Clay L. Shaw was one of the three men he heard plotting to kill President John F. Kennedy.

Russo, a 25-year-old insurance salesman from Baton Rouge, said he heard the conversation in the apartment of David W. Ferrie in September 1963.

Russo's testimony stamped him as the "confidential informant" cited by Garrison as the source who "saw the conspirators and heard the plans."

Russo described the scene in Ferrie's apartment this way:

"There seemed to be some sort of party in progress. They were drinking and talking."

The party died out Russo said, and the only ones left were himself, Ferrie, "Leon Oswald" and Clem Bertrand."

On the direction of Garrison, Russo walked behind the chair of Clay L. Shaw in the courtroom. Asked to point out the man he was introduced to as Clay Bertrand, Russo held his hand over Shaw's head.

Shaw Impassive

Shaw looked straight ahead, impassive. The 54-year-old former director of the New Orleans International Trade Mart, has denied any part in an assassination conspiracy. He was arrested by Garrison on March 1 and released on $10,000 bond. Today's hearing was to determine if sufficient evidence exists to hold him for trial.

Russo described the talk in Ferrie's apartment in these words.

"David Ferrie began the conversation after the excuse for my being there. He began pacing back and forth and talking to Bertrand and Oswald."

"These discussions centered around how the assassination of Kennedy would have to use diversionary tactics."

Fly to Mexico

Russo quoted Ferrie as saying there would be two to three people involved. One person would shoot "diversionary shots," the other would shoot what he said Ferrie termed "the good shot." He quoted Ferrie as saying one man "would have to be the scapegoat."

Russo described Ferrie as the pilot in the plot. He quoted the

Spy Ship Causes Very Tiny Ripple

WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Johnson visits Guam next week, his arrival will be routinely reported by a Soviet spy ship which keeps the tiny island under constant surveiliance.

Knowledge of the President's arrival for a Vietnam war conference won't be much of a coup for the Communists — his trip has been announced and security on Guam should be easier to maintain than anywhere else he has been in the Pacific.

It's novel, though, that a top level war conference involving the President and his top advisers will take place just a few miles from where a group of known Soviet spies operates with the latest electronic equipment.

U.S. naval authorities also try not to let the spy ship bother them.

In fact, the Navy — and the civilian population — treat the vessel as something of a tourist attraction. The Navy takes VIP visitors out in a launch to see the boat, and they normally get a friendly wave from any Soviet who happens on deck.

The Soviet crewmen, of course are not permitted ashore. When Soviet vodka or cigarettes begin popping up around sleepy Agana, the capital of Guam, investigations are made.

Civilians have been known to get close enough to exchange American cigarettes for vodka and other commodities, though naval intelligence officially frowns on such activity.

Rear Adm. Horace Bird, who commands the Navy in the Marianas, once told a reporter, however, that he didn't mind too much.

"It gives the intelligence people something to do!" he chuckled.

Court Action Brought On Thalidomide

AACHEN, Germany (AP) — Criminal charges were announced today against the makers of thalidomide, the tranquilizing drug blamed for the birth of thousands of deformed children in many countries.

More than five years after the worldwide scandal over the effect of the drug on pregnant women, nine officers and scientists of the Chemie Gruenenthal pharmaceutical firm were accused formally of inflicting bodily injury and negligent manslaughter.

Local prosecutors said evidence collected since 1961 proved a definite link between the once popular drug and the wave of deformed babies.

In about 20 countries, from Austria to the Philippines, an estimated 6,500 children were born with missing or maimed limbs or with other serious defects to women who reportedly took thalidomide during pregnancy.

Red Smuggling Ship Destroyed

U.S. Navy Craft in Running Duel Off S. Vietnam Coast

SAIGON (AP) — American warships fought a running duel off the South Vietnamese coast today with a large arms-smuggling Communist trawler which ran onto the shore and blew itself up when flight became hopeless.

The 100-foot, steel-hulled trawler shot up a 50-foot U S Navy patrol boat during the sea battle. The Red crew set off detonating charges after they beached the trawler, but much contraband, including small arms and uniforms, was recovered. Salvage crews were searching for more.

The fight took place about 100 miles south of the 17th Parallel which divides North and South Vietnam. Two such trawlers were intercepted last year by

Tax Credit Enters House Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration asked a House committee today to restore some tax breaks for business — but now is expected to wait another two months before submitting its formal request for an income tax increase.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler carried the business tax message to the House Ways and Means Committee.

The administration wants immediate restoration of the investment tax credit, by which cent of their spending on equipment, and of favorable depreciation rules for profit-making buildings.

$150,000 From Testimonials

Dodd Lined His Own Pockets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate ethics committee probe of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd turns today to exploring the motives behind fund-raising activities the Connecticut Democrat says put at least $150,000 into his personal bank accounts.

The hearings got off to a fast start Monday with the bipartisan committee and Dodd stipulating in a 162-page document to a mass of facts concerning fund-raising activities in his behalf between 1961 and 1965.

Dodd

In addition to campaign contributions for Dodd's 1964 reelection race, there were a series of testimonial events. Dodd contends the proceeds from these were tax-free gifts he could legitimately use as he saw fit.

Own Accounts

Figures in the stipulation indicated that $456,709 was raised altogether and that Dodd deposited at least $150,000 of it in his own bank accounts.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., told reporters that "due to the sweeping nature of the stipulation," the hearings were moving rather rapidly and might be completed before Congress starts an Easter recess late next week.

With so many facts agreed to, Stennis said testimony will deal largely with explanations and the motives that prompted the testimonial dinners and other fund-raising events.

President Johnson, when he was vice president, was the principal speaker at testimonial affairs in 1961 and 1963. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was the featured speaker at a fund-raising dinner in 1965.

Among the witnesses on tap today was Ivan Sinclair, an aide to then-Vice President Johnson in 1961. Sinclair, the committee was told Monday, inquired about the purpose of the Nov. 20, 1961, testimonial at which Johnson spoke.

'To Raise Money'

James P. Boyd Jr., Dodd's former administrative assistant, said when the senator learned about the inquiry he said "to tell the vice president the purpose was to raise money."

When Dodd was asked whether he would benefit personally, Boyd said, the senator gave these instructions: "Tell them I may be presented with a gold watch."

Dodd says he fired Boyd for misconduct and that his onetime aide, seeking revenge, turned over to columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson documents stolen from his Senate office.

Dodd has filed a $2 million libel suit against Pearson and Anderson, whose columns led to the Senate panel's probe.

The stipulation entered in evidence showed that from the $100-a-plate dinner in Hartford in 1961, $55,915 was deposited in a bank account here in the name of Dodd and his wife, Grace.

'No Information'

At a news conference last April 22, Johnson was asked about his participation in the 1961 and 1963 fund-raising events for Dodd.

He gave this reply: "I have no information about any dinner held for anyone to obtain funds for personal use. None I have ever attended that I knew were being held for that purpose."

Boyd, who has admitted removing thousands of documents from Dodd's files and turning

Talks With Reds Sought by Brooke

Senator on Fact-Finding Tour of Far East, Arrives in Cambodia

By BOB GASSAWAY

SAIGON (AP) — Sen Edward W. Brooke, who has suggested a re-examination of U.S. policy of bombing North Vietnam, flew to Cambodia today and said he may talk with Viet Cong and North Vietnamese representatives there.

The Massachusetts Republican told newsmen as he left for Phnom Penh that if he meets the Communist representatives, it will be primarily to 'study attitudes."

He also hopes to meet with the Cambodian chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, he said, adding: "There is a possibility that if there are representatives of the (NLF) (the National Liberation Front) and of the North there, I might talk with them." The NLF is the political arm of the Viet Cong.

Brooke, on a 17-day Asian fact-finding tour, again expressed a wish to visit North Vietnam but said the U.S. State Department has been "very discouraging and understandably so" about such a trip.

He said he had not asked Hanoi for an invitation and had received none. He said he would not go even if invited, however, if the trip would embarrass the U S government.

"I have heard nothing on this trip that would help get an invitation," he said. If he were to visit the North Vietnamese capital, he emphasized, it would be only to "evaluate how Hanoi is weathering this war."

The first Negro to be elected to the U S. Senate in this century, Brooke said last month he hoped to visit both North and South Vietnam and to interview North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh.

Brooke said today that he is not representing the executive branch of the U.S. government on his tour and is carrying no peace feelers.

Ending a five-day stay in South Vietnam, the senator said "I still have more facts to gather before I make a conclusion" about U S efforts in Vietnam.

From Cambodia he is to go to Laos and Thailand before returning to Washington March 22.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., left, talks with Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam at the Saigon Independence Palace before leaving today for Cambodia. He told newsmen there is a possibility he will talk with representatives of the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese. (AP Wirephoto)

Optical Brighteners Clue To Washday Mysteries

It isn't enough that white linen sales include colored sheets, and that so-called linens are usually 100 per cent cotton. The so-called bright look that detergent companies advertise isn't the result of a cleaning agent. It's all done with optical brighteners, which aren't exactly optical illusions, but it's close.

"It's all based on the light you see and the light you don't see," says Per S. Stansby, technical development manager of a chemical company.

Invisible to Eye

It seems a really white cotton fabric exposed to sunlight reflects the sunlight and the invisible ultra-violet part, which accounts for about five per cent of the sun's energy. But our eyes don't respond to this ultra-violet light.

That's where optical brighteners come in. These are used in most home detergents, fabric softeners and even in the manufacture of papers, plastics and some toys. They function by absorbing this ultra-violet light which is invisible to the human eye, converting it into visible blue-violet light. The blue-violet light masks the natural yellowing of materials and results in a blue-white glow which the eye sees as added brightness.

Pastel sheets, shirts and pillow cases are supposed to look more fresh and sparkling as the result of using these detergents with the optical brighteners.

One big advantage of these chemicals is their ability to keep synthetic materials looking new. There are detergents with special brighteners designed for these fabrics, and optical brighteners are put directly into some synthetic fibers before they are woven. The chemical is also being incorporated into new durable press materials and there are special brighteners in the new cold water detergents.

See in Fabric

You can't see the chemical in the wash water, but you could see it in the fabric if you happened to have a black light (high ultra violet content) and hold a sheet or shirt up to it.

It all works in the same manner as a policeman's orange rainwear designed to glow in the dark. Fluorescent colorants go into the material of the uniform and th elight in headlights and street lamps excites the colorants in the material, making it shine.

Look Whiter

Brighteners do not make clothes cleaner. They make them look whiter. It's the detergent that removes the dirt; but, one must use bleaches to remove stains. Bleaches can kill the effect of these optical brighteners if added to the wash water too soon. Chemists suggest putting the bleach in the water about five minutes after adding the detergent.

Chemists have been dabbling in these optical brighteners for three decades, although the brighteners didn't become an integral part of detergents until after World War II. There are many ingenious uses for the chemical, including the one offered by incorporating a brightener in the synthetic fiber of a single-filament fishing line. This gives the fisherman visibility because water absorbs ultra-violet light. It doesn't scare fish away because they can't see it, the chemists say.

Historical Customs of Interest to Bride

However up-to-the minute (or beyond) today's bride may elect to have her wedding, it is filled with reminders of customs that are centuries old. Most are fascinating for the bride with an interest in history.

One of the most important tangibles she will take away from her wedding ceremony is her ring. It has its origins in the days when the caveman tied a cord of reeds around the woman's waist to make their spirits one. Inscriptions in wedding bands date back to Grecian culture of 400 B.C. and the ring in its modern form was first used by Christians in the ninth century.

Wedding gowns of white stem from customs begun by the Saxons between the 5th and 11th centuries. In those early days, the bride who was not of high and aristocratic origins wore a plain white robe to signify that she brought nothing with her. Gradually the white gown was adopted by other classes and came to signify the purity of the bride.

Veil Has Oriental Origins

While the dress was Anglo and Germanic in origin, the bridal veil has evolved from Oriental customs. It once was believed by people of the Far East that wicked spirits were particularly attracted to women. To protect themselves, the women wore veils. As the custom continued the veil came to represent the bride's obedience and chastity. In early European custom, the veil played a novel role. The bride was swathed in veils, bargained for through her father and not revealed to the bridegroom until after the ceremony.

In 14th-century France, the bride began tossing her garter to her friends as she left after the ceremony—tradition claiming the one who caught it would be the next to marry. This became awkward, however, and the bridal bouquet gradually took the garter's place.

Wedding Cake Evolves

Just how the wedding cake originated is not known. The Romans broke a cake of salted meal over the bride's head as a symbol of abundance. The early Britons baked large baskets of small, dry crackers and each guest took one home, leading to the custom of taking home a piece of the bridegroom's cake to "dream on."

Certain American Indian tribes and Fiji Islanders had the bride offer her husband a cake of meal. These small crackers and meal-cakes gradually increased in size and richness until the wedding cake, as we know it today, came into being during the reign of Charles II in England.

The honeymoon has a particularly involved origin. In caveman days, the man kidnapped his bride from her family and sequestered her away while her father's tribesmen searched for her. Only when they gave up the pursuit was she permitted to emerge. Among certain northern European peoples a newly-married couple drank a mixture of mead and honey for the first month after their marriage. A month was then known as a moon and hence the word honeymoon emerged.

Junior Unit Plans Party, Votes Donations

A roller skating party is planned at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Fox Valley Roller Rink by members of the Appleton American Legion Junior Auxiliary. Plans were discussed at the group's 1:30 p.m. Saturday meeting at the clubhouse.

The girls also voted to present donations to Southern Colony and Training School and to send a retarded child to Camp Tekakwitha for a week.

Mrs. Robert Luedtke, senior Auxiliary community service chairman, talked about service programs the community offers and what the girls as good citizens can offer their community.

Hats Judged

The program included the judging of poppy hats made by members. Teri Schultz received first place; Toni Schultz, second place, and Mary Daily, third place. Judith Sullivan was chosen winner of the poppy poster competition. Deann Wiese received first place for her poem, "O Poppies of Red," in the poppy poem contest.

First place winners will enter competition at the Ninth District Junior Conference to be held April 1 in Seymour. Entries will include foreign relations, by Susan Luedtke; junior history, by Christy Kapp, and a publicity book by Joann Smith, poppy princess, who will also compete for the district poppy princess title.

Showers in Bridal Forecast

The old saying is "When it rains it pours", but the forecast for today's bride is showers. The bridal shower is fast becoming part of the engagement - wedding tradition.

The trend in nuptial showers today leans toward 'theme' parties, to which each guest brings a particular kind of gift.

Some of the most popular themes include the kitchen shower, music shower, food shower and linen shower.

A guest at a kitchen shower might choose from such things as pots and pans, cannisters, spice racks, can openers, meat thermometers and dish towel sets. Two or more guests might go together and purchase such things as electric knives, toaster ovens or electric blenders.

If the engaged couple likes music, concert tickets, records or a "chip in" gift such as a record player would be acceptable.

Stocking a cupboard from scratch can be a long and expensive project. A food shower often helps the young bride along the way. The food can be staples which she will need almost every day, or it may tend toward gourmet specialties. A subscription to an organization like a fruit-of-the-month club will be long remembered by the bride and her husband.

No bride ever has enough of such accessories as towels, sheets or pillowcases, and a linen shower is one that a bride will always be grateful for.

Imagination goes a long way in coming up with original ideas for showers that will start any young couple off on the right foot.

Parson's Wife Says Miniskirt Expresses Times

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — "I think that I can help many young people find God," said the miniskirted young wife of a British Methodist minister.

"I think miniskirts are super," Marpjorie Janney continued. "They express the freedom of our age. One can move about in a miniskirt.

"By being modern I feel I can encourage young people to realize that religion does not mean disapproval."

Newspaper pictures of the Rev. Denis Janney's shapely 28-year-old wife in a skirt that ended six inches above her knees brought her a bunch of anonymous critical letters.

"We burned the letters," said Mrs. Janney.

Own Business

"It's not their business what sort of skirt my wife wears," said her husband, whose parish is in southeast London. "It's this sort of intolerance which keeps many people from going to church. I'm proud of my wife and proud to have her a member of my church."

Mrs. Janney, a red-haired model and the mother of a 7-year-old daughter, says since she started wearing short short skirts she has done two television commercials and has been offered two parts in the movies.

The band of the King's Hussars also named her their pinup.

Mrs. Janney takes an active part in church life. She gives hours each week to a church youth club, speaks regularly to women's organizations and gives fashion and beauty hints to young wives.

She and her husband said the critical letters came from outsiders, not from his parishioners.

Danish Princess, German Prince May be Engaged

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Princess Benedikte of Denmark will become engaged to German Prince Richard Zu Sayn-Wittgenstein, two Danish daily newspapers predidted Monday. The princess is 23, the prince 30.

Neither of the papers — the Liberal Daily Politiken and the tabloid Ekstrabladet — said when the betrothal announcement would be made, but forecast it would not be before midsummer.

The princess' elder sister, Princess Margrethe, heiress to the throne, will be married June 10 to Count Henri de Monpezat of France. The papers said they believed any engagement announcement will be delayed at least until then.

The Danish royal court press office declined to comment, a spokesman saying: "We cannot say anything about it. It is a private matter.

Politiken said the prince himself denied the rumors.

Princess Benedikte is the second oldest of the three daughters of King Frederik IX and Queen Ingrid of Denmark. She is a dark, attractive girl with a reputation for shyness. She owns race horses and is a fine rider.

Texas Fashions Growing in Importance

BY JEAN OTTO
Post-Crescent Women's Editor

DALLAS, Tex. — Whether it's for a big social evening, or a quiet few hours at home before bedtime, members of the Texas Fashion Creators Association offered fashion that spells comfort and elegance. Showing their spring and summer lines at the Sheraton Dallas Hotel, manufacturers made the transition from 'on the town' gowns to leisure 'at home' wear without a missed step.

From the Firm of Clifton Wilhite, president of TFCA, comes the presentation gown above, made of pink peau de soie, with hand beaded panels falling loosely from the shoulders in back. The gown at right, from the same company, is in apricot rayon-wool-silk stardom, with a petal shape jacket. The dress has a cap sleeve and a deep pleat at center back.

Members of TFCA actually run the gamut of fashion roles. From kicky young sportswear to knits and light cottons and wools for daytime, to formal and presentation gowns, and night-time and lingerie, there is hardly an occasion for which there wouldn't be a suitable style.

The organization of 27 manufacturers got it's start in 1942, when a group of apparel firms formed a new branch of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce. They were prompted by the knowledge that their business was very specialized and required special treatment to reach its potential. The sector became known as the Dallas Fashion and Sportswear Center.

Got to Work

Five years later, the group had a full time secretary manager, and began promotions to make the Dallas market and Dallas labels better known. The national press week was begun, with the 17th such preview completed last week in Dallas. In the beginning, membership was limited to Dallas firms, but now includes manufacturers all over Texas.

The Association was instrumental in establishing the first school of fashion design at Southern Methodist University, in 1945. A week ago, in the Owens Fine Arts Center, the nation's fashion press watched as all member firms presented a showing under the "Six Flags over Texas" banner.

Training Courses

The TFCA further extended the scope of its commitment to fashion when, in 1963, it worked with the Texas Educational Association and local vocational schools to set up single-needle - operator training classes. Cooperating were Singer Sewing Machine Company and Dallas Sewing Machine Co. Almost 100 students are trained in this trade each year. Pattern making courses were also established, being given at El Centro College in Dallas. Here there are pattern making courses and plans for local vocational schools in pattern making, pattern grading and single - needle - operator training.

Now with an office in the Dallas Apparel Mart, TFCA offers a constant service both to members and buyers who visit between and during formal market periods.

The concerted efforts of all members to keep pace with the changing and growing apparel industry has placed Dallas in the third spot among American Fashion markets and growing.

Engagement Told

NEENAH — Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Hauser, 447 Commercial St., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jane Ann, Lakeland, Fla., to Clark Freeland Hoyt, Winter Haven, Fla. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles F. Hoyt, Coral Gables, Fla.

Miss Hauser was graduated from the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Fla., where she was affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega sorority. She is assistant women's editor for the Ledger newspaper, Lakeland, Fla.

Her fiance attended Punahou Academy, Honolulu, Hawaii, and was graduated from The Hill School, Pottstown, Pa., and Columbia College, New York, N. Y. Formerly on the staff of U. S. Senator George A. Smathers, he is a staff writer at The Ledger.

The couple plans a late July wedding.

Fall Wedding Planned by Engaged Pair

KIMBERLY — Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Lenz, 121 S. Birch St., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sandra, to James Vanden Heuvel. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Vanden Heuvel, 121 S. Washington St.

Miss Lenz is employed by Eitings Super Market. Her fiance is with Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., Kaukauna.

Pearls Go to All Lengths

Many women do not understand how pearls are measured and sold, to what lengths pearls go, what are the most becoming lengths, and when and where pearls are worn. They just know they would like to own them.

Pearl crops are gathered in Japan and are then graded, sorted, are matched for necklaces. Many necklaces are strung choker length, (14 inches) and graduated necklaces are 17 inches. Pearls are tied in hanks according to length, size and quality.

Like Stock Rooms

The vaults of a pearl house can be compared to the stock rooms of a dress manufacturer to the extent that sizes, colors, and prices are carefully separated and marked. There the comparison ends, although a woman should choose her pearls for many of the same reasons she selects a dress.

The further graduation of pearls occurs when experts select hanks to make individual necklaces. The choker, single or double, has become popular for daytime wear with suits or with dresses made with "jewel" necklines. It nestles at the base of the throat and frames the neckline as well as the face. The 14 inch strands become 15 inches or a bit longer when they are knotted and a clasp is added.

The new princess length is 18 inches strung and clasped, and requires an addition to the basic 14-inch strand.

Gains Favor

The matinee length, 22 to 23 inches, is fast catching up with the choker as a favorite. The double matinee is most frequently worn after 5 p.m., and requires three full 14-inch strands. It is this length which is used most imaginately with pearl and stone clasps. The decorative clasps are rarely worn in back, but rather at the front or side of the neck.

The 30-inch opera length is a versatile one. It can be worn swinging low, or doubled casually around the neck and held with an unusual pin. It may also be knotted at any place along its length for different effects.

The rope has many fashion possibilities for the woman with imagination. It can be worn any length and is made most frequently in 45 or 60 inches. The cultured pearl rope is usually chosen by the woman who already has several necklaces and wants to wear combinations of her pearls to express her individuality.

Add Necklaces

Massed around the neck with colored stone necklaces intertwined, the cultured pearl rope is often worn with a costume of classic lines and of a single rich color. It is attractive worn swinging full length on the new at-home costumes which take their inspiration from the Moroccan caftan, the Egyptian djellaba, the Greek chiton and the Nigerian abaya. These flowing robes, in rich colors, some with embroideries, some with billowing pants under the full length costumes, are made even more dramatic by the addition of masses of pearls. In the opinions of their origin they are worn with many necklaces of all lengths and colors.

Hemlines Top Headlines

Where oh where will the wandering hemline go next? First it's down, then it shoots up. Will it go back down soon? A growing number of designers and couturiers feel that it will.

In fact, one of the newest hemlines around is the guillotine hemline which is both up and down at the same time, safely covering both bases.

All the focus on hemlines makes a woman's choice of a stocking just that much more important, for it means all eyes will be on her legs.

Very High Hemline

And there is, of course, the very high hemline which has revitalized the sport of leg-watching. In some cases the skirt has become so short that the resulting mini-skirt cannot be worn over the traditional gartered hosiery. It has to be worn over tights or panty-hose.

The National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers feels the country is in an era of leg-consciousness the likes of which haven't been seen since the twenties. No longer is a woman content to have three to six pairs of basic pale hosiery. Now the raging hemline controversy has caused her to realize that she needs a whole wardrobe of differing hosiery choices.

The fashionable woman also has learned to change her stockings at sundown. When she goes out for the evening she is apt to be appropriately garbed in glittering silver stockings which serve to set off the asymmetric hemline on her dinner dress.

Wardrobe of Tights

For her shorter skirts she has built a wardrobe of tights in differing colors and patterns to complement the rest of her outfit. Tights, or as they are variously called, panty-hose or stocking-tights, are the best answer to the question as to what to wear under the short skirts.

In many recent couture openings, designers hinted at things to come by showing one or two styles on which the hemline dropped to mid-calf length. In most cases the reaction of the audience to the dropped hemlines was unfavorable, but in a few cases private customers bought dresses or coats at the longer length and have been wearing them. Many think these few isolated cases are a portent of things to come.

But wherever the hemline goes, up or down or both at the same time as in the case of the guillotine hemline, the sum result is that the country is more leg conscious than ever. And leg conscious by cololllary means that the country is hosiery conscious.

Mathematic Professor Helps Count

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If you teach mathematics, your job is to make it easy for other people to count. Ivar Stakgold, professor of mathematics at Northwestern University sometimes does his job at the bridge table, but somehow his opponents never thank him for the lesson.

hand, and South won with the queen. Declarer led the jack of hearts, losing a finesse to the king, and East returned the queen of spades to declarer's king.

Stakgold could easily tell that South had tricks to burn if he held both the queen and jack of diamonds. The only hope was that East held a diamond honor, and it was up to West to "protect" his partner's high diamond. Stakgold decided to let South know that there were four diamonds in the West hand.

Counts Hand

South took dummy's high hearts, and Stakgold carefully discarded two low spades. Declarer took his top clubs and the jack of hearts, whereupon Stakgold discarded a club. When South took the age of spades, West threw another club.

With all hands reduced to four cards South knew that Stakgold held four diamonds. It was easy for South to be sure of this because Stakgold had already discarded when spades and hearts were led, and he had already played all of his clubs. Nothing but diamonds could possibly be left in his hand.

Obviously, the "mathematically correct" play was to cash the queen of diamonds and then lead the low diamond to try a finesse with dummy's jack. The odds were 2 to 1 that the contract could be made only by trying this finesse.

As it happened, the finesse lost and South was down three! It's sad but true that you can't always trust a mathematician when he helps you to count.

Daily Question

You have opened with one club, and partner has responded one heart. The opponents pass throughout, and it is up to you again. You hold: S-A K 8 3, H-J 10 9 3, D-Q 7, C-A K Q. What do you say?

Answer: Bid four hearts. You have 19 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton, with good support for partner's major suit. There should be a reasonable play for game even if partner has only 6 points in high cards and a weak 4-card heart suit.

Spring Fashions were the news at the Saturday evening style show at the 41 Bowl, sponsored by the United Commercial Travelers Auxiliary. The program also included a card party. Proceeds from the event will be used to further the group's charity work for retarded, widows and orphans. Waiting for their 'on stage' cue, at right, are Mrs. Herbert Kesler, Mrs. Loyd Heraly, Menasha, and Mrs. Dale Brost. Below, a fur cape for cool spring days, modeled by Mrs. O. J. 'Dead' Television Heroes Often Live Again on Other Networks

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell that woman who went into a depression over the "death" of a soap opera character to cheer up.

The same thing happened to me. I was down in the dumps (cried and everything) for four days. Then, by accident, I discovered my dead hero was the leading man in another soap opera.

I'll bet if this woman switches to another channel she will find her dead hero, too. — Happy Again

Dear Happy: I have received hundreds of letters from readers who tell me that the dead hero is very much alive.

According to my readers, he was a brain surgeon in "As The World Turns." Then to the astonishment of millions of viewers, he died on the operating table. Within a matter of days, however, he turned up, happily practicing surgery in another soap opera called "The Nurses."

So, to paraphrase the famous words of Douglas MacArthur, "Soap opera heroes never die. They just change networks."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 20-year-old college junior. I live at home and commute daily by bus. Two weeks ago I became acquainted with a young man in one of my classes. He drives a car and offered to take me home from school even though it is out of his way.

We enjoyed talking and he offered to drive me home every day. Here is my problem. Mother saw me get out of his car this afternoon and asked about the fellow. When I told her of the lucky break I was getting she let fly with both barrels. She screamed, "How can you be so stupid? Nobody does anything for nothing. That fellow is going to expect to be paid for the rides one day and the price may be higher than you want to pay."

I don't believe he is that kind of a person but, even if he is, I feel that my mother should have more faith in me. After all, the girl is boss, and I am 20 years of age. Comment please. — Trusting Soul.

Dear Soul: The fellow might very well demand "payment" one day, and if he does, you can pay him with Confederate money, Spanish doubloons, or a Methodist handshake.

I agree that the girl is boss and you sound like a girl who is in the driver's seat even when she's a passenger.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you published Twelve Rules For Rearing Children. One of those rules has me puzzled. You said, "Do not smother your children with superficial manifestations of love."

Landers

I always thought it was good for children to be kissed and caressed. We are an affectionate family and although we do not believe in public displays of affection we do a lot of kissing and hugging at home. A wise friend once told me that children need this — that parents can never give a child too much love. Please explain your position. — Des Moines Mother

Dear Mother: The key word in my rule is "superficial." Superficial means shallow, not deep or meaningful. Caressing and kissing children is fine but it is not proof of love, and the dullest child knows an empty performance when he sees one. Parents who truly love their children show it by expending the time and energy to guide and discipline them, by sharing experiences with them, and by setting a good example.

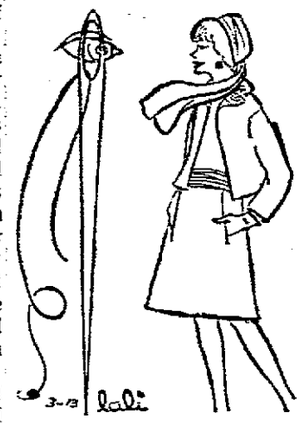
A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

In Fashion's Eye

In our time everyone thinks young, or wants to. Fashion designers are no exception.

However, spring fashions, viewed as a whole, trend to some sophistication. This is not to say that kicky clothes have vanished from the scene. Indeed they come on strong — and kickier.



Rather, colors and silhouettes have more variety and finesse. One still sees pink with orange, but also cream with apricot. For every figure there is a flattering silhouette. And that's real news!

As an example take the A-line. It now slopes a little to a lot. And the variance allows for a becoming choice, whatever the figure problem. When the figure is tall and thin, the wide-A camouflages that fact. Narrowed, the A has a graceful effect on a short or full figure.

To match up other combos, just follow these guidelines:

— Ripply cage shapes in soft, sheer materials adapt to most figures. The slip beneath, though, must skim the figure if it is on either the lank or buxom side.

— That gleam in designing eyes — fit with flare and belt — looks great unless the waistline is too thickly or snugly wrapped.

— Billowing from yokes, little-girl silhouettes want for a willowy figure. But beware the yoke, unless the topside is slender.

— The skimmy T-line and well-proportioned figures have an affinity. Striped with wide horizontals, however, a T cuts height and adds girth. In any case, it must skim; neither cling nor bag.

In fashion, nothing makes you lovelier than color. It can enhance your skin, hair, eyes and figure: it can express your individuality and style. Great powers, those! To learn how to put them to work for you, read our leaflet, "Your Most Flattering Colors." To obtain a copy, send your request to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Post-Crescent, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin.

Carleton Alumni Plan Program

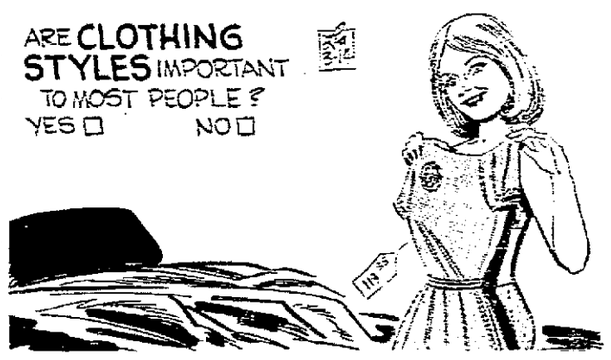
"Another Entertainment Bonanza from the Campus" will be the title of a program to be presented at 9 p.m. Saturday to members of the Fox River Valley Carleton College Alumni Club. The event will be held in Harper Hall, Lawrence University Music and Drama Center.

The program features a concert by a vocal ensemble of men students, the "Overtones." The singers plan a spring holiday tour of alumni clubs in Wisconsin and Illinois. Two student-produced movies will also be shown.

A social from 7 to 9 p.m. will precede the concert. Hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. Phelps, 934 E. Pacific St. Club members and friends of the college may make reservations by contacting Mrs. Phelps.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.



Yes, says economist James Morgan. Those to whom we are strangers must judge us by what they see. The man or woman not in style may be evaluated as too poor to afford proper clothing. Or they may be regarded as stubborn or lacking in good taste. Clothes may give others the impression that we belong to some "lunatic fringe." On the other hand, too great a concern for clothing may stamp us as being docile and uncreative conformists. It's best to avoid both extremes.

The right-handed person is more intelligent that the left-handed person!

Yes— No—

False. The "lefty" may look awkward in a right-handed world, but actually the left-handeds are no dumber or smarter than other people. Some of the world's outstanding geniuses have been, and are, left-handed. From personal experience, we know that the southpaw faces handicaps in many minor areas of life. But most of us adjust to what our inheritance and our early learning made us and do as well as we can. Handedness alone is no indication of the native intelligence of a person.

Aquarium Group Tells Plans For Fish Show

The first aquarium show to be held in northeastern Wisconsin will be open to guests from 6 to 10 p.m. April 7 and from 2 to 8 p.m. April 8. The event, to be sponsored by the Valley Aquarium Society, will be held at the Outagamie County Bank.

Members of the Society may register entries at their 8 p.m. Thursday meeting at the First National Bank.

Birgit Nilsson is Among the Great singing stars appearing with the Metropolitan Opera season in Minneapolis May 15 through May 20. Reserved tickets in the Fox Cities area are being handled through Mrs. J. A. Van den Akker, 1 Brokaw Place, and Mrs. R. Heath Reeves, 214 S. Rankin St.

3 Operas New To Met Season In Minneapolis

Verdi's 'Masked Ball' Scheduled to Open Monday, May 15

Three of the seven operas in the Midwest Metropolitan season May 15-May 20 in Minneapolis will be new to the area.

These are Verdi's "The Masked Ball," scheduled for opening night, Monday May 15; Ponchielli's "La Giaconda" Wednesday, May 17, and Wagner's "Lohengrin" Friday, May 19. The first two never have been presented during the Met's Upper Midwest season — an older version of "Lohengrin" was given in 1947.

Fox Cities opera patrons may obtain information and tickets for reservations from two area chairmen, Mrs. J. A. Van den Akker, 1 Brokaw Place, and, Mrs. R. Heath Reeves, 214 S. Rankin St, Appleton.

The 1967 spring season, all to be given in Northrop Memorial Auditorium on the University of Minnesota campus, also includes Verdi's "Aida." Tuesday, May 16; Johann Strauss' "Die Fledermaus." Thursday, May 18, Verdi't "La Traviata," at the 1:30 p.m. matinee Saturday, May 20, and Verdi's "Otello," at 8 p.m. Saturday, May 20.

Metropolitan Opera stars include such well known singers as Vergit Nilsson, Leontyne Price, Renata Rebaldi, Walter Cassel, Franco Corelli, Phyllis Curtin, Rosalind Elias, Donald Gramm, Tito Govvi, James McCracken, Gabriella Tucci, Anna Moffo and Regina Resnik.

'Citizen Kane' Next Film Classics Movie In Lawrence Series

The movie "Citizen Kane" is the next film classic at Lawrence University. The 1941 movie will be shown at 2 and 7 p.m. Sunday in Stansbury Theater of Lawrence Music-Drama Center.

Featuring Orson Welles as both director and star, this movie co-stars Joseph Cotton and Agnes Moorehead. It was voted best picture ever made by directors around the world in a special round-up poll.

The Lawrence Film Classics series is open to the public as well as university students for a small fee to cover the cost of bringing the films to Appleton.

'Saigon' On CBS News Hour

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 (Channels 2-12) 10:30 (Channel 7) — Saigon is a CBS News Special concentrating on the people and pressures of life in the Vietnam capital, with minimal coverage to the war. Correspondent Charles Kuralt reports on the sensitive relationships between American personnel, civilian and military, and the Vietnamese people. Street scenes form a major part of the production: bars, bazaars, refugee slums and luxury settlements. The telecast also examines the main relationship between the East and West in Saigon, money, and the good and evil it produces.

6:30-7:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — Daktari is returned to the animals, specifically Clarence the lion, Judy the chimp, four hungry cheetahs, and a would-be momma ostrich. When the cheetahs threaten the ostrich eggs, Mrs. Ostrich heads for the hills taking the cats with her but leaving the eggs safe behind. Clarence and Judy take turns incubating.

6:30-7:30 (Channels 11-6-9) — A painful evening on Combat with all the principals save one, struggling through the episode with wounds of one type or another. Sgt. Saunders is wounded at the outset but despite it keeps trying to effect the rescue of one of his wounded men, with the help of a wounded Frenchman.

7:30-8 (Channels 4-5) — An Occasional Wife can be occasionally wrong, like all other wives, when she moves heaven and earth to dissuade Peter from an oil investment scheme.

7:30-8:30 (Channels 11-6-9) — A bit of "alien" brainwashing highlights The Invaders with guest star Michael Rennie playing the head launderer. In it there is a sometimes frightening sequence during which the extra-terrestrials try to force reality from David Vincent's mind, making him believe his experiences have been hallucinations.

7:30-8:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — Cesar Romero guests on The Red Skelton Hour tonight and proves a perfect foil for the catastrophic capers of Clem Kadiddiehopper. The calamitous Clem is supposed to debug an embassy and winds up as a personal bodyguard to a dictator (Romero) who has enemies coming out of the woodwork. An especially good spot is occupied by a Southern California schoolboy band.

8-10 (Channels 4-5) — World Premiere: Winchester 73 unfortunately is more of a drawn-out TV show than a "movie" with some terrible acting by some great old pros such as Dan Duryea, Joan Blondell and Tom Tyorn. Far better performances come from three Johns, Saxon, Dehner and Barrymore who hold it all together. You may remember the story from the original movie, about a prize gun won in a contest and lost to a murderer who loses it to a gambler who sells it to Indians. The gun is the only thing that truly resembles anything from the original Jimmy Stewart production.

Fire Destroys Sets On Back Lot at Metro

MADISON (AP) —It's no secret around the statehouse that Republicans fear youthful Democratic Atty. Gen. Bronson La Follette might make a formidable foe in the 1968 election for governor.

It came as a slip of the tongue, however, when Sen. Robert P. Knowles, R - New Richmond, the brother of the present governor, made this unwitting reference in Senate debate: "... and Governor La Follette has said he ..."

If you have hemorrhoids you should read this ad

It tells about a new formula for home therapy that may well bring you long-lasting relief and comfort

If you seek more relief than you may now be getting, join the thousands of hemorrhoid (pile) sufferers now turning to new M.P.O. Developed by famous Mentholatum Laboratories, M.P.O. works in these five ways:

1. Helps ease pain faster. M.P.O. contains more medically accepted pain-relieving ingredients than the preparation you may now be using . . . to help reduce pain and discomfort.

2. Helps shrink swollen tissues. M.P.O. quickly releases the proven vaso-constrictor, Ephedrine Sulfate.

3. Helps relieve embarrassing itch. M.P.O.'s medication is homogenized for faster absorption, faster action.

4. Helps make relief last longer. M.P.O.'s more temperature-stable base holds medication in place for prolonged action.

5. Helps fight danger of infection. Proven germ-killer, Hexachlorophene, combats bacteria.

Test it yourself for the next three days. If not satisfied that M.P.O. helps you more than the preparation you're now using, return unused portion for full refund. Available in stainless ointment or suppositories at all drug counters.

'Mikado' Actors Best In Operetta Business

D'Oyly Carte Production of Famous Work at Two Theaters Wednesday

All Gilbert and Sullivan fans will recognize the actor-singers in the newest movie of the famous and popular "The Mikado" as the best there is.

Philip Potter
Nanki-Poo

They all belong to the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company, dedicated to presenting G & S operettas ever since the first one hit the Savoy stage in London in 1883. Of course, these are different actors presenting today's "The Mikado," but the two-act comedy of nearly a century ago will be presented in the same D'Oyly Carte tradition, just as lyricist W. S. Gilbert and composer Arthur Sullivan composed their famous piece.

"The Mikado" plays for only two days at the Viking Theater in Appleton and the Ranlf Theater in Oshkosh, tomorrow and Thursday. Performance times are 1:30 and 8 p.m. at both theaters.

Famous songs in the operetta long have been popular just as the operetta itself has been a favorite of high school music departments the country over. "A Wandering Minstrel, I" opens the work and others well remembered are the famous "Tit Willow" notes of comic despair in "The Tree by a River," the bubbling "Three Little Maids from School Are We," and the beautiful "Braid the Raven Hair." Then there's the "Here's a Pretty How-de-Do" as the plot thickens to entanglement, followed by the gay "Flowers that Bloom in the Spring, Tra-La."

Tenor Philip Potter portrays Nanki-Poo, son of the Mikado who takes to minstrelsy to avoid marriage with Katisha. With a music festival background, young Potter has been with D'Oyly Carte since 1961.

Donald Adams

Valerie Masterson
Yum-Yum

Jolly, portly and tall Donald Adams lends his bass voice to the Mikado role, which he has made famous since he began singing the part in 1959, two years after joining the British company.

Soprano Valerie Masterson plays the vivacious role of Yum-Yum, one of the three schoolgirl wards of the mythical town's Lord High Executioner Ko-Ko. Trained as an opera singer, the young soprano joined the D'Oyly Carte Company in 1963.

Milwaukee's Family Court

In-Service Training Keeps Child Caseworkers on Toes

BY BILL KNUTSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE — In some respects, the conversation resembled that at a stag party.

It was an in-service training session for caseworkers in the conciliation department of the Milwaukee County Family Court.

Led by Dr. Basil Jackson of Marquette University's department of psychology, eight caseworkers, a college student, a family court commissioner and

(Third of a series)

Martin A. Fenner, director of the family conciliation bureau, were discussing a case involving visitation rights of a divorced Milwaukee mother. The father was attempting to terminate her weekend visits to her three-year-old daughter and seven-year-old son.

The underlying elements in the case, brought out in the two-hour, informal session were mildly nauseating to the lay observer, but were taken in stride by the caseworkers.

Case Outlined

The outline was on a blackboard. The estranged couple, ages 27 and 33, was married in 1957. They had a son, and two years later divorce action began. There was a reconciliation, but a second divorce action was started, after which a daughter was born. Early in 1964, the mother was convicted of prostitution and in March 1964, divorce was granted.

The mother was convicted of child neglect in the fall of 1965 and was sent to women's prison for nine months. The children were placed in a foster home.

The father remarried early last year and later won custody of both children. He based his request for termination of the mother's visiting rights on the contention that the boy, whom he said had been observed taking indecent liberties with his little sister, was being subjected to promiscuous sex activities by the mother at her home during the visits.

Exchange Ideas

A varied exchange of ideas followed the report by the young caseworker. Dr. Jackson, who is paid $25 an hour for the weekly two-hour advisory sessions, recommended that the boy be examined by a psychiatrist, but that nothing final be done on custody or visitation until more is learned about "the other side of the case."

The psychiatric consultation session, said to be unique to the Milwaukee court, represents one of several methods by which the

Dr. Jackson

Milwaukee Family Court looks after the interests of children in divorce actions.

The 12 department caseworkers, all with masters degrees and special training in child welfare and marriage counselling, review about 4,000 cases a year.

Two-thirds of the work of the family conciliation department, termed "the social arm" of the Milwaukee Circuit Court, concerns the providing of child custody supervision and review, while the other third is spent on investigations and evaluations as to custody placement, reconciliation and counseling of families on domestic relations problems.

Caseworkers Testify

The social investigators (caseworkers) often serve as "eyes and ears" for attorneys appointed for the children, and work closely with judges and others in the family court. They testify as expert witnesses or to make recommendations in divorce-related actions.

Ordinarily, about 90 days is allowed for the making of a social investigation or evaluation by the family conciliation department.

There are other ways, besides the efforts of the guardian ad litem and the family conciliation department, by which the Milwaukee court looks after the children of divorce.

One of the best known is "The Bill of Rights of Children."

A 10-point listing that all divorcing parents have impressed upon them, the Bill of Rights, in part, states the children's rights to: Be treated as an interested and affected person; a positive and constructive relationship with both parents; the most adequate level of economic support that can be provided by both parents; the same opportunities for education that the child would have if the family unit were not broken up; and the right to periodic review of custodial arrangements and child support orders, as circumstances require.

Interest in the rights of children does not end with the court decision.

Make Reviews

Through "Operation Check-Up," the family court commissioner and the clerk of courts conduct periodic reviews to make sure court-ordered child support payments are being maintained. This is done particularly where the mother or custodian of the children is receiving public assistance.

In 1966, 123 defendants delinquent in support payments were sentenced to jail, usually under the Huber Law which permits them to work during the day.

Circuit Judge Robert W. Hansen said Milwaukee, Detroit and Los Angeles are the only major American cities having a plan whereby the court keeps tabs on child support payments.

The family court, according to Judge Hansen, attempts to provide the same financial backing for the children as they had before the divorce.

As part of that plan, the courts now administer about 500 educational trust funds established by the divorcing parents at the urging of the court.

"We take more time," Judge Hansen said in qualifying the Milwaukee Court's interest in the rights of children of divorce, "and we spend more money, but we do a lot more."

"And that's why we're ahead of the rest of the country."

Belt Buckle Saves Robbery Victim

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — James Hazel is alive today because of his belt buckle.

Hazel told police he was stopped and ordered out of his car Sunday by two men who demanded his wallet.

Hazel said one of the holdup men fired a shot at him and the other one slugged him on the head with a pistol.

Police said the .22 caliber slug lodged in Hazel's belt buckle. The two men fled, leaving Hazel with his wallet and a bump on the head.

Fatal Baraboo Fire Being Investigated

BARABOO (AP)—An investigation into a fire that swept a small cottage home Monday afternoon killing an 80 - year - old Baraboo woman was to begin today by Sauk County Deputy Fire Marshall Frank Roberts.

The body of Mrs. Walter Arms was found near a room heater in the cottage by a neighbor, who notified officials.

Sauk County Coroner O. V. Pawlisch ruled the death accidental.

WAPL-FM 'Mikado' Broadcast Coincides With Movie Showing

Three special musical events are planned for broadcast by WAPL-FM, 105.7 megacycles, during this week.

"The Mikado," recorded by the D-Oyly Opera Company, will be presented by WAPL-FM beginning at 10:45 a.m. Wednesday as a special feature of the daily "Classic Cameos" show. The presentation of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta was scheduled to coincide with the showing of the operetta this week at a downtown Appleton theater.

The spring concert of the Fox Valley Symphony orchestra, with Karlos Moser conducting and Jean Kraft, formerly of Menasha, as soloist, will be heard at 2 p.m. Sunday afternoon in a tape-recorded presentation.

Clifford Curzon, pianist, will be soloist for the weekly Cleveland Symphony orchestra broadcast at 8 p.m. Sunday on WAPL-FM. George Szell will conduct the orchestra in Schumann's Overture to Byron's "Manfred;" the Lees "Concerto for String Quartet and Orchestra;" Walton's "Variation on a Theme by Hindemith" and the Beethoven Emperor Concerto.

What to Do About Silver Problem for Treasury

BY SYLVIA PORTER

In an historic but little-noticed move, the administration is asking Congress to ease the present requirement that the Treasury reserve 434 million ounces of silver to back the

Sylvia Porter

"silver certificates" in your pocket — and perhaps to ultimately sever the last connection between silver and our folding money.

Should silver also be eliminated from today's 50-cent piece, the last remaining coin being produced with any silver, and thus completely cut the historic tie between this precious metal and our U.S. coinage too?

Should the U.S. government get out of the silver business altogether, halt selling silver to industry at the "bargain" price of $1.29 an ounce — and thus set off a frantic wave of hoarding and speculation when the open market price soars past the $1.38 level at which it would become theoretically profitable to melt coins for their silver content?

Two Questions

The odds are that Congress will vote to ease or elimmate the silver backing requirement But te other two questions will be put to a Joint Commission on the Coinage, expected to convene next month in Washington.

The commission's conclusions and recommendations, to be submitted to the President later this year, are sure to be the basis for drastic changes in the nation's silver policy.

Already, weeks before the commission holds its first meeting, rumors are flying through Wall Street of a silver price rise. Contracts for silver futures have been in a sharp upswing. Brokerage house letters are loaded with "silver talk." Speculation in silver is also reported to be increasing in Europe

There's little doubt that if the Treasury stopped selling silver today, the price would spurt upward. There's also little doubt that eventually the Treasury will be forced out of the silver business. Its silver reserves have plummeted to 549 million ounces, of which the 434 million ounces must by today's law be outstanding silver certificates. This leaves only 115 million ounces of "free" silver, less than one year's supply, for sale to industry and for use in coinage. And there is strong pressure in Congress to keep a strategic defense stockpile of at least this remaining supply of silver. In short, the Treasury is very near the bottom of its silver barrel.

In view of the inevitability of a silver price rise, why isn't every hep speculatory (and there are many) stashing away bags of silver coins now in anticipation of the profit?

India, China Hoarders

Because there are key factors which will act as a powerful restraint on any future silver price rise Specifically:

U.S. silver supplies will be multiplied if Congress agrees to release part of the silver backing silver certificates There are now an estimated 2.3 billion ounces of silver in U.S coins which the Treasury might later draw on to keep the lid on the price of silver. There are also big supplies of silver outside the U S that surely would come out of hiding with even a modest rise in the silver price. Silver holdings in India are estimated a 5.5 billion ounces today and Indian hoarders will might start selling silver on a price rise Red China, too, is believed to have big hoards of silver which could be poured into world markets.

Virtually all experts, public and private, agree that there will be no silver price rise this year. The Treasury, says Assistant Secretary Robert A Wallace, has enough resources to hold the price line for at least two to three years. When a silver price rise comes, it may not be nearly as sharp as rumored. Meanwhile any money invested in bags of silver coins is "sleeping." In other mediums it would be actively earning interest and dividends.

Only the most sophisticated speculator, therefore, not the small-time hoarder, will gain substantially and he'll gain only if his timing is right.

Violence Spurs Arrests of Top Communists

Train Blown Up During Increased Activity in Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — The Colombian government has arrested 15 Communist Party leaders and nearly 200 other well-known Communist an leftist agitators following an upsurge in guerrilla activities.

The arrests were ordered by the National Security Council after Communist guerrillas blew up a train last week near the oil fields in the Department of Santander 300 miles north of Bogota Seven policemen and three civilians were killed.

Among those arrested were Gilberto Vieira, secretary-general of the Communist Party and seven members of the party's Central Committee.

President Carlos Lieras' government also placed the armed forces on a state of alert and canceled all leaves to cope with the threat of more violence by guerrillas.

Increase Attacks

The armed revolutionary forces of Colombia and the Army of National Liberation — the two major Communist guerrilla groups — have stepped up their attacks on army units, killing 26 soldiers and three civilians in the past two weeks.

The Communist Party served notice last week that it intends to continue its six-year-old guerrilla war against the government. The declaration apparently was made to counter reports from government officials of an armistice between the Communists and Lleras.

Reports of the armistice had been fueled by the government's policy of rapprochement and trade expansion with the Communist bloc started by Lleras a few months ago

Cost of Living

The Communist declaration supported that policy but made fresh attacks on Colombia's internal economic policies, which, it said, "have provoked a sharp increase in the cost of living." The Communists also charged that the peasants "are being persecuted by landowners with the help of the army."

One top Communist leader said although the guerrilla war will continue, the party will never approve armed terrorism in the cities. He said such terrorism would be a "grave mistake which only will supply propaganda weapons to the government and create public sympathy for it."

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, March 14, the 73rd day of 1967. There are 292 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1794, Eli Whitney received a patent for his cotton gin.

In 1879, Albert Einstein was born.

In 1900, the Gold Standard Currency Act, establishing the dollar as the unit of value, was signed by President William McKinley.

In 1903, an executive order established the first bird reservation in the United States on Pelican Island, Fla.

In 1939, the Republic of Czechoslovakia collapsed.

In 1944, American medium bombers pounded enemy-controlled railroad yards in Rome.

Ten years ago — A British European Airways Viscount airliner crashed into a housing development in Manchester, England. At least 20 persons aboard the aircraft and two others on the ground were killed.

Five years ago — The United Nations sponsored 17 nation disarmament conference opened in Geneva.

One year ago — A leaky fuel line forced a 24-hour delay in the launching from Cape Kennedy of the Gemini 8 manned space capsule which was slated to make man's first attempt to rendezvous in space with another vehicle, an unmanned Agena target rocket.

Liner Once Chartered By Robert Kennedy Down in Indian Ocean

EAST LONDON, South Africa (AP) — The airliner which U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy chartered during his visit to South Africa crashed into the Indian Ocean Monday night, apparently killing all 25 persons aboard.

It was the worst air crash in South African history.

Surfers went out in rough seas and rainy weather Monday night in unsuccessful attempts to find survivors or bodies in the crash area about 20 miles south of East London.

Youths Show Results of Work

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — A different kind of youth demonstration was staged here recently.

About 300 youths from local Assembly of God churches lined up $650,000 worth of new vehicles in a street near the church's international headquarters.

There were 81 new cars, 20 station wagons, 12 trucks, six buses, 16 motorcycles, a Jeep, two boats, two trailers and 48 bicycles.

The vehicles will go to missionaries for use in their work in 73 foreign countries.

Avenue Work Proceeds at Steady Pace

Three Crews Fill in Hollow Walks; Sewer Project Next Step

College Avenue reconstruction, with emphasis at this point on underground work, is moving at a good pace, city officials reported Monday.

Three crews are now working on sewer construction and filling in hollow sidewalks in the central business district.

All sewer work is being done by Bahr Construction and the general contractor is Vinton Construction Co., both Manitowoc-based firms.

Both sides of College Avenue are being worked on and once the underground spaces have been filled, laying of new storm and sanitary sewers will get underway.

Tear Surface

The next step is the tearing up of the surface of the avenue from Drew to Richmond Streets. In the meantime, the water department, along with crews from the power and telephone companies, will be putting in new underground installations.

Robert Pfefferle, project engineer, says there has been some inconvenience. He has advised merchants and building

Businessman Against Proposed Streetscaping

An Appleton businessman with extensive College Avenue property hodings says he doesn't want "trees and shrubs cluttering up the Avenue."

J. R. Whitman made his feelings known in a letter to the council's street - sanitation committee Monday. In addition to objecting to the proposed streetscaping, Whittman reiterated previous criticism about removing angle parking from the avenue.

However, Whitman did inform city officials he concurred in a decision to have cashier - type parking in Soldiers Square Ramp rather than parking meters as originally planned.

Whitman remarked about green spots in the business district, declaring "People can see them at home."

City officials reported that a preliminary sketch for avenue streetscaping will be ready in the near future.

Two Important Bills for District 12

Technical School Action Now Placed in 'Hold' Status

The go ahead for District 12 area technical institute is now marked "hold" until May 12. The Coordinating Committee for Higher Education (CCHE) will consider the formation of the new district on county or school district lines on or before that date, Dominic Bordini, co-chairman of the district organization committee, said today.

"This 'hold' action will not be a time-wasting factor, as the state board and legislators are giving further consideration to interpretation of Bill 292, the Vocational Act of 1965 which established the new districts, and a new modification bill, 19-A, now under consideration," Bordini said.

Continue Transition

Plans for District 12 should keep moving forward, C. L. Greiber, state director of the Vocational, Technical and Adult Educational Board urged. "Directors and vocational board members in the four-county complex which will be contained in District 12 can continue their efforts to bring about gradual transition from locally-oriented programs to broad area and state oriented programs," he said.

While the state board is setting guidelines programs for district institutes, the prerogative of selecting courses for two-year associate degrees and one-year certificate programs, will be a matter for each newly created district board.

Bordini points out that a new area board for District 12 could be a reality by July 1, 1967. From all indications it would be imperative for the new board to bring into being a new central school facility to be ready for occupancy the the 1969-70 school year.

Involves Lines

Spearheading the study of the original bill, 292, which establishes the new area vocational districts, is its assemblyman-author, David O Martin, R-Neenah. This study includes fuller interpretation of 292 and the implication of Bill 19-A as they affect the formation of District 12 on school district lines.

The "mote in the eye" which deters bringing District 12 into fruition, fully, is the splitting of high school districts by county lines.

Bill 19-A, which changes the composition of the selection board for the district to four county and four school district persons, is now awaiting revision in the Education Committee of the Assembly. It will be ready for presentation in final form on or before April 3, a 17.

spokesman from the state board, Madison, said today.

Steps in development of District 12 at the state level to date include the action by the state board on Feb. 20 to create District 12 on county lines, to include Calumet, Outagamie, Waupaca and Winnebago counties. The CCHE deferred action at its March 9 meeting on District 12. The formation of District 13, which includes Green Bay and adjoining counties, is on the agenda for April

Summer Program To Get Board Study

3-Man Committee to Investigate Reinstatement of the Program

A three-man committee to investigate the reinstatement and financing of a summer school program for the Appleton School System was appointed Monday by Charles Buchanan, board president.

The committee will be Victor Sumnicht, who requested the group's formation, Kenneth Sager and Ronald Roberts.

According to an outline presented by Sumnicht, means of financing a modified summer program falls into three areas: unanticipated income such as state grants, fees and saving "which occur from time to time in our yearly operational budget."

Fund Solicitation

Solicitation of supplementary funds from the city council, and reduction of subsidy of certain school year fees.

Supt. William Spears, however, explained that no state aids are available this year and no fees may be charged for summer school if state aids are to continue.

The summer school last year, according to Spears, cost about $38,000 to operate, without state aids. Courses were offered in the remedial, enrichment and supplemental areas on all three levels. A portion of that program for about half the cost, was proposed by Spears for this summer but was turned down by the board.

In the proposal submitted by Sumnicht, he stated "a summer school program utilizes our buildings and equipment to the fullest: it gives our teachers an opportunity for additional income and it offers all of this on a purely voluntary basis so that each can plan according to his need."

The proposal also reads, "Appleton Summer school program was instituted many years ago, prior to my 12 years tenure on the board. During this time the program was nurtured and has grown in excellence and scope until it has become one of the most outstanding summer school programs in Wisconsin."

The board agreed that if means of financing the program could be found, the program would merit further discussion.

"It was the last item we deleted and the first we will reinstate when monies become available," Buchanan said.

Collapses in Home; Man Hospitalized

John Larson, 82, 728½ W. College Ave., was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by Larry's Ambulance after he collapsed at his home Monday night.

Appleton Knights Aid Patients at Tomah Hospital

Eight Knights of Columbus (K of C) from Father Fitzmaurice Council 607, Appleton, flew in two planes to Tomah Sunday, where they assisted in pushing Catholic wheelchair patients to mass in the chapel of the Veteran's Administration Hospital.

The men were Fred Biesecker, grand knight, John Dietz, chancellor; Richard Fitzpatrick, trustee; Fred A. Ruppel, financial secretary; John Losselong, director, Columbus Club, Inc.; A. G. Novotny, building chairman, and Orville Prokash, Catholic activity committee.

The visitors were met at the airport and assisted at the hospital by Brother Tony Felber, a past grand knight at the hospital.

After mass the Appleton men had coffee with the Rev. Francis Siemandowski, chaplain of the hospital, and later had breakfast at the Tomah K of C clubhouse.

Pending Legal Ruling

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Consideration of an expanded development plan for the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay was postponed Monday by a State Building Commission's University affairs subcommittee, pending an attorney general's opinion on the legality of state planning and spending for a full four-year university.

The group, headed by state Sen. Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, delayed consideration of all increased budget proposals for the new school and a sister campus in Kenosha County while awaiting receipt of the legal opinion, expected at the end of this week.

The opinion was sought by Commissioner of Administration George C. Kaiser, who asked Atty. Gen. Bronson LaFollette whether the state could, under the 1965 law creating the schools, spend funds to plan and create four-year universities, and whether more than a statutory $400,000 limit could be expended for campus planning.

At the subcommittee meeting, Leonard also received a staff analysis from the state Bureau of Engineering which "proved we were right all along" in recommending a cutback in the original campus building fund recommendations from $28.5 million to $12.8 million, according to Leonard.

Budget Proposals

Conflicting are budget proposals submitted by the UW and the Coordinating Commission for Higher Education (CCHE) several months ago totaling the $28.5 million, and a new CCHE proposal made last week which could reach $36 million in cost.

No action to change the commission action, recommending total spending during the coming biennium of $12.8 million based on the former plan, was taken at the meeting or at a subsequent session of the full commission, despite submission of the latter plan.

Full consideration of its effects was delayed partially because of the absence of a CCHE representative at the meeting to explain its contents. The lack developed as the understaffed agency was in the course of an operational budget hearing before the legislative Joint Committee on Finance at the same time the subcommittee was meeting.

The Bureau of Engineering figures indicate that a laboratory-classroom building and surge space sufficient to house the originally expected student enrollments of about 1,300 could be built on the two campuses for a sum within the $12.8 million allocated.

The total budget for the construction of the facilities, and associated site and utility work, would come to $12.5 million, according to bureau estimates.

Total Cost

Development of a library-learning center on each campus and additional site and utility work so entailed during the coming biennium would bring

Forecast $1 Million Boost In 1968 City School Budget

Teachers' Salary Schedule, 1967 Deferred Items to Hike Current $5.4 Million Figure

A possible $1 million increase over the current $5.4 million budget of the Appleton School District was forecast for 1968 Monday night by Charles Buchanan, board of education president.

Approximately $360,000 of the hike will come from an increase in the teacher's salary schedule, effective in January 1968, which was approved by the board and the Appleton Education Association (AEA) Monday night.

Other items expected to boost the total budget are deferred items from this year, additions to the teaching staff and operational costs of the new Appleton high school-east and Highland Elementary schools.

Schedule Comparisons

Comparison between the schedule for the first four months of next school year and the one beginning next January is as follows:

Bachelor degree ranges from $5,400 to $8,598 under the old schedule and from $5,750 to $9,000 under the new; bachelors with 15 credits, from $5,550 to $8,743 under the old; and $5,900 to $9,210 under the new;

Bachelors plus 24 credits, $5,650 to $8,848 under the old and $6,000 to $9,310 under the new; master degrees, $5,800 through $9,596 under the old and $6,150 to $10,065 under the new; masters plus 15 credits, $5,950 to $9,746 under the old and $6,300 to $10,215 under the new schedule.

The pro rated schedule (average for the year) is from $5,633 to $8,866 for bachelor degree; from $5,783 to $9,056 for BA plus 15 credits; from $5,883 to $9,156 for BA plus 24 credits; from $6,033 to $9,908 for a MA degree; and from $6,183 to $10,058 for a MA plus 15 credits.

Comparison Outlined

A comparison also was outlined between Appleton and surrounding city teacher salary schedules.

Starting salaries for a BA degree at Green Bay are $5,800; Manitowoc, $5,733; Fond du Lac, $5,847; Neenah, $5,400 and Oshkosh, $5,400 with the latter two receiving head-of-family amounts. All are starting salaries for January, 1968.

Though some of the other details will be worked out in the near future, the agreement as of now is for the board to pay for half of the group life insurance program, starting in January, and half of the Blue Cross-Blue Shield program.

According to Dr. Roy Whitney, who heads the professional improvement committee of the board, the salary schedule starting September, 1968, will have to be negotiated again next year.

Unanimous Approval

The unanimous vote of the board was cast after the teachers had been presented the schedule at a special meeting Monday night at Madison School and had voted 307 to 48 to accept it. Representatives of the AEA, headed by Gordon Myse, AEA lawyer, and the board met after the teacher's meeting and after a short board executive meeting.

According to Myse, this still leaves the Appleton teacher's salary "substantially behind" the sister systems but "it is a step forward," he said.

"Our failure to reach an agreement would have left an adverse feeling between the administration and staff and would have hurt our children," he added.

Rounding out the board committee were Mrs. Helen Heil and Kenneth Sager.

Mayor George Buckley this morning issued a statement regarding the agreement.

"I am very pleased to see . . . this agreement. Appleton has a fine a corps of teachers as there is in . . . Wisconsin and we should make every effort to see that their ability is reflected in their income," the statement read.

Reporter's Note Starts Hour-Long Debate of County Supervisors

Supervisors on the Outagamie County Board who, for various reasons, have something less than love for the news media had an opportunity this morning to air their feelings.

An hour-long debate developed at the board meeting as a result of a request asking that advance copies of all resolutions which will be considered at county board meetings be sent to the news media as well as to individual supervisors.

The request resulted in a kind of debate which roughly correlates to the "freedom of the press" issue.

It all began when County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, was explaining to a large group of county high school students and teachers that supervisors have the opportunity to study proposals in advance of board meetings.

Mail Copies

"Copies of all the resolutions," he said, "are mailed to supervisors five days in advance of board meetings."

During a roll call vote on a different matter, Post-Crescent reporter Dick Lyneis handed a note to Esler in which Lyneis requested that the resolutions be mailed to the news media at the same time they go to supervisors.

After the roll call was finished, Esler said, "We have a little matter here which was brought up by Mr. Lyneis from The Post-Crescent." He then explained, that "The Post-Crescent would like to receive copies of the resolutions at the same time you supervisors do."

Unexpected

Lyneis explained later that he didn't expect his request to go to the board floor. He had expected Esler to merely instruct County Clerk Mollie Pfeffer to mail out the resolutions.

It wasn't that simple, however.

Several supervisors, including Joseph H. DeBruin, rural Kaukauna, Ervin Conradt, of rural Shiocton, and Clarence Miller, of Appleton, immediately took

AFL Unions Plan Course On Bargaining

Registration Thursday For Eight Classes At Vocational School

In cooperation with two adult education groups, the Appleton Federation of Labor Unions (AFL) has set up a course on collective bargaining.

Classes will be from 7-9 p.m. on Thursdays, starting this week, through May 4 at the school of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education, 105 E. Kimball St.

Registration will take place at the first meeting, at which an individual fee of $8 is payable.

Registrants will hear about the law of collective bargaining, elements of the bargaining process and factors which affect bargaining.

They also will work on preparation for negotiations, bargaining strategy and techniques, practicalities of a typical bargaining situation and bargaining in relation to the community.

Sponsors with the AFL are the vocational school and the School for Workers, University Extension, the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

Lint Causes Fire in Foreign Car Heater

Fire that started in lint in an exhaust heater caused minor damage Monday afternoon to a small foreign car owned by Dr. C. L. Meyers, 88 River Drive.

The fire was discovered about 12:40 p.m. when the car was near the No. 3 fire station at College and Badger avenues.

Gilbert Relien Director of Bank Group

Valley Bancorporation stockholders, at their annual meeting today, elected Gilbert J. Relien as a director. Re-elected as directors were George A. Buth, Seymour Gmeiner, Herbert C. Holtz, C. A. Hopfensperger, W. K. Miller, Walter H. Wieckert and Gus A. Zuehlke.

Officers re-elected are Gus A. Zuehlke, president; Lawrence Schreiter, vice president; Gilbert J. Relien, secretary, and Robert Zschaechner, treasurer.

Zuehlke, in his report to stockholders, said deposits of member banks increased $5,009,000 to a total $55,077,000; loans went up $3,531,000 to a total of $33,059,000. Total resources rose to $62,137,000, an increase of $6,565,000. Earnings per share were $4.83 compared to $4.30 last year.

Valley Bancorporation, 221 W. College Ave., Appleton, is a registered bank holding company.

Member banks are Appleton State Bank with branches at Dale, Fremont, Hortonville and Shiocton, Bank of Black Creek, Northern State Bank, Reedsville State Bank and Sherwood State Bank.

Marvin J. Green

Marvin Green Promoted to Police Captain

Veteran Sergeant Takes Post Vacated By Insp. John Gosch

Marvin J. Green, 52, an Appleton Police Department sergeant for 11 years and the oldest man in years of service, today was named a department captain, replacing John V. Gosch who last November was elevated from captain to inspector.

The appointment was announced by Police Chief Earl O. Wolff, following a meeting Monday night of the Appleton Police and Fire Commission. Green will assume his new position March 25, Wolff said.

Green, an Appleton native, was named a patrolman July 8, 1940, was promoted to motorcycle patrolman in 1946 and became a desk sergeant Aug. 16, 1955. He has held that job since.

A graduate of Appleton High School, Green attended what was then Stevens Point State Teachers College. He was active in Boy Scout work.

Green, his wife, Lucille, and their family live at 1418 N. Union St. The couple has two sons.

The Appleton policeman is one of four captains. He was selected for the new job following extensive oral and written testing.

Wolff said this morning that examinations will be held in selecting a sergeant to replace Green.

Plan Commission Approves 20 Acres for School, Park

2 Properties on Southeast Side Have Total Cost of $102,000

Park and school sites — totaling 20 acres and costing more than $102,000 — won approval of the Appleton city plan commission Monday.

However, their actual purchase was to be considered by the board of public works this afternoon.

Both pieces of property are on the city's southeast side. They include:

—A 12-acre tract of land owned by Dr. E. F. Mielke, which the board of education wants for a new 28-room elementary school, at a cost of $44,200, equal to $3 600 per acre.

—An 8-acre site in the Colony Oaks subdivision.

A few years ago, according to plan commission records, the city purchased a school site in Colony Oaks subdivision.

School might be in the works by 1971, or construction of a new school in Colony Oaks Subdivision.

Approved Site

The plan commission merely approved the proposed site use, not purchase of the properties.

In other action, the commission.

—Failed to act on the request of James Vanden Boogard to rezone a lot to commercial on the north side of Newberry Street between Briarcliff Drive and the city limits.

—Recommended rezoning from single to two-family the lot on the northwest corner of Meade and Lindbergh streets, owned by Robert Sommerfelder.

—Denied the request of R.C.A. Development Corp to have a lot on the west side of Birchwood Avenue at Grant Street rezoned from single to two family.

Sites Considered

Supt. of Schools William Spears told the commission the Mielke property and several other sites were considered by suggested if the land were not used for a park it could be a future school site

However, John Schneider, chairman of the school board's sites committee, said the board of education had no use for the property at this time "It could be that maybe some day we will need it," Schneider said.

Public school officials said an addition to Johnston Elementary the board over the past two years, with the former deemed best

"We have no vacant elementary classrooms south of the river now," Spears explained, "and the school board hopes to move as rapidly as possible to employ an architect for the proposed new school which would hold about 1,000 pupils."

Spears said the Mielke property has been annexed into the city It had been in the Town of Harrison, Calumet County.

Sometime ago the park and recreation commission received the offer from Charter Land Corp. to buy the eight acres for a possible park site

Asked Purchase

At the same meeting, the commission recommended that the city council obtain the property. Since then there have been unanswered questions as to whether the commission has a master plan for developing future parks

When the matter came before the commission Monday, spokesmen for the corporation

Petitioners Wait Action On Mayor Term

Women Voters Might Push for Referendum On Neenah Issue

NEENAH — If the council does not put the four-year mayor question to a referendum vote at its meeting Wednesday, individual members of the League of Women voters will circulate petitions to force it to a referendum.

Mrs. Michael Sacher, representing the league at a breakfast meeting of the Governmental Action Division of the Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce, said the league itself would not bring the petition action, but members as individuals would.

Citing the abbreviated public debate given to the charter ordinance by the council before unanimous passage March 1, Mrs. Sacher said the league, while taking no position on the four-year proposal, believes in an informed public which has a voice in local government.

Endorsement

In January the league unanimously endorsed the council-manager form of government for the Twin Cities and Mrs. Sacher said it would compromise the league's manager stand to take another position on the four - year mayor ordinance.

The petitioners have 60 days after the council acts to file for the referendum If there is no petition the ordinance goes into effect.

Council action to bring the new ordinance to a referendum requires a two-thirds vote, or seven of 10 councilmen supporting the balloting.

Mrs. Sacher said the petitioning effort would be delayed until Thursday to see what the council decides at its meeting Wednesday night.

Council Vote

At this point it is unclear whether council vote for referendum Wednesday night will bring the longer term to the ballot in three weeks.

The attorney general's office has given an informal opinion that it can be placed on the ballot. Other officials feel it must wait until the next general election in April, 1968, or a special election called by the council this fall

It is certain, however, that if a petition is filed by Neenah citizens (seven per cent of those who voted at the last gubernatorial election are required), the referendum will be delayed until the April, 1968, general vote or a special fall election

The council has the power to call a special election

Injured Parolee Taken Into Custody In Stevens Point

A 16-year-old Appleton youth who left a hospital last Friday while under treatment for a severe hand injury, was taken into custody in Stevens Point Monday afternoon.

The youth, subject of a statewide police alert message issued over the weekend by Appleton authorities, is on parole to the State Department of Public Welfare.

He injured himself when he put his fist through an apartment window on College Avenue early the morning of March 5, according to police. He was wearing a cast on his left arm and hand when he left the hospital.

Fatality Victim Was Native of Appleton

Robert E. Schultz, 19, West Bend, who died Sunday night after an automobile accident, was born in Appleton, and is survived here by his maternal grandmother, Mrs. August W. Trettin, 523 W. Eighth St.

He was a sophomore at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, and is survived in West Bend by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin H. Schultz, one sister and two brothers, and his paternal grandparents.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church. Friends may call at the Schmidt Funeral Home, West Bend, after 3 p.m. today.

Neenah Golf Club Shares Confuse Issue

MENASHA — Two attorneys handling city legal affairs revealed separately Monday night how the city's little-known part ownership in a golf course and the movement of electric utility poles without proper authority have entangled attempts to get permission to put parking meters on private property.

Melvin F. Crowley, Water & Light Utility Commission attorney, and City Atty. Richard Steffens explained the situation. Steffens was a speaker at a Menasha Kiwanis Club meeting. Crowley gave his explanation at a meeting of the commission.

Crowley said utility workers had begun moving power poles on Water Street about a week ago on verbal permission from an officer of the Neenah and Menasha Water Power Co., Inc.

The little-known corporation owns water rights in various man-made waterways in the Twin Cities, including the Government Canal, and claims land ownership along the canal bank on Water Street.

North Shore

Steffens said the corporation, which is owned by several local manufacturers and a few individuals as stockholders, includes on its board of directors many of the same directors on the board of North Shore Country Club.

Unknown to many officials and citizens, Steffens said, is the city's ownership of 10 shares of North Shore stock.

They were bequeathed to the city by the late Hattie F. Miner in a will establishing a scholarship fund for Menasha High School graduates and administered by the city.

Utility Seeks Route Change for Pipeline

MENASHA — Utility commissioners, learning at the 11th hour of the city's plan for extending De Pere Street to the Gegan School, paved the way for a shortening of the route of water mains to the school Monday night.

While authorizing Melvin F. Crowley, utility attorney, to apply for Public Service Commission approval of the project, the water and light commission also left the way clear for Crowley and consulting engineers to change part of the extensive route.

Auto Accident Injures Woman; Cyclist Struck

Mrs. Frank Nehs, 1715 Hillcrest Drive, complained of left side injuries after her car and another auto collided at N. Outagamie and W. Washington Streets about 3:25 p.m. Monday

Appleton police said the woman was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by her husband.

Mrs. Nehs reportedly was northbound on Outagamie and a car driven by Phillip R Stoken, 24, 728 E. Maple St., was eastbound on Washington.

Ronald J. Kohl, 8, 1746 N. Charlotte St., suffered a cut lip and a bump on the forehead when his bicycle was struck by a car about 1:20 p.m. Monday at Charlotte and Pauline Streets.

The boy, who told police he was southbound on Charlotte and did not see the car until he got into the intersection, was to be taken to a doctor by his family. Police said the car, eastbound on Pauline, was driven by David Rausch, 27, 1516 E. Main St., Little Chute.

Electric Rates to be Lowered in Neenah

MENASHA — Lower rates for high-consumption, "all-electric" customers of the Water & Light Utility will go into effect April 1, the utility commission decided Monday night.

According to utility officials, the new rates for residential customers who use electricity from the municipal utility as the sole source of power for water heating or space heating will experience savings of at least $1 on their monthly electric bills, starting with those received in May

Some Object to Paper Containers

Rubbish Collection Experimental Project Is Termed Successful

The train-type equipment used in a garbage-rubbish collection experimental project in three Appleton wards recently was successful although many residents objected to putting debris in paper containers.

This in essence was the informal report made at a meeting of the street-sanitation committee at the city hall Monday afternoon.

Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), committee chairman, said the use of the so-called Load-Al system "has considerable merit" and felt the city should investigate it further, along with the possibility of instituting curb garbage pickups.

Under the present program garbage is collected at the back of residences while rubbish is set at the curb.

Opposite View

Ald. Clifford Radder (16th) did not share Pointer's enthusiasm, however, and said he had received "nothing but complaints."

The train-type equipment is considerably less expensive than utilizing large packer trucks for collections, it was reported.

Pointer said the city has 14 packer trucks now and indicated this figure could be reduced if Load-Al equipment was obtained.

"We might be able to save more than $200,000 in equipment alone," Pointer declared.

Revised System

The recent test indicated, according to Public Works Director Frank Keuler, that of all collections made by the city, only 20 per cent of the volume represents garbage.

Pointer said with a revised system he could envision combined rubbish-garbage pickups for Appleton at least once or more a week.

The committee emphasized any possible changes were in the exploratory stage and geared at improving service and realizing economies.

Keuler was authorized to go to Midland, Mich., a city of 35,000 population with twice the area of Appleton and 184 miles of streets, to obtain firsthand information on the Load-Al system used there.

The committee also:

—Decided to postpone indefinitely any physical change in the Drew, Roosevelt, Grant Street intersection in the 17th Ward where a jog exists. However, Drew Street was put on the summer resurfacing program.

—Withheld final action on a proposed CATV ordinance and set April 3 at 3:45 p.m. for a meeting with the public safety committee, which will also be attended by several local, state and out-of-state firms that have indicated interest in a community antenna television franchise.

Reaffirmed its recommendation that the engineering division prepare and attempt to obtain sloping easements for filling the ravine for the Calumet Street-Cherry Court extension to provide for construction of a sanitary sewer and roadway.

Delay Gegan Construction

MENASHA — Construction at the M. J. Gegan Elementary School site is approximately six weeks behind schedule because of the severe weather but classrooms will be ready for occupancy by September, 1967

General contractor P. G. Miron Construction Co., Menasha and other prime contractors for the 20-classoom, $1 million school, still feel that the building will be ready for classes, Robert Paynter, architect, told the board of education Monday night

Boost Fees for Use Of School Buildings

Appleton Board's Decision Prompted by Rising Costs, New Labor Regulations

An increase of fees for the use of school buildings to take care of basic costs, beginning Wednesday, was approved Monday by the board of education.

The decision came after William Knuth, director of business affairs, explained that under the new interpretation of the Fair Labor Act, custodians have to receive time and a half pay for anything over 42 hours of work. The bill became effective Feb 1.

Knuth said no money for this has been set aside in the budget. He estimated it would cost $5,000 to cover the salary expenses from now until the end of the year

Last year it cost $13,000 to cover the use of buildings by outside groups.

Lists Alternatives

"We could put in the funds for next year's budget," said Knuth, "but we still would have to cover this school year."

Charles Buchanan, board president, said they had three alternatives: cut back the use of buildings, increase fees and decrease expenses in other areas

"The last suggestion, of course, is impossible since we are already operating on a bare-bones budget and I just don't know where we could get the money," he said.

Knuth said he is working out a shift system with the custodial staff whereby some custodians would come in later in the day, thus eliminating some of the overtime.

Library Contract

In other business, the board awarded the contract for library equipment for Highlands Elementary School to School Equipment Consultants, Inc., Milwaukee, for their low bid of $14,533. Delivery date is Aug 15.

The board also approved two change orders for Appleton High School-East, totaling $2 555

Of this, $1,195 will be added for re-shaping and re-grading the entire south end of the athletic field and to blacktop the track

Appleton VISTA Youth Will Work in Pennsylvania Town

Gary Croatt, son of Mr and Mrs. John Croatt, route 4, Appleton, was one of 50 trainees who were recently graduated from a VISTA training program at the University of Maryland.

Croatt

As a Volunteer in Service to America, Croatt will spend one year working with the Bristol township community action program in Levittown, Pa.

From last fall until January this year Croatt, 20, was assistant to the swim coach at the YMCA and a student at the University of Wisconsin - Fox Valley Center. He attended the Milwaukee Institute of Technology, and earned an associate of science degree in 1966 in restaurant and hotel management. A winner of a scholarship from the Restaurant Association, he was graduated in 1964 from St. John High School, Little Chute.

VISTA, the volunteer corps of the Office of Economic Opportunity, sends workers, over 18, to projects that request aid in poverty pockets within the United States and its territories. They serve for one year, although they may extend their term of service at the end of the year

Courthouse Employes Reject Union

Vote 4-1 to Keep Representation by Their Association

Outagamie County courthouse employes, by nearly a 4-1 margin, Monday afternoon voted down union membership in favor of continued representation by the County Courthouse Employes Association.

The certification election, ordered by the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB), saw voting by two separate units. Maintenance, custodial and clerical employes, including those working part-time, voted 39-13 in favor of the courthouse bargaining unit over the American Federation of State, County and Municipalities, Local 1761.

Two employes included in the larger group voted for neither unit — the third choice on the ballots.

The other balloting unit was comprised of 11 caseworkers in the Outagamie County Welfare Department. Ten of the caseworkers voted for the courthouse bargaining unit while one voted for no representation.

WERB Order

The caseworkers figured in a dispute over balloting, and it was by WERB order earlier this month that they were allowed to vote for other than the courthouse association. The dispute had delayed balloting, first of its kind in the Outagamie County courthouse.

However, several other work units, including highway and hospital employes, are union members.

Only five eligible employes failed to vote in Monday's secret ballot election in the courthouse annex.

Excluded from the voting were department heads, supervisors, nurses, elected officials, court reporters, secretary to the corporation counsel, and sheriff's department personnel, who earlier retained a bargaining agent.

If there is no formal objection, the courthouse employes group will be certified by the WERB as the bargaining agent in matters of wages, hours and working conditions.

owners to contact him if they have questions regarding construction details.

Project inspectors report sewer crews are running into some major problems, but they were not unforeseen.

Considerable activity is centered at the northeast corner of Division and College where a 42 foot-deep manhole is being constructed. That phase of the work is to be completed by April 1.

Ban Parking

Parking is prohibited on the north and south sides of W. College Avenue in the 100, 300 and 600 blocks through this week. The northside of the 400 block of W. College also has a parking ban in effect.

Because it has been necessary to use huge equipment in those areas, removal of parking was warranted for safety purposes and to give the crews more work area.

The filling of hollow walks has been underway for about six weeks, and construction of retaining walls in vacant areas between Superior and Walnut Streets is proceeding on the south side of the avenue.

It has been necessary to close off some side streets periodically.

It is estimated that when the avenue is completed this fall, the investment on the part of the city and private utilities will amount to $1 million.

Winners in the Annual Safety Poster Contest, conducted by the Outagamie County Teen-Age Safety Council Monday night received awards at their meeting in the courthouse annex. From left, seated, are Carol Suprise, Shiocton; Becky Lembcke, accepting for Linda Miller, Seymour; Kay Siegrist, accepting for Ann Cousineau, Hortonville, and Mary Oudenhoven, Kimberly. Legal Opinion Awaited on UW-GB Plan

the total cost of the UW's "minimum module" to $23.8 million, according to a companion document submitted at the meeting.

University officials maintained again at the session that if the campuses are to be held to less than their original $28.5 million request, planning basis should include the construction of the libraries on the campuses before other structures. Cost for those buildings and site and utility work would come to at least $13.2 million.

The latest CCHE request was devised through use of a proposed shut-down of operations of existing first and second year centers in Green Bay, Racine and Kenosha. Through the plan, a student enrollment of 5,100 could be reached in the second year of operations of the new schools, according to the agency's estimates.

Leonard has led Building Commission opposition to higher campus spending, basing his position on low student population figures during the first years of use of the new institutions.

Enrollment

The 5,100 enrollment figure, which includes 2,100 students expected at the UW-GB, was derived by expecting that all projected freshman-sophomore students at the area centers would transfer to the four year university in 1970, projected junior-senior enrollments for the new campuses, and by adding in several hundred new students expected to be generated above previous estimates because of the defering of four years of educational opportunity at one site in the respective areas.

Leonard expressed interest in the method of deriving the new enrollments, which was not explained to him at the meeting, and said that he would investigate it before approving any expanded financing proposals based on such computations.

Action was postponed when it was explained that the deadline for receipt of additional funds by planning agencies will not come until April 15, and that action could be taken on the proposals at an April 10 meeting of the Building Commission.

Tipsy Driver Fined $200

Clintonville Man Changes Plea, Admits Charge

WAUPACA — Russell A. Dean, 28, 174 S. Madison St., Clintonville, arrested March 5 for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages, appeared Monday in Municipal Justice Court and was fined $200 and costs after changing his plea to guilty.

Dean pleaded innocent March 6 and a trial was scheduled March 26. He appeared Monday and changed his plea. Justice George Whalen revoked his driver's license for one year.

Dean was arrested by county police on the city's east side.

Note Starts Long Debate Of Supervisors

the floor to denounce what they consider to be ill treatment they have been receiving from the press in general, and The Post-Crescent in particular.

"Why should we let The Post-Crescent have these resolutions," DeBruin asked, "when they always get things wrong and backwards anyway?"

Miller said, "All they do with these things anyway is write articles which embarrass us and make us look like a bunch of fools anyway. They write editorials and twist things so that the people think their way."

Cites 'Digging'

Conradt said the request should be denied because other legislative groups do not furnish such information to the press. "They have to go out and dig for their news," Conradt said. "The press warps the people's minds," he said.

Appleton Supv. Herbert Helble, former principal of Appleton High School, then made a motion that the request be granted.

He said he was glad that the debate came up in the presence of the large group of high school students. Describing the matter as a "basic issue," Helble said neither Outagamie County government nor any other branch of government "has the right to withhold news from the public."

"We're arguing about something which we have no control over and no right to debate. Whether we like what they do or not," Helble said, "newspapers are going to write things the way they think they should be written and they're going to get the information anyway."

Cooperation

Helble said the question was whether or not government should cooperate with the press in getting the information to the people.

Supvs. John Schreiter and Arthur Hoolihan, both of Appleton, and Walter Fredericks, of New London, agreed with Helble.

Schreiter said attempts at suppressing information are violations of "the public's right to know" about government.

Hoolihan pointed out that Appleton city government and all other branches of government cooperate with the press by sending advance copies of all matters to be brought up for consideration. "They even send up advance copies of all committee agenda," he said.

An amendment by Supv. Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, to have the matter set aside for one month for study was shouted down by a voice vote after Supv. Eugene Kloes (Appleton) said, "Let's decide this issue now."

"There are two ways we can work with newspapers and radio," Kloes said. "Either we don't give them anything and make them go dig it out by themselves, and it will all come out backwards, or we can cooperate with them, and then maybe they'll give us a little cooperation.

"Either way," Kloes said, "they're going to write it the way they see fit anyway."

Another objection came up when supervisors, who already had debated for 55 minutes on the question, objected to the cost of postage to mail the resolutions to the press.

Finally, Helble changed his original motion to state that advance copies of resolutions be made available to news media on the counter in the county clerk's office.

His motion passed unanimously, and supervisors wound up their morning's business and went to lunch.

Latin America Topic For 'Great Decisions'

Latin American problems will hold the spotlight at a Lawrence University alumni-sponsored Great Decisions luncheon set for noon Thursday at the Appleton YMCA.

Dr. Walter F. Peterson, associate professor of history, will be the speaker. His topic is, "New Deal in Chile: Will 'Revolution in Liberty' Succeed?"

Peterson, formerly chairman of the Milwaukee-Downer College history department, joined the Lawrence faculty when the two schools merged in 1964.

Board Member

His bachelor, masters and doctorates degrees were earned at the State University of Iowa, where he later served as a faculty member. He also taught at Buena Vista College, Ball State Teachers College, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee and Drake University.

A former president of the Milwaukee chapter, American Association for the United Nations, Peterson has served as a board member for the group's state organization. He is former vice chairman of Milwaukee's World Affairs Council, and director of the city's Peace Corps Service organization. From 1963 through 1965 he was coordinator of American Studies, World Affairs and Communism sections in 10 Peace Corps training programs at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

Peterson's talk is sixth in the eight-week foreign policy discussion series. Luncheon reservations may be made by calling the Lawrence Alumni Office, Sampson House, on the university campus.

Labor Leaders Unanimously Oppose Commerce Merger

Lack of Support Could Destroy LBJ Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor leaders have dealt what could be a death blow to President Johnson's proposal to merge the Labor and Commerce Departments, it was reported today.

At a briefing last week arranged by Johnson, AFL-CIO President George Meany and other federation leaders told two high administration officials they unanimously oppose the merger, it was learned.

Meany and other members of the AFL-CIO Executive Council said the nation's workers would never be able to understand why they shouldn't have a separate federal department representing their interests as long as other segments of the economy — such as agriculture — had special interest agencies.

No Normal Vote

While the AFL-CIO leaders took no formal vote on the merger proposal during the briefing by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Budget Director Charles Schultze, they left the impression "they would not support it" if Johnson sends the proposal to Congress, informants said.

"The key to this whole thing is the lack of labor support which could be decisive," said a well-placed government source.

While Johnson hasn't conceded the idea is dead, he ducked two chances to mention it at major gatherings of labor officials last week.

At the formal swearing-in of Undersecretary of Labor James J. Reynolds and Assistant Secretary of Labor Thomas Donahue last Wednesday, Johnson said of the Labor Department: "Every president must give perpetual priority to strengthening this very vital department." He made no mention of the merger proposal.

Johnson first mentioned the merger in his State of the Union speech in January. Wirtz and other administration officials have said it would make for greater efficiency and emphasize the role of labor and business in building a stronger economy.

Labor leaders, while officially reserving judgment, have unanimously expressed fear that a merged department could wind up dominated by big business interests — if not under Johnson, perhaps under a future president.

Tour Continues

Lady Bird Views Mountain Hamlet

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — The nation's First Lady found educational programs for needy families in need themselves as she continued her "educational field trip" in Appalachia.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson heads 70 miles by bus to an isolated mountain hamlet in Canada Township today to see the work of Teacher Corps volunteers whose nationwide effort in poverty-stricken areas may end June 30 unless Congress comes up with more money.

Monday night, in Charleston, W.Va., she ate dinner with grade school youngsters and their parents who were sadly ending a two-nights-a-week family-enrichment program of evening classes because their $8,000 in federal money has run out.

"We would like it to run longer," said Principal Violet Johnson. "Working with the disadvantaged is a slow process. It takes lots of time."

After two years, Glenwood Elementary School is closing this after-hours project, still hoping to get another allocation of funds for the next fiscal year.

The President's wife joined parents and youngsters for a dinner that included chicken casserole, mashed potatoes, green beans, salad, pineapple cake and beverage. The meal was free to those who couldn't afford the 35-cent fee.

A talkative second-grader, Jimmy Hildreth, 8, who got one of the seats of honor next to the President's wife, looked Mrs. Johnson over and commented, "You all must be rich."

Mrs. Johnson said she replied: "I would say that we are well off, but that my husband has been working hard since he was 18."

Class for All

Two nights a week about 100 Glenwood area youngsters came with their parents to have dinner in the gym with local entertainment while they eat. Monday night there were youthful madrigal singers, a clown act, a women's Job Corps chorus and a father-daughter dance team.

Afterwards everyone went to class. For the youngsters it was kindergarten or such things as remedial reading and math. For the parents, it was nursing, first aid, home budgeting or discussions on child rearing.

James Sweeney, father of two who works for a machinery firm, said he and his wife had not missed a night since the program started.

"Your kids get acquainted," he said. "It works out real good. It gives you a chance to meet people you live right next door to and never met until you came here. You learn to do so many things."

"I don't know what I'm going to do without it," said Alice Farmer, mother of five. "Classes have been so interesting and really helpful."

"Someone came to tell us how to budget our money," she said, adding poignantly, "I don't have any."

Mrs. Johnson had come to cite this project as an example for schools and families across the country. She said she was surprised to learn this was the closing night.

Ike-Reagan Meeting Stirs Wonder

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Political observers with an eye on the White House wondered today just what took place in a private meeting between former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and California's Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Eisenhower and Reagan conferred for 2½ hours Monday, after which Eisenhower told newsmen: "Gov. Reagan will have to make his own decision" whether to seek the presidency under the Republican banner.

"There are a number of men who would make fine presidents in our party, and Gov. Reagan is one of the men I admire most in this world."

Reagan and Eisenhower said their meeting was primarily a social gathering.

Reagan said: "I did sort of give him an overdose of our problems in California, in view of his experience, and I did get some sound advice."

Earlier in the day Eisenhower, asked by newsmen if he supported Reagan's announced favorite-son candidacy, said: "A favorite son is picked by the state, and I am not a citizen of this state. But I heartily endorse what he has done."

"No one knows what is in the future, but when duty calls one has to answer," Eisenhower said.

Canadian Gold Barred From U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government bemoans the drain of U.S. gold to foreign countries — but don't think that means it wants travelers abroad to bring gold home.

The Treasury Department said Monday that visitors to Canada's Expo 67 will be prohibited from returning with $20 Canadian gold pieces that will be sold at the Montreal exposition.

The Treasury also said it will ask Congress for permission to stop paying off silver certificate paper money in actual silver. The reason: a dwindling supply of the precious metal.

Reds Made Acceptable

French Foreign Policy Cause of Near Defeat

PARIS (AP) — Bread-and-butter issues were the underlying cause of the Gaullist election setback last weekend, but President Charles de Gaulle's foreign policy may have helped by making Communist candidates more acceptable to the voters.

Official returns from the second round of voting Sunday for the new National Assembly gave the Gaullists 244 seats to 241 for the combined opposition.

That is a Gaullist majority of one in the full Assembly of 487 members. But three seats remain in doubt, and the Gaullists could wind up with a margin ranging from a plus three to a minus one.

Ask Recount

One seat, representing Bastia, on the island of Corsica, was credited to the Gaullists. But the losing candidate, incumbent Jean Zuccarelli of the non-Communist Federation of the left, was reported planning to ask for a new election because of election irregularities.

Returns from Tahiti, in the South Pacific, are not expected until Sunday but the Gaullist candidate there withdrew after the Gaullists in Paris canceled their endorsement of him. Another seat will be filled from French Somaliland if that East African territory votes in an independence referendum Sunday to remain with France.

The election trend was clearly to the left. The Gaullists lost 38 seats, while the left gained 53. The Communists will have 73 deputies in the new Assembly, 32 more than they elected five years ago. The non-Communist left, with 126 seats, has picked up 21 new seats so far.

Premier Georges Pompidou is counting on six or seven center Democrats who were elected with Gaullist support to cross the aisle and join the Gaullists on critical roll calls.

The immediate cause for the Gaullist setback was the unity of the left, agreed on last Dec. 20 by leaders of Communist and non-Communist parties and endorsed Sunday by their rank-and-file followers.

For the first time since the triumph of the Popular Front in 1936, the left fielded a single slate of candidates. The Gaullists tried to exploit long-standing mistrust of communism to persuade Socialists not to support Communist candidates, but their efforts were of little avail.

A recent poll conducted by the Communist newspaper Humanite disclosed that a great mass of Frenchmen had overcome their traditional fear of the party.

Party Respectability

Only 24 per cent said they were opposed to Communist participation in the government, 40 per cent said they favored it, 27 per cent declared themselves indifferent, and 9 per cent had no opinion.

The poll showed the party had attained respectability. De Gaulle himself was partly responsible.

During the past few years, the French president has sought an understanding with the Soviet Union and the other Communist states of Eastern Europe and recognized Red China. His main premise has been that the Soviet Union — and by implication, the Soviet Communist party — has matured, that it no longer harbors ideas of military adventure in Western Europe and that it is a worthwhile partner in seeking a European settlement.

Kohler, Reynolds To Honor Justice

MADISON (AP) — Former Wisconsin governors Walter Kohler and John Reynolds will address a March 19 dinner in Milwaukee honoring Chief Justice George Currie, a campaign official announced Monday. Currie is seeking re-election to the State Supreme Court in the April election. Kohler first appointed Currie to the court in 1951.

Student Groups Boycott Rally For Suharto

Displeased With Lack of Punishment For Ousted Sukarno

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Student leaders boycotted a rally supporting acting President Suharto today, but the government brought out more than 50,000 persons to hear Jakarta's military commander, Maj. Gen. Amir Machmud, appeal for stability.

The brightly colored jackets of the politically powerful student groups were conspicuous by their absence. Unofficial student sources said the leaders were unhappy with Suharto's broadcast Monday night in which he said President Sukarno "would be treated as the president without any more power in politics."

Most of the people at today's rally were workers and civil defense personnel. Chiefs of nearby villages said they were told to round up as many people as possible and bring them to the city. Several said they did not know what the reason was until they arrived.

The student groups have agitated for months for removal of Sukarno's presidential title and for him to be put on trial for alleged complicity in the attempted Communist coup of Oct. 1, 1965.

Radio Jakarta announced today that a special Indonesian military court sentenced former Brig. Gen. Supardjo to death Monday night for his part in the coup attempt.

Congress wound up a five-day special session Sunday during which it divested Sukarno of his presidential powers, prohibited him from all political activity and named Gen. Suharto, the army strongman, acting president.

Criticism of $1.5 Billion Latin American Aid Bill Precedes Introduction

Fulbright Opposed to Supporting Measure Without Knowing Impact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The shadow of the Tonkin Gulf resolution has fallen over President Johnson's proposal asking Congress to give advance support for a $1.5 billion program to lift Latin American living standards.

Although backers denied there was any relationship with the Asian war resolution of 1964, Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee criticized the Latin American resolution even before it was formally introduced Monday.

Fulbright told newsmen he doesn't like the idea of committing Congress in advance to a program without knowing all of its future implications.

"We put ourselves in the position of not being able to criticize it if it goes wrong," he said.

Surprise Reference

Fulbright, who sponsored the 1964 resolution, subsequently said he had not realized at the time it would be cited by President Johnson as authority for expanding the fighting in Vietnam. Late last month Fulbright said the resolution, which authorized the President to take all necessary measures to repel aggression, amounted to "almost a declaration of limited war."

Fulbright said he didn't want the Tonkin Gulf resolution to become a precedent for advance commitments on programs that might be expanded later by the executive branch on the basic authority given by Congress.

The new resolution, offered by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., would have Congress endorse the proposed Latin American Common Market and pledge matching funds for its operation. It would recommend Inter-American Development Bank financing for "economic integration" of the countries involved.

Alliance Increase

Under its terms, Congress would recommend an increase in assistance to Alliance of Progress programs for education, agricultural modernization and health improvement. It would put Congress on record as endorsing a five-year program of this nature.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told his colleagues he couldn't find any resemblance to the Tonkin Bay resolution in this. He called it the "kind of resolution I like."

"It calls for economic integration, rural improvements and school aid," he said. "It is the kind of resolution to help people and not destroy them."

It was evident, however, that some stormy hearings may lie ahead when the Foreign Relations committee takes it up.

Guards Didn't Want Prisoners to Get Ideas

MAIDSTONE, England (AP) — Maidstone jail reported today that 50 prisoners nearly mutinied when a guard switched off a television set showing the British move "The League of Gentlemen."

It shows the planning of a successful bank raid.

Terror Cagers Have Overcome Odds to Gain State Meet

Current Unit Compares to 1956 Club in Personnel, Momentum

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Appleton High School's status in the 8-team state basketball tournament, this week, can be viewed in either of two ways.

On the basis of the total 1966-67 performance, AHS' record of 16-7 is by far the least imposing in the glittering field.

But, on the basis of tournament play alone — and the tourney series is, actually, the start of a new season — the Terrors' won-loss percentage of 1.000 is exactly the same as that of the other seven teams.

Barron, LaCrosse Central and Platteville all have 6-0 records (they had to play an extra regional game), while AHS, Green Bay West, Milwaukee Lincoln, Wausau and Whitefish Bay are all 5-0 in tourney action.

The Dick Emanuel-coached Terrors meet Whitefish Bay (22-1) in the wind-up game of Thursday's quarter-finals — at about 8:45 p.m. — in the University of Wisconsin Fieldhouse.

Even Greater

Though the odds will be against the Terrors in their bid to win the school's first state title since 1921, they aren't apt to worry about such things. The odds were even greaer two weeks ago against the Appletonians' even reaching Madison —except as spectators.

Having lost the final two games of the Fox River Valley Conference season (by six points to Sheboygan North and seven to Green Bay West), the Terrors entered tourney play without apparent momentum. To make the prospect even more bleak, Appleton's opening AHS regional opponent was Neenah — the state's fourth-ranked team — which had whipped the Terrors by 22 points on the same floor earlier in the season.

AHS, however, accomplished the highly improbable by edging Neenah, 57-56, in one of the top thrillers on this year's tourney circuit. The Terrors went on to vanquish four other foes by far more decisive margins to qualify for the Madison classic.

The only school in the Madison finals to beat a higher-ranked team than Neenah (AHS' victim) is defending champion Milwaukee Lincoln — a 96-84 winner over third-ranked Racine Park.

Although the Terrors met their toughest pre-state foe first (Neenah), their other opponents were far from soft touches. Winneconne and New Holstein had exceptionally good records; Menasha had come on fast with four wins in its most recent five games; and Horicon had not only turned hot at tourney time but boasted a pair of stratospheric performers (6-foot-8 and 6-7).

Whitefish Bay's tourney competition was roughly comparable to AHS', and the Blue Dukes' performance was similar to that of the Terrors. Whitefish Bay had one close call (58-56 over Shorewood) and won over its other foes — Nicolet, Milwaukee King, Cedar Grove and Waterloo — by double-figure margins.

For the five tourney games, Whitefish Bay averaged 64.4 points per game while giving up 47. In the same tourney period, Appleton scored at the rate of 63, while giving up 50.2.

The 1967 Terrors are the third straight Fox Cities team to qualify for the state meet. Neenah qualified in 1966 (with the same record, 16-7, as the current Terrors) and Appleton

Chisox Held To One Hit in 6-0 Setback

Three St. Louis Pitchers Combine To Shut Out Tigers

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox hitters were really looking over the pitchers. The trouble was that when they found one they liked they couldn't do much with it.

The White Sox weren't swinging at too many bad balls Monday—they got 13 walks. But they also got only one hit and lost 6-0 to the New York Yankees in a Grapefruit League game at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Pitcher Dennis Higgins' single off rookie Bill Henry in the fourth inning was the Chicago hit. Henry walked four. Rookie Stan Bahnsen, the New York starter, also walked four, and Hal Reniff, the New York finisher, walked five.

Ross Moschito drove in two runs with a double and another with a single for the Yankees.

Combine For Shutout

Three young St. Louis pitchers—Dick Hughes, Nelson Briles and Jim Cosman, also combined for a shutout as the Cardinals' edged Detroit 1-0 on Phil Gagliano's RBI single in the ninth inning at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Each St. Louis pitcher yielded one hit in sending Detroit to its first loss in four exhibition starts.

Floyd Robinson hit a pinch-hit homer and Dick Simpson delivered a two-run blast in Cincinnati's 6-3 victory over Houston at Tampa, Fla. Rookie Gary Nolan of the Reds threw three innings of shutout ball against the Astros, who got a bases empty homer from Jim Landis.

The New York Mets also made use of the long ball in beating the Boston Red Sox 5-3 at Winter Haven, Fla. Cleon Jones hit a two-run homer and Chuck Hiller slammed a solo shot in the sixth inning.

Reggie Smith hit a two-run homer and rookie second baseman Mike Andrews got five straight hits for the Red Sox.

Los Angeles edged Washington 10-8 at Vero Beach, Fla., when rookies John Wehalf and Jim Campanis broke an 8-8 tie with run scoring singles in the seventh inning.

Ron Hunt collected two singles and a triple and Bob Bailey drove in three runs with a double and a triple for Los Angeles.

Pittsburgh sent the Kansas City Athletics to their fourth straight setback, 7-1 at Bradenton, Fla., as Matty Alou singled in two runs and Stargell drove

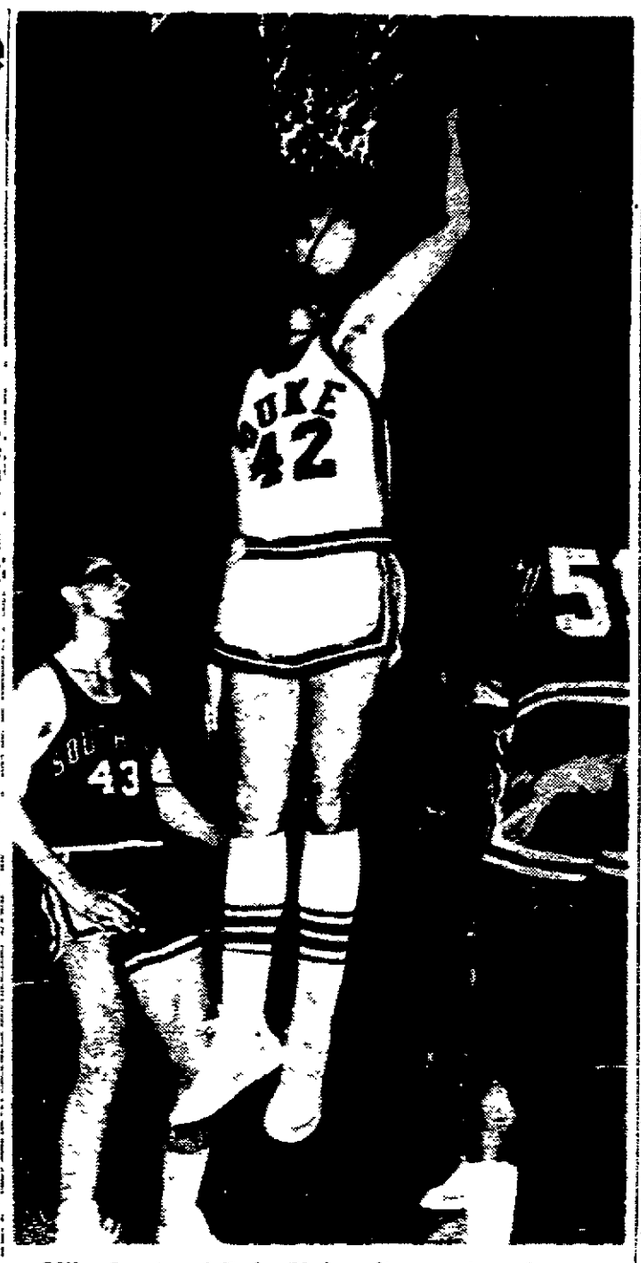
Geurts Heads The All-NEW Cage Team

Three seniors and two juniors have been selected to the Northeastern Wisconsin Conference team by coaches.

Heading the list is 6-2 senior Denny Beurts, of East De Pere who won the NEW scoring crown and finished among the leaders in rebounding. Sturgeon Bay and Algoma placed two players each on the starting five. The Clippers had 6-6 junior Mike Propsom and 6-4 senior John Goodwin, while the Wolves placed Jeff Corry (5-11 junior) and Dick Poehls (6-4 senior).

Seymour's Jim Danforth, a 6-0 senior, tops the second team. Bob Eiler of West De Pere, Dick Christinsen of East De Pere, Roger Wanek of Kewaunee (all seniors plus sophomore Mark Ostrand, of Sturgeon Bay, round out the second club.

Named to the third team were Bob Bryfczynski of Pulaski, Tom Nichols of Bayport, Steve Diemer of Oconto Falls, Mike DeMeuese of Algoma, and Dale Schadrie of West De Pere.



Mike Lewis, of Duke University, went up for a rebound in the National Invitation Tournament against Southern Illinois in New York Monday night, but the ball got loose coming off the board and Lewis wound up looking like he was balancing the ball on his nose. Other players include Ralph Johnson, left, and Chuck Benson (51) both of Southern Illinois. The Salukis defeated Duke, 72-63 in the tourney. (AP Wirephoto)

Will Boycott Playoffs

NBA Player Strike In Offing; Dispute Is Over Pension Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — The first strike in history against a major league professional sports organization appeared in the offing today as the Players' Association and the National Basketball Association owners faced each other across a long-range bargaining table.

On the surface, the deadline was noon today for the players to confirm they would participate in the postseason playoffs beginning March 25. If they did not so confirm, said NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy in a public statement, the playoffs would not be held and the $280,000 players' pool would vanish.

Extend Deadline

Under the surface, there were rumors from well-informed sources that the deadline would be extended past noon. The sources declined to be quoted directly or identified.

At issue is the player pension plan. At present, 10-year players are assured of $200 a month 30 years after they retire. The players ask $600. The owners have offered $500. More importantly, the players want it to be retroactive for players now in the league.

Kennedy cited the costs of printing tickets and leasing auditoriums as the reason for putting on the noon deadline.

He and the players' attorney, Lawrence Fleisher, have not had a face-to-face meeting since last week. They have conferred over the telephone several times, but neither has reported any positive results.

The players contend they will boycott the playoffs if their demands are not met.

Cards' Wilson Led NFL in Interceptions

NEW YORK (AP) — Larry Wilson of the St. Louis Cardinals led the National Football League in interceptions in 1966, the official statistics revealed Monday.

Wilson made 10 interceptions of opponents' passes, good for 130 yards. On two of the interceptions he scored touchdowns, one on a 91-yard run. Bob Jeter of Green Bay also turned two of his five interceptions into touchdowns.

Henry Carr of the New York Giants made the longest touchdown run of an intercepted pass, when he went 101 yards in the Giants' 55-14 loss to Los Angeles on Nov. 13. The record is 102 by Bob Smith of Detroit in 1949 and Erich Barnes of New York in 1961.

The honor of returning intercepted passes the most yards went to Philadelphia's Joe Scarpati. He picked eight out of the air and returned the ball for a total of 182 yards.

Cleveland paced the teams in interceptions with 30, two more than the champion Green Bay Packers. In total yards however, the Packers led with 547 yards for an average return of 19.5

Packers Pick Bob Hyland, Boston College Lineman

Colts Make Bubba Smith No. 1 Choice in Draft; Three Other Spartans Among First Eight

By BOB GREEN

NEW YORK (AP) — Four Michigan State stars, headed by giant Bubba Smith, were among the first eight players selected today in the first combined player draft of the National and American Football Leagues.

Smith, the 1966 College Lineman of the Year, was the No. 1 pick and was selected by the Baltimore Colts of the NFL.

The other seven top picks were:

2. Clint Jones, Michigan State running back, by the Minnesota Vikings of the NFL.

3. Steve Spurrier, Heisman Trophy winning quarterback from Florida, by San Francisco 49ers of the NFL.

The 49ers were believed to have traded veteran quarterback John Brodie to the Atlanta Falcons for the No. 3 draft pick.

4. Bob Griese, Purdue quarterback, by Miami of the AFL.

5. George Webster, Michigan State linebacker, by Houston of the AFL.

6. Floyd Little, Syracuse running back, by Denver of the AFL.

7. Mel Farr, UCLA running back, by Detroit of the NFL.

8. Gene Washington, Michigan State offensive end, by Minnesota of the NFL.

Get First Choice

The Colts got the first choice by using the draft pick of the New Orleans Saints, the new team in the NFL. The Saints had traded their No. 1 selection to the Colts for veteran quarterback Gary Cuozzo, who had asked to be traded by the Colts.

Minnesota, in need of a running back, used the draft choice of the lowly New York Giants. The Vikings had acquired the Giants' No. 1 pick as part of the deal for veteran quarterback Fran Tarkenton.

The Vikings had the privilege of making the first pick this year or in 1968, also as part of the trade with the Giants. They elected to make their super pick next year.

Then the Vikings, making their regular draft as No. 8 on the list, selected Gene Washington, Michigan State's fine offensive end.

Smith, 21, stands 6-feet-7 and weighs 283 pounds. He was chosen as an all-America, as was Jones, a speedy, 6-foot, 201-pound halfback, who gained 1,921 yards during his college career.

Spurrier was third in the country in passing last season with 2,012 yards and 16 touchdowns. He was sixth in total offense with 2,078 yards and was Florida's punter, averaging 40.8 yards per kick.

Over his career, Spurrier passed for 4,484 yards, a 56.6 percentage and 36 TDs.

Eighth in National

Griese was eighth in the country in total offense, passing for 1,964 yards and 18 TDs. He also served as the Boilermakers' kicker.

Webster, a 212-pound All-America, was called Michigan State's Monster Man. He is a tenacious tackler and has great pursuit.

Little is an explosive runner who was the greatest rusher in the history of Syracuse which produced Jimmy Brown and the late Ernie Davis.

Little gained 811 yards for 12 touchdowns in 1966 and had a career total of 2,704 yards gained for an average of 5.36 per carry. He is particularly dangerous on kickoff and punt returns.

Farr is a shifty halfback with power. He rushed for 1,680 yards, better than six yards per carry, in his career.

Washington, a fine receiver stands 6-3 and weighs 219 pounds. A Big Ten hurdles champion, Washington caught 102 passes for 1,857 yards and 16 TDs during his career.

Green Bay, using a pick acquired in an earlier trade with Pittsburgh, selected Bob Hyland, a guard from Boston College. He was No. 9 in the draft.

Hyland, an offensive guard, stands 6-5 and weighs 245 pounds.

The Chicago Bears selected Loyd Phillips, an outstanding defensive tackle from Arkansas, as their No. 10 pick.

Phillips, a 6-3 230-pounder, was a two-time All America, the first ever in Arkansas history. The Bears said they plan to use Phillips at defensive end.

San Francisco used its regular first round pick to draft Cas Banaszek, an offensive end from Northwestern. Banaszek is 6-3, 228.

Don Shula, Baltimore's coach, said he thought the Colts had a potential superstar in Bubba Smith, their first round selection.

"A player with his size and speed only comes along once every 10 years," Shula said. "He doesn't have an ounce of fat on him and he reportedly has outrun backs at Michigan State.

"He can rush the passer. He was a No 1 guy at Michigan State. He played outstanding football for the last three years."

Shula said Smith, a defensive end in college, might be shifted to tackle with the Colts. "We would like to think he could move into a starting assignment. But he's got to prove himself," said Shula.

Jim Martin Hired as Aide With Lions

DETROIT (AP) — Coach Joe Schmidt of the Detroit Lions completed his new coaching staff Monday with the signing of a former Lion, Jim Martin, as defensive line coach. Martin had been an assistant coach at Idaho State.

Martin is the second of Schmidt's teammates from Detroit's National Football League championship teams of the 1950s to join the new coach's staff. Jim David formerly was hired as defensive backfield coach.

Schmidt was named this year to replace Harry Gilmer as head coach after two disastrous seasons for the Detroit club.

Martin played 11 seasons with the Lions before going to the Denver Broncos in 1962 as an assistant coach. He returned to the Lions as a player in 1963, but was traded to the Baltimore Colts. Martin played his college football at Notre Dame.

Southern Illinois, Marshall Register Victories in NIT

Salukis Defeat Duke; Stone Scores 46 Against Nebraska

NEW YORK (AP) — Basketball is a labor of love for Southern Illinois' skillful Salukis, but jumping George Stone and the Thundering Herd prefer to shoot first — and let the good times roll.

"When I'm hot, I just keep pumping. I'm not bashful," an exultant Stone exclaimed Monday night after his 46-point barrage led Marshall's Hurrying Herd to a record-breaking 119-98 triumph over Nebraska in the National Invitation Tournament.

"The keys for us have been balance and hard work," said Coach Jack Hartman, whose Salukis preceded Marshall into the NIT semifinals by wearing down Duke 72-63 in the first game of the Madison Square Garden doubleheader.

Thursday Semi-Finals

Marshall and Southern Illinois play the respective winners of tonight's Providence-Marquette and New Mexico-Rutgers pairings in Thursday night's semis.

Stone, an angular 6-foot-7 jump-shooter whose accuracy appears to improve as he moves farther away from the hoop, put together the high-point game thus far in the tourney as Marshall shattered Bradley's 10-year-old NIT record of 116 points.

The junior forward, limited to 15 points in Marshall's 70-68 overtime victory over Villanova last Thursday night, poured in 26 in the first half against the stunned Cornhuskers, hitting on 12 of 19 shots from the floor. He finished with 20-for-38 and a school point record.

16th Straight

Sophomore Dick Garrett, rugged Ralph Johnson and Little All-America Walt Frazier led Southern Illinois past the Blue Devils for its 16th straight victory and 22nd in 24 starts. Southern Illinois, the nation's No. 1 college division team, has won seven of nine games against major foes.

"We've played some of the best teams in the country and we thought we'd have a good chance here," said Frazier, the 6-3 floor general who contributed 17 points, nine rebounds and six assists to the SIU attack. "Some teams have one star. We have five players on the court—no stars. We have desire and momentum. We could go all the way."

Joe Franklin Selected as Badgers' MVP

Cited for Scoring, Rebounding Value At Post-Season Fete

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin basketball team concluded its most successful season since 1963 Monday by voting junior rebounding ace Joe Franklin its most valuable player.

The slender Franklin, who averaged 16.1 points per game and snared 191 rebounds in Big Ten conference competition and 289 for the season, ranked second in retrieves only to Ohio State's Bill Hosket.

The 6-foot-4 Madison product was also awarded the rebounding trophy. It was the second year in a row he led the Badgers in rebounding and was second in scoring.

The squad's only starting senior, Dennis Sweeney, was elected team captain earlier in the season. Junior Mike Carlin won the free throw accuracy prize for the second straight year.

Large Banquet

The Badger team and coaching staff was honored by 430 fans who attended a banquet sponsored by a local service club.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles, an avid sports fan, spoke briefly and told the players he was "thrilled with the progress the team made through the year."

He added that he expected a

Reserve Center on Tennessee Quint Fractures Nose

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — David Bell, reserve center on Tennessee's basketball team, suffered a broken nose Monday in a collision with Vol Captain Ron Widby during a workout.

Officials said the injury would not prevent the 6-foot-6 Dayton, Ohio, cager from playing when Tennessee meets Dayton Friday night in a NCAA regional game at Evanston, Ill.

Both Strong Defensively

Wildcats, Platteville Are Accustomed to Big Game Pressures

By KEN HARTNETT

MADISON (AP)—Last season, Green Bay West, unbeaten and second-ranked, celebrated winning a berth in the Wisconsin high school basketball tournament by throwing Coach Bob Kloss into a swimming pool. The Wildcats went on to be the bust of the tournament.

This season, unranked and chastened by three losses, the Wildcats again had a pool party to celebrate winning a berth in the Madison games. This time, Kloss stayed dry.

"We decided we'd wait until we got back from Madison," Kloss said. "Then maybe we'll have another pool party, and I'll let 'em throw me in."

Hillmen in Same Position

Platteville, West's first-round foe Thursday afternoon, is in the position West was in when the Wildcats played Wisconsin Rapids, a darkhorse, in last season's first-round game.

The Hillmen (23-0) are sixth-ranked and unbeaten. They seem to have more height and firepower than West. They also have the individual brilliance of Jim Lawinger.

West has little height and is without a player of Lawinger's caliber.

But Kloss does not seem uncomfortable about the game. "We have a looser feeling than we had last year," the coach said. "There's not the pressure of waiting to be beaten. Wausaukee was ranked and unbeaten when they came into our sectional tournament and the pressure was on them. This year we have no problems like that."

Wauwaukee was, of course, beaten in the Green Bay Sectional.

Used to Pressure

Pressure may not affect Platteville, a team that's been shaped under it. Two seasons ago, the Hillmen lost a heartbreaker in the regionals to Monroe. The Cheesemakers went on to capture the state title. Last year, Platteville was beaten at the buzzer by Madison East, another first round disappointment in the 1966 tournament.

Platteville hasn't been to a state meet since 1955. West is making its fifth trip since 1959. Neither team has ever won the title.

Lawinger, 6-foot-1, is the king of the Hillmen with his 56 per cent accuracy rating and his 29-point average. "He's had quite a season," said Coach Royce Reeves.

Lawinger has cracked all of Platteville's season and career scoring records and his scoring average is the highest ever recorded in the Southwestern Wisconsin Conference.

Teaming with Lawinger is 6-foot-6 Dennis Nodolf, jumping jack Bill Hake, a 6-foot-1 forward, and 5-foot-11 guards Steve Klaas and Tom Barth.

Barth is the son of John Barth of Platteville State, the man who coached Reeves when he was in college.

Strong Defense

Platteville is strong defensively, allowing opponents an average of only 46 points per game. "We like a control kind of game," said Reeves. "If we feel we can run, we have the ability to run.

Most of the time, however, Platteville waits and works the ball to Lawinger. "He's really a will o' the wisp around the key," said Reeves.

West is also a ball control team with a strong defense. Its handicap is the lack of a player taller than 6-foot-2.

Jerry Tagge, the only non-senior starter, is the tallest player. Dennis Gutzman, 6-foot-1, is probably the best. "He's a tremendous competitor," said Kloss.

Gutzman is one of two All-State football players on West's starting five. Jim Anderson, a 6-foot guard, is the other. Anderson has suffered knee miseries through most of a sub-par season.

Unsung Heroes

Bruce Koenig, 5 - foot - 11, teams with Anderson at the guards and Doug Behrendt, 6-foot, is the other forward. "Koenig and Behrendt are the unsung heroes," said Kloss.

West's hopes ride on being able to stop Lawinger while keeping up with the Hillmen under the boards.

A win for West would be a surprise. West wasn't supposed to repeat in the Fox River Valley Conference this season, but the Wildcats finished in a tie with Manitowoc for the lead.

"We're just beginning to peak," said Kloss, who just might end up in the pool after all.

Bob Stumpf Hits 264 Line

Earl Mentzel's 604 Set Paces Couples' League

Earl Mentzel posted a 604 series, including a 245 singleton, in the Cocktail Couples loop at Sabre Lanes.

Bob Stumpf took game honors, with a 264, and finished with a 556 trio. Ed Sheets rolled a 582. Karla Stingle's 192 and 528 paced women's efforts, and Cleo Rohloff walloped a 200 game on her way to a 521.

Audrey Bazile fired a 199 and a 550 combination to lead the Football Couples circuit; Audrey Kies hit a 191 in the Card Couples League; and Jack Burgess socked a 558 to set the pace in the Fish Couples League — all at Sabre Lanes. Melvin Doell socked a 255 and a 579 in the Greenville National Couples loop at Hortonville. John Hietpas hit 557 in the Bird Couples league, at Gene's Alleys, Freedom.

* * *

Jerry Wolff and Arlene Huebner dominated the Swingers Couples at Sabre Lanes. Jerry crashed a 244 singleton en route to a 585, and Arlene hit a 190 and finished with a 543 total.

Fox Lutheran Frosh Cagers Split Final Pair of Contests

The Fox Valley Lutheran High School freshman basketball team split its final two games of the season, to finish with a 3-9 record.

The FVL frosh lost, 72-46, to St. John at Little Chute. Chris Hartjes poured in 22 points for the winners, and Mike Fitzpatrick added 13. Clayton Gardinier was high for Fox Lutheran, with 13.

In its finale, FVL beat Omro, 55-42, with a second-half rally, to avenge one of their losses. Glenn Wenzel set the pace for the Fox Kits, with 23 points, and Dick Warning added 15. T. King's 12 point total was high for Omro.

All-Star Loop Count Includes 275 Singleton

Keith Gehring Jolts 4-Game Set of 880

Keith Gehring socked a 275 game and averaged 220 per line for four games as he took individual honors in the Sabre Lanes All-Star Classic League Monday night.

Gehring had an 880 total for the four games as some heavy kegling went on in the All-Star loop. In the 275 game, Gehring cracked seven strikes in a row, cleaned up a split in the eighth, followed with three more strikes and then had nine on his last ball.

Two other counts over the 800 mark were rolled in the league as Roger Blaese had a 244 line and 867 series while Jack Ahrens pounded 235 and 848.

Ron Voster smacked a 233 game and 659 series to lead the action in the Catholic Men's League at Sabre Lanes last night. Other top scores included Joe Kambic 582, Bob Currie 568 and Harold Becker 563.

Mignon Jolts 262

Bob Mignon socked eight strikes in a row for a 262 game to lead the Heart of the Valley League at the Little Chute Recreation Lanes Monday night. Leo DeCoster took series high with a 621 total.

Al Gresl's 236 game and 629 series set the pace in the Tri-City Men's League at the 41 Bowl Monday night. Ed Schultz was next in line with a 618.

In the Kimberly National League at Jerry's Lanes, Gordy Breier slammed a 225 game and Tom Ashauer had a 610 series. Breier finished with a 579 set.

Each Hit 593

Elmer Vandenberg topped the Builders League at Hahn's Lanes Monday night with a 246 game and 608 series. Another feature of the league was the cleaning up of the 7-10 split by Steve Gyarmati.

Cliff Ulman and John Lesselyoung each fired series totals of 593 to lead the way in the Knights of Columbus National League at the 41 Bowl last night. The Sentry Insurance team fired a 1,056 game in which the entire team had only three blows in the game.

Kurt Kronberg socked a 233 line and Gary Rolloff had a 584 series to share honors in the Appleton Lutheran League at Hahn's Lanes Monday night. Kronberg finished with a 576.

Jerry Remter's 584 series paced the 41 Bowl League last night and top scores in the Knights of Columbus American League, also at the 41 Bowl, included a 236 by Cy Lippert and a 580 series by Ray Weber.

Briefcase Contained Packer Plays

Catch Woman Stealing Items Belonging to Fuzzy Thurston

CHICAGO (AP)—Fred (Fuzzy) Thurston, a 255-pound guard for the Green Bay Packers, and two of his friends nabbed a 110-pound woman Monday who was removing, among other things, a brief case containing all the Packers' offensive plays from their car.

Thurston and his companions had completed lunch when they returned to the car and found the woman taking the items from the auto. With Thurston were Malcolm Kennedy, the Packers' publications consultant, and James Gorman, vice-president of the Apollo Savings and Loan Association.

The woman was identified as Miss Doloris Robinson, 28, who is employed by a South Side cleaning shop.

Miss Robinson said a man had given her $2 to unload "his things" from Kennedy's car into his car.

Miss Robinson told Thurston that the man "was over there in that car" when Thurston asked where the man was. The three men looked around and found no car and no man.

The men called the police and Miss Robinson was booked on a charge of theft from an auto. Missing from the auto was a suitbag containing one of Thurston's suits and other clothing.

Ruth Schmidt Slams 632 National Series

Records 20th Women's Honor Count, Total Includes 238 Line

Ruth Schmidt powered a 632 national honor count in the South Side Ladies League at the 41 Bowl Monday night to highlight area women's bowling.

Ruth's booming set included a 238 game, followed by 203 and a 191 finish. The 632 ties for second-best threesome recorded this season by a woman on Fox Cities area lanes. Virginia Tegen also had a 632 earlier in the campaign and tops for the year is a 648 by Joan Kolosso.

The national set was the 20th recorded this season by women and it was the first one in the South Side circuit. Velda Petersen had the only other honor score as she rolled a 204 line.

Patsy Haltinner had a 199 game and Lois Kuse fired a 524 series to lead the way in the Lucky League at Sabre Lanes Monday night. Lois had a 193 game with the high series and Elaine Krueger posted a 523 set while Barb Derks hit a 192 and Jean Montonati had counts of 194 and 505.

Verona Gloudemans topped the Lucky Strike League at Jerry's Lanes, Kimberly in recent action as she slammed a 199 line and 519 series. Other scores included Shirley Better 510, Charlotte Reynebeau 209 and Marlene Kilsdonk 199.

In the Greenville Women's League at the Hortonville Lanes, Connie Radichel rolled a 191 line and 517 series while Marlene Parker was close behind with a 516. Other top scores included Esther Kettner 219, Ceil Schroeder 203, Joyce Utke 200, Darlene Reimer 198 and Ruth Menning 197.

Judy Schomish fired a 192 game and Jerri Albers had a 502 series to set the pace in the Kimberly Ladies League at Jerry's Lanes.

Dennis Wright Takes Lead in ABC Tourney

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A member of the Pinky's Bowl team of Milwaukee is in first place in regular all events at the American Bowling Congress tournament.

Burly, crew-cut Dennis Wright contributed a 699 series Sunday when Pinky's took the five-man lead with a 3,327 total, which shattered the regular team record. The score was reported originally as 3,326, but auditors discovered a one pin error in the third-game scoring.

Wright came back Monday with 565 in doubles and 669 in sigles to take command of the all-events.

He started the doubles with a 140-game, but recovered with 209 and 216. His 244-193-252 — 669 singles performance earned him third place in the category.

Lineman Signed By Detroit Lions

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions Monday signed a lineman from the University of Southern California, 230-pound Dennis Moore.

Moore was drafted last year as a Redshirt. He has played both offensive and defensive spots in the line. The 6-5 player was picked in the 14th round and was also drafted by Kansas City.

BOAT TALK!

Your boat may be old, much the worse for wear and hard use, but if it is reasonably sound structurally, fiberglassing can prolong its life and the pleasure it can afford. Moreover, you will enjoy fiberglassing it because there is nothing complicated about it; and, once it is done, your boat will stay looking like new much longer with less maintenance. Fiberglassing can impart new strength and new beauty to boats of any size — small outboards, sailing boats, racing boats, even deluxe yachts.

Pitching Big Question

Durocher Says Cubs Will Continue Putting Team Accent on Youth

By JACK STEVENSON

SCOTSTDALE, Ariz. (AP) — "Youngsters were our plan for last year and they're our plan for this year and we're not about to change it. We're not going to jump out of the boat now."

Leo Durocher, at 60 and in the second campaign of his three-year contract managing the Chicago Cubs, added, "We've got several kids just an inch away from greatness and they could come right now."

Under Durocher, the Cubs finished dead last n the National League as he stuck with the youth brigade. Surprisingly, although he won't admit it, the fiery skipper has almost a set club for 1967.

But will the inexperienced pitchers come through?

Ron Santo, the captain and All-Star third baseman, thinks they can and will.

Had 30 Homers

"We have more real good hard throwers than I've ever seen in our camp," says Santo, who pounded 30 home runs and led the team in batting at .312.

"I've just turned 27 and it looks like we might make it to the top before I'm through."

Right-hander Ray Culp, 7-4 at Philadelphia last year, joins the staff in exchange for southpaw Dick Ellsworth. Left-hander Ken Holtzman, just 21, led the club in victories last year (11), when he was only a parttime performer the first two months while attending college.

Ferguson Jenkins, 23, came to the Cubs last April 21. Until August, he worked in relief, then Chicago won six of the nine games he started.

Durocher searches for a fourth starter while declaring, "My hope is that this club will play as well at the start of this season as it did in the second half of 1966."

Had Dismal Start

After a dismal start, the Cubs played close to .500 ball the final two months.

Rich Nye, a 6-foot 4-inch left-hander, could win a spot on the pitching corps even though he has less than a season in pro ball.

Nye was 7-4 in the minors before joining the Cubs. His Chicago record of 0-2 is deceiving since he had a 2.12 earned-run average and the Cubs failed to score in any of the three games he pitched Joe Niekro, Jon Robisch and Dean Burk aren't on the major league roster, but one or more might stick.

Bullpen support comes from Bill Hands. Bob Hendley, Cal Koonce and perhaps the aging Curt Simmons. There may be a starter in that group.

Durocher believes the Culp deal a key move since. "We are pretty good in left-handed pitching and wanted another good right-hander. We must have made a good deal since everyone has been trying to get him from us."

Replace Banks

John Boccabella probably will replace the great Ernie Banks at first base, but don't count the 36-year-old competitor out. Glenn Beckert at second and Don Kessinger at shortstop were a solid double play combination, and Kessinger boosted his batting average nearly 100 points to .274 when he became a switch hitter in midseason

Santo owns third base, Adolfo Phillips should be in center field. Billy Williams in left. Byron Browne in right and George Altman available for utility chores.

Randy Hundley, who hit 19 homers as a rookie last year, could become the best Cub catcher since Gabby Hartnett.

Still, unless youth and enthusiasm work miracles, the Chicago club appears destined for the second division a 21st straight year.

conference crown and soon possibly an NCAA championship from the talent-laden sophomores and juniors who will lead the team the next two seasons.

Finishing fourth in the Big Ten, Wisconsin compiled a conference record of 8-6 and an overall mark of 13-11. It was only the second time in 13 years the Badgers invaded the Big Ten's first division.

The 1962 squad finished second with a 10-4 conference record.

Nagle Sets Mark

The season also saw Coach John Erickson's exciting sophomore, Chuck Nagle, erase the school's all-time single season point total set 62 years ago by Chris Steinmetz.

Nagle sank 463 points — including 188 field goals, also a record — to top the 1905 mark by a single tally.

Other shattered school records included most points in a conference game, 110 against Northwestern; the highest game's shooting average, .564 last Saturday against Illinois; and season scoring, 1,187 points in 14 Big Ten contests.

Fox Cities '5s' Win 2 of 3 in Menasha Test

MENASHA — Fox Cities teams won two of three opening night games in the St. John Athletic Association Class C basketball tournament Monday night.

Appleton Coated Paper toppled St. Gabriel of Neenah, 79-60; Kimberly-Clark, Kimberly Mill ousted WSU-O Math Department, 80-53; and Preble Teachers stopped Miller Electric, Appleton, 64-62.

Games today are St John, Menasha, vs. Allis-Chalmers, Appleton, at 6:30 p.m., Oshkosh YMCA vs. St. John, Little Chute, at 7:30 and Post-Crescent vs. Green Bay Vocational School at 8:30.

Entry Deadline For Green Bay Meet Extended

GREEN BAY — The deadline for entries in the 32nd Annual YMCA Invitational Basketball Tournament has been extended to midnight, Friday, according to John Bartmann, tournament director.

Annually one of the strongest amateur tournaments in the state, the "Y" meet will open March 29 and conclude April 1.

Two teams already have registered for the 1967 competition. They are Marinette Ansul Chemical and the Wauwatosa Merchants 616 Club and Reliance Printers are Green Bay teams expected to compete, along with Lox Club of Combined Locks and a Kimberly quintet headed by Don Hearden, former University of Wisconsin player and the peerless Peerenboom brothers in three with a single and double.

Minnesota jumped on Pedro Ramos for five runs in three innings and belted Philadelphia 7-3 at Clearwater, Fla. It also was the Phillies' fourth straight loss. Rich Rollins hit a bases-empty homer for the Twins.

Atlanta Wins

In a Grapefruit League night game, Orlando Martinez squeezed home pinch runner Ed Pacheco in the bottom of the 10th to give Atlanta 1-0 victory over Baltimore at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Baltimore third baseman Brooks Robinson was hit on the protective helmet by a Phil Niekro fastball in the fourth inning. He wasnot believed to be seriously hurt, but was taken to a hospital for X rays.

In two Cactus League games, California edged Cleveland 6-5 at Tucson, Ariz., and the Chicago Cubs beat San Francisco 4-2 at Phoenix, Ariz.

California broke a 2-2 tie in the sixth inning on Merritt Ranew's double, scored three more in the top of the ninth and then cut short Cleveland's three-run Rally in the bottom of the inning.

The Cubs got what proved to be the winning run in the fourth when Adolfo Phillips walked, stole second, moved to third on a balk and scored on Don Kessinger's groundout.

Willie Mays tripled for San Francisco and now has a .600 exhibition average—6-for-10.

St. Therese '5' Wins Crown

Triumphs Over Sacred Heart in Tourney Finals

KAUKAUNA — St Therese, of Appleton, captured the championship in the Catholic Boys Conference Basketball Tournament Sunday night by whipping Sacred Heart of Appleton, 56-31. The winners tossed in 30 of 37 free throw attempts.

Rich Reitzner paced St. Therese with 24 points, and Bobby Werner hit 10 for Sacred Heart. St Therese enjoyed a 31-13 lead at the half and was never in danger.

Another Appleton school — St. Joseph — took the third place title by edging St. John of Menasha, 34-33. Mike Geenen scored 17 points for St. Joseph. Jerry Zeilinski tallied 10 markers for the losers.

In the consolation finals, Holy Name of Kimberly topped St. Mary, of Menasha, 32-26. Dave Van Boxtel popped in 10 points for the Kimberly quint, while Jeff Pomerening and Tom Young each hit eight points for St. Mary.

American Can Setting Pace in YMCA Olympics

American Can Corporation has taken over the lead in the YMCA Industrial Olympics with a total of 1,175 points.

Close behind is the Appleton Coated Paper Company with a 1,170 point total and Kimberly-Clark is third with 1,135.

In last week's golf chipping event Kimberly-Clark and the Appleton Wire Works tied for first place with 220 points each. Clair Bolwerk, of the Wire Works, was the top individual in the contest as he chipped eight of 10 shots into the barrel.

Lakewood's Dan Flynn receives the Art (Red) Barth trophy from Bernard Tobin, Wabeno superintendent of schools. Flynn placed first in the slalom competition near Lakewood.

Lakewood Skier Wins Slalom Event and 'Red' Barth Trophy

BY KATHERINE ANDREWS
Post-Crescent Correspondent

LAKEWOOD — After several weeks of strenuous practice during a winter of ideal skiing conditions, youthful skiers on the Paul Bunyan Ski Hill (a mile north of Lakewood) took part Sunday in the second annual race for the Art (Red) Barth trophy.

Despite a quagmire of mud in the parking lot and some bare patches showing through the snow, the base on the main slopes remained solid and fit for skiing

The trophy was donated by the Barth family to encourage skiing among young people.

Dan Flynn, of Lakewood, was the victor in the slalom competition and winner of the trophy. He is one of 10 juniors (12-17) who competed. His average time for two runs was 26.05 seconds. John Wurzer, of Lakewood, was second with 26.85 seconds, and also had the fastest single run of 25.2 seconds. Larry Lowery, Lakewood, was third in 27.8 seconds.

Among the "Ponies" (those 12 years and under), Jim Hess was first with 28.6 seconds; Colleen Flynn second with 28.7, and Bob Wurzer third with 29.1 seconds. These winners, all of Lakewood, were awarded cash prizes.

Head coach of the skiers is Harry Brennon of Wabeno. The assistant coach is Dick Lowery, Lakewood. Awards were made by Bernard W. Tobin, Wabeno school superintendent.

Art (Red) Barth, in whose honor the trophy was given, was an authority on skiing and was the first man appointed by the United States to judge skiing competition in the Olympics. His record of accomplishments is in the Skiing Hall of Fame of Ishpeming, Mich. His son Joe Barth, of Menomonee Falls, also a skiing enthusiast, was one of the prime movers in the promotion and development of a ski hill for Lakewood and surrounding area.

The Paul Bunyen Ski Hill receives part of its financial support from the proceeds of the Mardis Gras, an annual summer festival. And many Lakewood families and individuals, as well as residents of neighboring communities and the Fox Cities and Green Bay, have helped with donations of time, materials, and machinery.

Extensive improvements are planned for completion by next season. These include a snow-machine, a tee-bar lift, the development of additional runs and further development of the chalet.

Bobcats Duel Marquette in Road Contests

GREEN BAY — Green Bay's Bobcats, who slipped into second place in the United States Hockey League race over the weekend when Waterloo swept the Marquette Iron Rangers, hit the road this weekend for an exhibition series they hope will sharpen their skills for a season-ending (March 25-26) showdown with the new league leaders.

The Green Bay skaters, scheduled to invade Marquette for a Saturday night-Sunday afternoon set with the Rangers, are aware, however, that their junket well may be in vain. Waterloo needs only to split its companion series with the Rochester Mustangs this weekend to clinch a fourth straight title.

The Black Hawks turned back Marquette, 5-3 and 8-3, in Waterloo over the weekend.

AHS Cagers Overcome Odds

made it in 1965. No Fox Cities team, however, has won the WIAA state title since the 1953 Menasha Bluejays accomplished it.

The Terrors will seek to become the first Fox Cities team to win a state-meet opener since AHS' 1956 Cinderella team did. Three times, since then, Fox Cities cagers have lost heart-breaking openers. The 1959 Kimberly team lost, 82-81, to Milwaukee Lincoln, in the famed game of the last-second traveling call that wiped out a Papermaker basket.

The '65 Terrors lost, 66-65, to state-champion-to - be Monroe, after AHS scoring star Bruce Miller had sat out some four minutes with an injury. The 1966 Neenah quintet lost to Alma in overtime.

Emanuel says the current AHS team is more like the 1956 Terror state tourney team than the Appleton unit of two years ago. The "Cinderella" team, which had three underclassmen among the top seven players (sophomores Jack Ulwelling and Tom Verkuilen and junior Jim Schulze) jelled late in the season and steadily gained momentum.

That 1956 Terror team, which eliminated the state's Nos. 1 and 4 units, enroute to Madison, whipped another "rated" entry, La Crosse Central, 87-80, in the state-meet opener. AHS also beat Kohler before losing to Shawano, 74-66, in the finals.

The current Terror squad has three underclassmen (juniors Tom Hintz and Rick Stach and soph Tom Jones) among the top six. It took time for the newcomers to mature, but the team has now been working together in all phases.

Emanuel points out that the rapid strides made by Hintz and Jones have taken the pressure off Hoffman as a scorer. "They're making it tough on the opponents' defense," says Emanuel. He credits Hoffman and Bob Simon with holding the team together during the first part of the season. Emanuel also lauded the team for its "tremendous desire and unselfishness."

The '65 Terror team was a veteran, "set" unit. The top seven or eight players were seniors. The 1965 unit was bigger and more muscular in the front line, but the current team is perhaps a bit more aggressive on defense, according to the veteran coach.

Whitefish Bay, strongly anticipating its own and AHS' victories in Saturday night's sectional finals, had a scout watching the Terror-Horicon game. Emanuel reports that AHS has also been able to get a "good line" on the Blue Dukes.

The Terror contingent will leave for Madison Wednesday shortly after an 8:30 a.m. AHS pep meeting. The Terrors will get the feel of the Fieldhouse floor from 2 to 3 p.m. Wednesday

After the practice, AHS will check into its quarters in a short-course dormitory. At 7:30 p.m. tomorrow all eight tourney teams will be feted at a banquet — a 1967 WIAA innovation — in the Hoffman House.

This will be the first coaching duel between Emanuel and Whitefish Bay's Jack Nagle. However, Nagle has had one significant previous connection with Appleton basketball. Former Terror star Jerry Hopfensperger was a regular on the Nagle-coached 1954-5 Marquette University team that compiled the best record in Warrior history.

Chargers Get Tom Day

Keith Lincoln Goes To Buffalo in Trade

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Keith Lincoln, who wanted to leave San Diego, and Tom Day, who hoped to stay in Buffalo, found themselves in each other's cities after a major American Football League trade.

The Buffalo Bills announced the swap Monday, less than 24 hours before the AFL and the National League began their first common draft of college seniors in New York.

In addition to Day, a 31-year-old defensive end, the Bills traded their second-round draft choice to the Chargers in exchange for Lincoln, 27, an explosive halfback who was slowed by a pulled hamstring muscle last season.

6 Years as Pro

Lincoln, a standout at Washington State, has spent his six-year pro career with the Chargers and was named to the AFL's All-League team in 1964 and 1965. He is 6-foot-1 and weighs 212.

His relations with Chargers' Coach Sid Gillman occasionally became strained, however, and two years ago Lincoln said he'd rather play in Buffalo than San Diego. Gillman told him of the trade by telephone Monday.

At his home in Pullman, Wash., Lincoln expressed delight at the news, saying:

"I think it is a compliment to be traded to Buffalo due to the fact I'm a running back, and they have two fine running backs — Wray Carlton and Bobby Burnett.

Go With Winner

"There's trouble at San Diego, and I'm leaving a team that's down, to go with a winner . . ."

Day, at 6-foot-2 and 262 pounds, was an integral part of the Bills' tough defense. That stubbornness was a key factor in Buffalo's ability to gain two league championships and three Eastern Division titles in the last three years.

Day joined Buffalo in 1961 after a year with the NFL's St. Louis Cardinals that followed a college career at North Carolina A&T. He makes his home in Buffalo.

Mills Denies Saying Henry Knew About Slush Fund

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Dr. David D. Henry and the University of Illinois Board of Trustees huddle today to decide what action will be taken in a final Big Ten appeal concerning the $21,000 slush fund scandal.

Dr. Henry, president of the university, is expected to get approval from the board in an attempt to "show cause" why three coaches involved in the scandal should not be fired.

Big Ten athletic directors and faculty representatives have ruled the university must show cause why its membership shouldn't be suspended or terminated if the three coaches are not fired

The three are football Coach Pete Elliott, basketball Coach Harry Combes and Combe's assistant, Hoard Braun, Dr. Henry has held the Big Ten's demands are "too harsh."

Illinois has until Friday to serve notice that it seeks an appeal, and a date, mutually convenient for both groups, will be set for a meeting, probably next week.

If the faculty representatives still demand that Illinois fire the coaches or get out of the Big Ten, Dr Henry and the trustees again will meet to make their final decision

Meanwhile, former athletic director Doug Mills, who resigned Dec. 1, a couple of weeks before the scandal broke, denied he had made statements that Dr Henry had knowledge of the slush fund.

Mills said his remarks to a Chicago columnist Sunday were misinterpreted. Mills was quoted as saying Dr. Henry "knew as much about the fund as I did

Dr. Henry branded the statements attributed to Mills "a total untruth."

After denying having made the statements, Mills, who previously had remained silent through the ordeal, said he would appear before the faculty representatives during the final hearing "if the school wants me to do so . . . I'll do anything the university wants me to do."

One of the most fantastic records ever hung up by a baseball player was made by Joe Bauman in the Longhorn League in 1954 . . . Bauman not only set the all-time baseball record for most homers in one year by hitting 72 that season, but he also batted .400 and drove in the incredibly high total of 224 runs . . . But, here's the odd part . . . Surprisingly, Bauman never made the majors! . . . He never got the chance to come to bat even one time in the big leagues.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X B
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Make a Snapshot Display With Cloth and a Broomstick

BY CAPPY DICK

A banner on which to display your snapshots in an unusual way can be made from a five-foot length of colored cloth and a couple of pieces of broomstick. The cloth should be about three feet wide.

The completed banner hangs

on the wall. The snapshots are pinned to it with small safety pins attached to their backs with mending tape. Pictures may be added or taken off wherever you wish. Postcards from vacationing friends may also be displayed.

The ends of the cloth should be sewed around the pieces of broomstick. A cord tied to the top stick provides a means of hanging the banner from a hook. The two sticks will prevent the banner from sagging at the sides under the weight of the pictures attached to it.

BY W. L. GORDON

Words often misused: Distinguish between BAZAAR (a place for the sale of goods) and BIZARRE (odd; extravagant or eccentric in style or mode).

Often mispronounced: Literati (men of letters). Pronounce lit-eh-ray-tie, accent on third syllable.

Often misspelled: Fellow (a companion, also, a graduate student of a university). Felloe (rim, or part of the rim, of a wheel).

Synonyms: Egotism, egoism, self-conceit, self-confidence, self-esteem, vanity, self-praise.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: PARAMOUNT: highest in rank or jurisdiction; chief; pre-eminent, supreme. "I have many duties, but my paramount obligation is to him."

Plans Delayed

Retardation Center Hits State Commission Snag

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A long planned project to establish a model center on mental retardation on the University of Wisconsin campus encountered an unexpected road-block Monday in the state building commission.

At the insistence of Assemblyman Harvey Gee, chairman of the state Assembly's Welfare Committee and a member of the ruling conservative bloc, the commission deferred action on a request by the University to draw plans for a $7,000,000 centralized teaching, research, demonstration and treatment center for the mentally retarded.

Gee insisted that the commission consult other state agencies already involved in mental retardation problems about what he described as a proliferation of such services, and other members of the commission consented.

Agencies Consulted

Wallace Lemon, of the University's business administration staff, said the state department of welfare, the department of public instruction nad other agencies had been consulted in the University's planning and that they would also be involved in the administrative mechanics for the new campus center.

But Gee noted that there is a state Welfare Department diagnostic center for children operating in close association with the University, that a new children's treatment center was recently established near Madison, that the new Central Colony for mentally retarded patients was budgeted for an emphasis upon research, and there are other related projects now in operation.

Integrate Services

As described by the University, the center would serve to integrate many teaching and scientific services now on and off the campus. Entire classes of the University of Wisconsin Medical school could have clinical training at the center, it was said. The commission was told that the center would handle about 500 child evaluations yearly, serve families throughout the state, and accommodate at least 5,000 out-patient treatment visits yearly for children with rare or unusual physical or mental problems.

Avout one third of the money asked would be financed by the state, the balance through two big federal grants, under the budget description presented to the commission.

The university regents accepted a $2.2 million grant toward the center last Friday from the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development and another $2.6 million grant is epected from the U. S. Public Health Service.

Action Sought

However, the legislature has yet to act on the 1967-69 budget which includes $2.1 million in state funds for the center as part of a construction program approved by the commission last December.

The request for the $80,000 to start planning the center was sent eventually to a subcommittee of the commission, which will take up the question again at its April 10 meeting.

County Board Studies Resolution to Provide Parking at Courthouse

A resolution authorizing blacktopping of county property directly west of the courthouse to provide parking space was to have been discussed at a special order of business by the Outagamie County Board at 1:30 p.m. today. The area now is lawn.

The resolution which would authorize such a move was presented to the board this morning in a majority report from the board's public property and insurance committee.

The resolution was signed by Supervisors Andrew Jimos, Arthur Hoolihan, and Waldermar Klein, all of Appleton.

On an amendment by Appleton Supv. Eugene Kloes, the bill was laid on the table for consideration during a special order of business later in the day.

Adopt Federal Job Retraining In Outagamie

Join Existing District; Hope To Cut Welfare

Outagamie County voted today to begin participation in a federal job retraining program under the Federal Economic Opportunity Act (EOA).

County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, explained that an EOA district which exists in the central Wisconsin area has sufficient funds available to include Outagamie County. He said the county has been asked to join.

In its report recommending adoption of the resolution, the board of public welfare pointed out that the program would entail no cost for the county.

County Welfare Director Alfred R. Eggert told the board that for the past 10 years Outagamie County taxpayers have been financing a similar program but on a more restricted basis.

None on Welfare

"In the past 10 years," Eggert said, "of all the people which Outagamie County has retrained, there isn't a one of them on public welfare."

Eggert explained that the program will be administered by a five-man staff who will come into Outagamie County to set up the program. The staff includes a psychologist.

In addition to paying for the actual costs of retraining, the program also will pay expenses, transportation, baby-sitting and other necessary fees to the participants.

The resolution passed unanimously.

Burglar Breaks Into Drive-In at Freedom

An undetermined amount of cigarettes and candy bars was taken during a burglary Monday at Shamrock Drive-In at Freedom.

The burglary was reported to the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department about 7 p.m. Monday.

Sheriff's investigators said the building had been closed for the day. Entry was gained by breaking a window.

Four Injured In 3 Mishaps

Greenleaf Man's Car Forced Off Road Near Kaukauna

Three accidents, including a hit and run mishap near Kaukauna, resulted in injuries to four persons Monday.

Dennis W. Delaurelle, 25, route 2, Greenleaf, suffered a bloody nose and leg injuries when the car he was driving reportedly was forced off County Trunk OO, near U. S. 41, by a car that didn't stop. The car went off the road and into a ditch, striking a guard rail and stop sign.

Damage $1,000

According to a state patrolman, the accident occurred about 6:40 p.m. Delaurelle told police he was northbound on OO when his auto was overtaken and cut off by the other vehicle. Police estimated damage at more than $1,000. The car was owned by a Green Bay auto agency.

Frederick R. Fuhrman, 18, route 1, Seymour, suffered a scalp laceration when his car hit an icy spot on County Trunk EE, just north of County Trunk J, and rolled over about 2 a.m. Monday. Fuhrman told county police he was northbound at the time. He was not hospitalized.

Two Hurt

Two youths were hurt, and a third escaped injury, when the car in which they were riding went out of control, tipped over and hit a tree about 4 p.m. Monday on Broadway Drive, just west of North Road, in the Town of Ellington.

James Rudloff, 17, Greenville, driver of the 1949 auto, suffered a side injury, while a passenger, Ralph Sperl, 18, route 2, Appleton, was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by Larry's Ambulance with head and face lacerations. He was reported in fair condition Monday night.

David W. Peters, 17, route 1, Appleton, a second passenger, escaped injury.

Rudioff told county police he lost control of the car when he struck water in the road.

U.S. Disarmament Official in Rome

ROME (AP) — U. S. disarmament negotiator William C. Foster arrived in Rome Monday for talks with the Italian government and said he still could not predict when a treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons would be signed.

Foster came for one day to try to convince the Italians that the treaty will not hinder Italian development of atomic energy for peaceful use.

Italy is now the leading nuclear power producer in the Common Market and plans to double its capacity within five years. Italy and West Germany are two of the most vocal opponents of the treaty, while France ignores it.

Can Favorable Investment Opportunities Be Found Today in Communications, Steels, and Rails?

Our March MARSHALL LETTER Describes a Situation of Interest in Each of These Fields.

In COMMUNICATIONS . . . an area in which we anticipate above average growth, we discuss LYNCH COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEMS, INC. This profitable modest sized producer of electronic communications systems is benefiting from the fast growth occurring in the whole communications field. We explain why we feel that its common stock is attractive for intermediate to longer term growth.

Recent pressures on prices of stocks in the STEEL INDUSTRY due to slowdowns in demand can provide opportunities to invest in a situation like REPUBLIC STEEL to obtain a favorable yield and good possibilities for intermediate to longer term growth of capital as well as income. You'll be interested in why we believe this to be so.

While few RAILROADS are likely to achieve even modestly higher earnings in 1967, we tell why we think that the ST. LOUIS-SAN FRANCISCO RAILWAY's common stock could prove attractive to a broad range of investors both for income and growth.

Carley Charges LBJ Ignored 1966 Races

Wisconsin Democratic Committeeman Says President Doesn't Back National Group

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Behind the facade of joyous harmony at last week's rare meting of the Democratic National Committee were valid complaints about the past and realistic concerns about the future from state party leaders.

National Chairman John Bailey and the White House did everything possible to appease the national committeemen, angry over long neglect from Washington. They were entranced by political pep talks from both Vice President Humphrey and President Johnson himself (who made a hand-shaking table tour at a dinner meeting). The bright new national committee staff was put on display to prove that the deadly economy wave of 1965-66 was over. Without question, the committeemen left Washington in a better frame of mind.

Still, their genuine sentiments had only one chance to emerge at the two-day meeting: When the national committee divided into small workshop groups on Thursday morning (March 9). What happened then best describes the depth of worry that no amount of Johnson - Humphrey pep talks can erase.

Weltner Heads Group

Consider one workshop presided over by ex-Georgia Congressman Charles Seltner, who, as head of the national committee's youth division, is the most glittering new staffer. The session got a disastrous start when John Meek, a national committee staffer, asserted that past records showed the national committee never had done so much for candidates in an off-year as in 1966

That was just too much for Committeeman Eugene Wyman of California, who has provided important national leadership in urging rebuilding of the national committee staff. In all conscience, said Wyman, he had to say that the national committee materially helped Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown's successful campaign for re-election in 1962 but ignored his losing campaign in 1966

Novak

For the future, Wyman went on, the national committee should establish a master strategic plan and get on with it now. Specifically, he suggested Weltner go soon to California to confront disaffected college students. More important, he added, was a trip west by President Johnson.

Dave Carley Speaks Out

Next on the firing line was outspoken, tough David Carley of Wisconsin, who, like Wyman, is an ally of the vice president Carley grimly told the group that President Johnson, who carried Wisconsin by 409,000 in 1964, would lose it by 409,000 votes if the election were held today.

The big question was this, as posed by Dave Carley: Does Lyndon Johnson really want an active national committee? Carley really was asking whether the President has managed to bring to an end his ancient feud with the national committee, which he long regarded as an instrument of his Eastern liberal enemies inside the party.

Now more and more committee members rose to give testimony. Mary Helen Byck of Kentucky recalled that Lawrence F. O'Brien, now postmaster general and then a White House aide, came to Kentucky in 1960 and 1962 to help out, in sharp contrast to 1966 non-activity. Mary Wallner of South Dakota added that her state party had learned to expect nothing from national headquarters.

No Time for Democrats

Most biting of all was the highly attractive Fay Broderick of Maine. Commenting on Wyman's plea for the President to come to California, Mrs. Broderick was critical of his 1966 "non-political" trip to Maine. He spent the day "toting around" Republican Sen Margaret Chase Smith, she complained, and scarcely had a moment for Democrats.

Nor did the unusual attention given them by the President and vice president or the obvious spurt of activity at national headquarters wipe away the concern expressed in the workshops. There was for some a particularly ominous tone in one phase of Humphrey's otherwise reassuring pep talk to a private luncheon.

"If the war ends this year," said the vice president speaking off the cuff, "the President won't need you or me or the Democratic committee next year. If it doesn't end, President Johnson will need every one of us."

And despite the bright new polish now applied to rusted national committee machinery, Mr Johnson still would be relying on an organization addicted to procrastination For instance, Bailey once deferred for another month the problem, already two years old, of how to insure Negro representation from the South at the next national convention. Perhaps significantly, the one concrete act that the committee could have taken last week was once more postponed.

Cost of Colds Annually More Than $5 Billion

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail

The common cold is uncommonly expensive. Its annual cost in the United States exceeds $5 billion and if you don't get two or three colds a year you're luckier than your neighbor.

Waging wars seems to be habit forming in the human race. It is estimated that since the dawn of recorded history the world has been at peace only 8 per cent of the time.

One reason the Arabian camel can go so long without water is that when he does take a drink he takes a mighty big one. He can gulp down 15 gallons at a time

The outlook for coronary patients is improving. Statistics show that 70 per cent of heart attack victims survive at least five years and better than 50 per cent survive 10 years or longer if they take proper care of themselves

Motherhood is also safer. Only one in a thousand live births results in a maternal death

In the interior of Colombia members of jungle Indian tribes keep tamable but poisonous snakes to protect their small children. The snakes keep away other animals and do not, as a rule, bite their wards.

Quotable notables: "There is no insanity so devastating in man's life as utter sanity." — William Allen White.

If you're looking for something to celebrate, this year marks the 60th anniversary of the first gasoline-powered, meter-equipped taxicab in America. It was a French-made vehicle called a darracq.

Women are more religious than men. A poll by Catholic Digest magazine showed that 77 per cent of women, but only 63 per cent of the men interviewed, said that faith in a divine being was important in their lives.

No wonder dogs sometimes turn up their noses at people. They can smell 40 times as well.

Forgotten heroes of bureaucracy: In 1863 L. E Chittenden, register of the U S Treasury, personally signed 12,500 government bonds in a 48-hour period.

Contrary to the opinion of some authors, books don't have to be sexy to make the best-seller lest. Perhaps the largest advance sale in the history of U S. publishing—2,154,000 copies — was for a new Methodist hymn book.

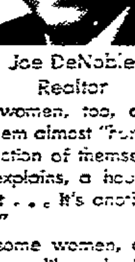
Realty Views

The American poetess, Anne Sexton, begins one of her poems with a line which we've thought about often. She said: "Some women marry houses." And in a sense, perhaps Anne is right.

Women — at least some women — are, no doubt, quite sentimental about their homes. Their reaction to a house, like to a husband, is tinged with romance.



Joe DeNoble
Realtor

For women, too, a house may seem almost "human" — a projection of themselves. As Anne explains, a house "has a heart . . . it's another kind of skin."

For some women, a house may seem, like a husband, a symbol of security. It conveys the idea of being settled.

And, undoubtedly, some women, as with a husband, marry a house to reform it. They enjoy developing its full potential, and bringing out its personality. It's a challenge, a duty, a hope!

Anne Sexton expresses this thought in the concluding line of her little poem. She says of houses: "A woman is its mother. That's the main thing."

Ladies, if you'd like to marry a house—for whatever reason—let us perform the ceremony! We'd be pleased to show you some of our area's most eligible bachelors!

Powell Insists He Will Appear In New York

Claims Harlem Will Not Let Him Remain in Jail

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell, who announced plans to return to New York next Sunday, says if he is arrested the "people in Harlem" will not let him remain in jail.

He told a news conference Monday he would "walk the streets of Harlem" and deliver a Palm Sunday sermon at his Absyssinian Baptist Church despite the threat of arrest on a contempt-of-court warrant. The warrant makes him liable to arrest any time he re-enters the state of New York.

A lawyer in the New York sheriff's office said, "We do not know now whether we would arrest Mr. Powell if he came into town Sunday, because arrests in civil cases are not usually made on Sundays."

Hails Withdrawal

Powell joined with Negro leaders in Harlem and across the country in hailing James H. Meredith's withdrawal as the Republican leaders' choice to oppose Powell in a special congressional election April 11.

"I didn't think a civil rights leader would allow himself to become a white man's puppet," Powell replied when asked why he thought Meredith had dropped out of the race.

Meredith told a news conference in New York that he pulled out because the Republicans had not delivered on promises of money to help finance his campaign.

Stay in Politics

Meredith would not say whether he would support Powell. He said only that the election was "bigger than Adam Clayton Powell."

America has a secret ballot, he said, and "I'll decide when I'm ready."

Meredith said he planned to stay in Republican politics, but

Court Backs Order

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York State Appellate Court by a four to one vote, today refused to vacate a lower court order permitting the arrest of former Rep. Adam Clayton Powell if he comes here on Sunday, as he has promised.

Supposed White House Meeting

Heated Clash Reported on RFK, LBJ Vietnam Stands

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson castigated Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., last month for his stance on Vietnam and told the senator his political career would end rapidly if he maintained the stance, Time magazine reports. Time says Kennedy called the President an s.o.b.

"He (Kennedy) did not call the President an s.o.b.," said two aides to Kennedy—Frank Mankewicz in Washington and Adam Walinksy, who were in Oklahoma City with the senator on a speaking engagement.

Kennedy could not be reached directly.

In Washington, White House press secretary George Christian said the version of the Johnson-Kennedy confrontation that has appeared in print in several more or less similar forms "doesn't accord with the memories of three people who were in that meeting."

'Not True'

Christian was not present. One participant, however, was Walt W. Rostow, Johnson's special assistant for national security affairs.

"There's not a word of truth in those quotations," Rostow said.

In its current issue, Time reports that Kennedy is said also to have told the President at one point: "I don't have to sit here and take that ————."

Both Kennedy aides denied that this was a correct version.

"There are substantial inaccuracies," said Mankewicz. "It (the Time account) is way off. There was a meeting Feb. 6 at the White House, it lasted 45 minutes but that's about it."

Time bases its account on the Feb. 6 meeting and said it lasted 45 minutes.

'Discussed It'

Asked if President Johnson castigated Kennedy at the meeting as reported by Time, Mankewicz replied: "I wasn't there, but I think not. The whole tone of the article is all wrong."

"The senator," continued Mankewicz, "got back from Europe and they talked about what happened. The senator told the President what he heard about Vietnam and the President gave him his views. They discussed it, and that's about it."

"The senator never used the language described in there (the

Probe Enters Courtroom in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A heavy guard was ordered today for the legal showdown in Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's controversial Kennedy assassination probe.

Twenty sheriff's deputies were assigned to watch over the small Criminal District courtroom while state and defense lawyers argue whether retired executive Clay L. Shaw should go to trial.

Garrison accused Shaw, 54, former managing director of the International Trade Mart here, of conspiring with Lee Harvey Oswald and others to kill President John F. Kennedy.

Whether there is enough evidence to warrant formal charge and trial for Shaw was the only matter before the preliminary hearing. Shaw called Garrison's accusations "fantastic."

Under Louisiana law, Shaw was booked — but not formally charged — with conspiracy to murder the president. He was freed on $10,000 bond.

Conference on Guam Expected to Produce Only Minor Results

Speculation Shut Off by White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has placed a damper on speculation that President Johnson's trip Saturday to Guam will result in any spectacular developments concerning the Vietnam war.

Presidential aides said Monday the Guam meeting is just one of a series being held semiannually to review military and civil development aspects of the Vietnam effort.

White House press secretary George Christian said, meanwhile, that Johnson "would not allow politics to interfere with any decision affecting the Vietnam situation."

He was responding to questions about the decision of the California Democratic Council — a 30,000 - member political group — to support a "peace candidate" in the 1968 California Democratic presidential primary unless the war is ended by September.

The council in the past has supported an end to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Thailand Bases

The Pentagon refused comment Monday on reports that U.S. B52 bombers will be based in Thailand under a newly reached agreement with Vietnam's Southeast Asian neighbor.

But sources said the big bombers will begin Vietnam raids on April 1. At present, the Stratoforts must fly 2,500 miles from their base in Guam to reach Vietnam. The switch would reduce flying time from

Tax Credit Enters House Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration asked a House committee today to restore some tax breaks for business — but now is expected to wait another two months before submitting its formal request for an income tax increase.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler carried the business tax message to the House Ways and Means Committee.

The administration wants immediate restoration of the investment tax credit, by which cent of their spending on equipment, and of favorable depreciation rules for profit-making buildings.

Red Smuggling Ship Destroyed

U.S. Navy Craft in Running Duel Off S. Vietnam Coast

SAIGON (AP) — American warships fought a running duel off the South Vietnamese coast today with a large arms-smuggling Communist trawler which ran onto the shore and blew itself up when flight became hopeless.

The 100-foot, steel-hulled trawler shot up a 50-foot U.S. Navy patrol boat during the sea battle. The Red crew set off detonating charges after they beached the trawler, but much contraband, including small arms and uniforms, was recovered. Salvage crews were searching for more.

The fight took place about 100 miles south of the 17th Parallel which divides North and South Vietnam. Two such trawlers were intercepted last year by

Spy Ship Causes Very Tiny Ripple

BY MALCOLM G. BARR

WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Johnson visits Guam next week, his arrival will be routinely reported by a Soviet spy ship which keeps the tiny island under constant surveillance.

Knowledge of the President's arrival for a Vietnam war conference won't be much of a coup for the Communists — his trip has been announced and security on Guam should be easier to maintain than anywhere else he has been in the Pacific.

It's novel, though, that a top level war conference involving the President and his top advisers will take place just a few miles from where a group of known Soviet spies operates with the latest electronic equipment.

U.S. naval authorities also try not to let the spy ship bother them.

In fact, the Navy — and the civilian population — treat the vessel as something of a tourist attraction. The Navy takes VIP visitors out in a launch to see the boat, and they normally get a friendly wave from any Soviet who happens on deck.

The Soviet crewmen, of course are not permitted ashore. When Soviet vodka or cigarettes begin popping up around sleepy Agana, the capital of Guam, investigations are made.

Civilians have been known to get close enough to exchange American cigarettes for vodka and other commodities, though naval intelligence officially frowns on such activity.

Rear Adm. Horace Bird, who commands the Navy in the Marianas, once told a reporter, however, that he didn't mind too much.

"It gives the intelligence people something to do!" he chuckled.

Court Bans Making of Thalidomide

AACHEN, Germany (AP) — Criminal charges were announced today against the makers of thalidomide, the tranquilizing drug blamed for the birth of thousands of deformed children in many countries.

More than five years after the worldwide scandal over the effect of the drug on pregnant women, nine officers and scientists of the Chemie Gruenenthal pharmaceutical firm were accused formally of inflicting bodily injury and negligent manslaughter.

Local prosecutors said evidence collected since 1961 proved a definite link between the once popular drug and the wave of deformed babies.

In about 20 countries, from Austria to the Philippines, an estimated 6,500 children were born with missing or maimed limbs or with other serious defects to women who reportedly took thalidomide during pregnancy. Several thousand more were believed to have been stillborn.

Talks With Reds Sought by Brooke

By BOB GASSAWAY

SAIGON (AP) — Sen. Edward W. Brooke, who has suggested a re-examination of U.S. policy of bombing North Vietnam, flew to Cambodia today and said he may talk with Viet Cong and North Vietnamese representatives there.

The Massachusetts Republican told newsmen as he left for Phnom Penh that if he meets the Communist representatives, it will be primarily to "study attitudes."

He also hopes to meet with the Cambodian chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, he said, adding: "There is a possibility that if there are representatives of the (NLF) (the National Liberation Front) and of the North there, I might talk with them." The NLF is the political arm of the Viet Cong.

Brooke, on a 17-day Asian fact-finding tour, again expressed a wish to visit North Vietnam but said the U.S. State Department has been "very discouraging and understandably so" about such a trip.

He said he had not asked Hanoi for an invitation and had received none. He said he would not go even if invited, however, if the trip would embarrass the U.S. government.

"I have heard nothing on this trip that would help get an invitation," he said. If he were to visit the North Vietnamese capital, he emphasized, it would be only to "evaluate how Hanoi is weathering this war."

The first Negro to be elected to the U.S. Senate in this century, Brooke said last month he hoped to visit both North and South Vietnam and to interview North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh.

Brooke said today that he is not representing the executive branch of the U.S. government on his tour and is carrying no peace feelers.

Ending a five-day stay in South Vietnam, the senator said: "I still have more facts to gather before I make a conclusion" about U.S. efforts in Vietnam.

From Cambodia he is to go to Laos and Thailand before returning to Washington March 22.

Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department announced Monday that Marine Pfc. Philip J. Kimpel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kimpel, of Fond du Lac, Wis., died of other than hostile causes in Vietnam during the past week.

$150,000 From Testimonials

Dodd Lined His Own Pockets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate ethics committee probe of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd turns today to exploring the motives behind fund-raising activities the Connecticut Democrat says put at least $150,000 into his personal bank accounts.

The hearings got off to a fast start Monday with the bipartisan committee and Dodd stipulating in a 162-page document to a mass of facts concerning fund-raising activities in his behalf between 1961 and 1965.

Dodd

In addition to campaign contributions for Dodd's 1964 reelection race, there were a series of testimonial events. Dodd contends the proceeds from these were tax-free gifts he could legitimately use as he saw fit.

Own Accounts

Figures in the stipulation indicated that $456,709 was raised altogether and that Dodd deposited at least $150,000 of it in his own bank accounts.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., told reporters that "due to the sweeping nature of the stipulation," the hearings were moving rather rapidly and might be completed before Congress starts an Easter recess late next week.

With so many facts agreed to, Stennis said testimony will deal largely with explanations and the motives that prompted the testimonial dinners and other fund-raising events.

President Johnson, when he was vice president, was the principal speaker at testimonial affairs in 1961 and 1963. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was the featured speaker at a fund-raising dinner in 1965.

Among the witnesses on tap today was Ivan Sinclair, an aide to then-Vice President Johnson in 1961. Sinclair, the committee was told Monday, inquired about the purpose of the Nov. 20, 1961, testimonial at which Johnson spoke.

'To Raise Money'

James P. Boyd Jr., Dodd's former administrative assistant, said when the senator learned about the inquiry he said "to tell the vice president the purpose was to raise money."

When Dodd was asked whether he would benefit personally, Boyd said, the senator gave these instructions: "Tell them I may be presented with a gold watch."

Dodd says he fired Boyd for misconduct and that his onetime aide, seeking revenge, turned over to columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson documents stolen from his Senate office.

Dodd has filed a $2 million libel suit against Pearson and Anderson, whose columns led to the Senate panel's probe.

The stipulation entered in evidence showed that from the $100-a-plate dinner in Hartford in 1961, $55,915 was deposited in a bank account here in the name of Dodd and his wife, Grace.

'No Information'

At a news conference last April 22, Johnson was asked about his participation in the 1961 and 1963 fund-raising events for Dodd.

He gave this reply: "I have no information about any dinner held for anyone to obtain funds for personal use. None I have ever attended that I knew were being held for that purpose."

Boyd, who has admitted removing thousands of documents from Dodd's files and turning

Committee Holds Up Consideration of 4-Year Campus Plan

University Affairs Group Awaits Legality Ruling From LaFollette

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Consideration of an expanded development plan for the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay was postponed Monday by a State Building Commission's University affairs subcommittee, pending an attorney general's opinion on the legality of state planning and spending for a full four-year university.

The group, headed by state Sen. Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, delayed consideration of all increased budget proposals for the new school and a sister campus in Kenosha County, while awaiting receipt of the legal opinion, expected at the end of this week.

The opinion was sought by Commissioner of Administration George C. Kaiser, who asked Atty. Gen. Bronson LaFollette whether the state could, under the 1965 law creating the schools, spend funds to plan and create four-year universities, and whether more than a statutory $400,000 limit could be expended for campus planning.

At the subcommittee meeting, Leonard also received a staff analysis from the state Bureau of Engineering which "proved we were right all along" in recommending a cutback in the original campus building fund recommendations from $28.5 million to $12.8 million, according to Leonard.

Budget Proposals

Conflicting are budget proposals submitted by the UW and the Coordinating Commission for Higher Education (CCHE) several months ago totaling the $28.5 million, and a new CCHE proposal made last week which could reach $35 million in cost.

No action to change the commission action, recommending total spending during the coming biennium of $12.8 million based on the former plan, was taken at the meeting or at a subsequent session of the full commission, despite submission of the latter plan.

Full consideration of its effects was delayed partially because of the absence of a CCHE representative at the meeting to explain its contents. The lack developed as the understaffed agency was in the course of an operational budget hearing before the legislative Joint Committee on Finance at the same time the subcommittee was meeting.

The Bureau of Engineering figures indicate that a laboratory-classroom building and surge space sufficient to house the originally expected student enrollments of about 1,300 could be built on the two campuses for a sum within the $12.8 million allocated.

The total budget for the construction of the facilities, and associated site and utility work, would come to $12.5 million, according to bureau estimates.

Total Cost

Development of a library-learning center on each campus and additional site and utility work so entailed during the coming biennium would bring

Only 3 React In Schools to TB Testing

Outagamie Nurse Reports Check Of 2,218 Children

Results of recently - completed tuberculin skin testing by the Outagamie County nurses office show only three positive reactors out of 2,218 children tested.

Children in rural schools are given the tests in the program conducted by county nurses with the cooperation of the Outagamie County Tuberculosis Society on the first, fourth and ninth grade levels. Of 2,630 eligible students in the three grades 2,218 took the test.

No new reactors were found among 510 students in the ninth group; two were found among 815 children in the fourth grade group; and one was found among the 893 children tested in the first grade group.

If a student has a positive reaction to the test, the county nurses office refers him to his family physician for a followup examination which usually consists of x-rays and a more extensive skin test.

A positive reaction doesn't mean the child has tuberculosis, only that he has the disease microbes in his body. Most persons who have positive reaction to the skin tests never are stricken with active tuberculosis.

The tests included all county school children, except for the cities of Appleton, Kaukauna and New London, plus the Seymour area schools, Black Creek, Nichols and Oneida.

Appleton Knights Aid Patients at Tomah Hospital

Eight Knights of Columbus (K of C) from Father Fitzmaurice Council 607, Appleton, flew in two planes to Tomah Sunday, where they assisted in pushing Catholic wheelchair patients to mass in the chapel of the Veteran's Administration Hospital.

The men were Fred Bieseker, grand knight, John Dietz, chancellor; Richard Fitzpatrick, trustee; Fred A. Ruppel, financial secretary; John Losselong, director, Columbus Club, Inc.; A. G. Novotny, building chairman, and Orville Prokash, Catholic activity committee.

The visitors were met at the airport and assisted at the hospital by Brother Tony Felber, a past grand knight at the hospital.

Youth Passes Out From Liquor Drunk in Appleton Apartment

A 15-year-old Appleton boy whom a patrolman found passed out on the sidewalk in the 500 block of W. College Avenue Friday night, told authorities he and two other youths were drinking liquor at the apartment of a brother of one of the youths.

The young Appleton boy at first told police he had been served a beer and 10 mixed drinks in a downtown tavern.

The youth and his parents were interviewed by juvenile authorities Saturday.

Welfare Director to Discuss Alcoholism

M. P. Ehricke, director, Appleton Welfare Department, will discuss "Alcoholism — Our Mutual Concern," at 6:30 p.m. Thursday before the Appleton Personnel Association at Alex's Supper Club.

Ehricke will discuss with personnel administrators in the Appleton area the problems affecting business and industry regarding employe alcoholism. Arrangements for the meeting were handled by Carlyle Christensen and Jerome Rusch.

Petition Asks for Meeting on Merger

Weyauwega District Residents Seek Special Board Session

WEYAUWEGA — Fifty school district residents have petitioned the board of education for a special meeting to discuss the proposed merger with the Waupaca school district.

A similar petition has been circulated in the Fremont area and also will be presented to the board of education secretary.

Members of joint Cooperative Educational Service Agencies (CESA) 7 and 8 are scheduled to meet tonight at Weyauwega in a continuation of a recessed session to discuss issuing an order to dissolve the Weyauwega and Waupaca districts and form a single district. The first portion of the meeting was a public hearing held at Waupaca last Tuesday.

After hearing from residents of both districts, the CESA committees, which met with boards of education from both districts, delayed a final decision on whether or not the order should be issued.

Act on Petition

What effect the petition from Weyauwega district residents asking for a special meeting will have on the outcome of tonight's meeting is not known. A spokesman for the petitioners said according to state statutes the board must take action on the petition within seven days.

Albert Hahn, president of the Weyauwega board of education, said late Monday, that he was not aware of the petition, but added that if it is received, it will be taken to the board, tonight, and the entire board will act on the request for the special meeting.

Center Reschedules Shakespeare Comedy To April 13-16

The U.W. Fox Valley Center production of "Merry Wives of Windsor", set for March 16-19, has been re-scheduled for April 13-16

Ken Anderson, production director, rescheduled the performance due to the death of Ralph Miedke, father of Warren Miedke, who has the lead role of Falstaff.

National Cities Meeting

League President Urges Fight Against Urban Ills

Special to The Post-Crescent

WASHINGTON — The head of the National League of Cities (NCL) — representing 14,300 communities — urged the federal government oMnday to rally the resources of America for a massive attack on urban ills.

Mayor Harold M. Tollefson, Tacoma, Wash., in his presidential address prepared for delivery at the opening session of the NLC's third annual national legislative conference here, said:

"Our national program now should be to initiate, by presidential proclamation, and by subsequent congressional endorsement, a comprehensive analysis of our total urban needs during the balance of this century, identified in 10-year intervals.

Should Analyze

"Such analysis," Tollefson continued, "should specify the logical program and cost components of a comprehensive national plan to bring our urban communities, and the opportunities for their citizens, in line with the aspirations of the people of America.

Based on this knowledge, the President should submit to congress, not projects or programs but a plan for a national commitment to satisfy the identified needs within a specified period of time. That plan should be accompanied by an earmarking of specific and sufficient resources to see the task through to completion."

Tollefson likens such a national commitment for the rebirth of the American city to that made by the United States in 1961 to put a man on the moon by 1970.

Recalling the National League of Cities' convention resolution last December which called for a national commitment to cure the most pressing urban ills by 1976, Tollefson added:

Lacks Continuity

"The random process of assigning national resources to critical urban needs lacks the assurance of fiscal continuity or totality essential to permit cities to plan, to recruit personnel, inspire confidence in a total effort . . .

"Piecemeal, superficial, sporadic attacks on our plight will do little more than provide a thin coat of whitewash. Our attack must be comprehensive, long-term and total. It must be an all-out commitment to the rebirth of the entire urban complex."

About 1,000 mayors are attending the two-day legislative conference here. City Manager Henry Buslee is representing Fond du Lac.

Appleton, Green Bay, Sheboygan and Fond du Lac are among cities in Wisconsin belonging to the National League of Cities.

All-Points Bulletin Issued on Youth Who Left Hospital

An all-points bulletin has been put out to Wisconsin law enforcement agencies, alerting them to be on the lookout for the 16-year-old Appleton youth who left Appleton Memorial Hospital Friday afternoon.

The youth, who has a cast on his left hand and arm, was being treated for severe hand cuts incurred when he allegedly put his fist through an apartment window on College Avenue early the morning of March 5.

Appleton police expressed concern because the youth, who is on parole to the State Department of Public Welfare, could aggravate his injury if he does not receive further medical care. The youth is scheduled for further surgery.

Waupaca GOP Re-elects Its Chairman

R. E. Peterson Selected at Weyauwega Caucus

WEYAUWEGA — R. E. Johnson, Waupaca, was re-elected chairman of the Waupaca County Republican party at a caucus held here Sunday.

Three other county GOP officers also were renamed to their posts and Carl Dretzke, Manawa, was named second vice chairman, a post which had been vacant. Officers re-elected, in addition to Johnson, were Mrs. Lloyd Maasch, Weyauwega, vice chairman; Mrs. Harvey Rosenau, Manawa, secretary, and Gordon Culver, New London, treasurer.

Two changes were made on the 22-member executive committee. William Kinsman, Manawa, and Mrs. Robert Backer, Weyauwega, were named to the committee. Mrs. Backer, president of the county Republic Women, replaces Mrs. John Bonnell, Waupaca. However Mrs. Bonnell will remain a seat on the executive committee.

In addition to re-electing officers and making appointments to the executive committee, 44 delegates were named to the state GOP convention May 20 at Eau Claire.

3 Hurt in 2-Car Crash

Kiel, New Holstein Residents Taken to Appleton Hospital

Three persons were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital following a two-car accident about 7 p.m. Sunday at Seymour and Oneida Streets.

Taken to the hospital in Lindy's Ambulance were Irma Radloff, Plymouth; Esther Eckarat, Kiel; and Mrs. Otto Tagge, New Holstein, all of whom suffered neck and back injuries. Harvey L. Kainz, 39, 617 N. Appleton St., driver of one car, suffered lip cuts and was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by squad car.

The three injured women were in a car driven by Howard E. Stoll, 47, Plymouth.

Man Hurt in Crash Near Manawa

MANAWA — A Manawa man was cut on his mouth when the car he was driving was involved in a two-car crash, 1½ miles north of here at 7:45 a.m. Monday.

The crash near the intersection of County Trunk N and Spring Creek Road, involved cars driven by Edwin W. Flater, 25, route 2, and Fred E. Milbrett, 79, 620 Union St., both of Manawa.

Milbren was taken to the Iola Hospital by Manawa Police where he was released after being examined and treated for mouth cuts.

According to Waupaca County Police, Milbrett was traveling west on County Trunk N and Flater east when the cars collided on a curve. Damage to the two cars was estimated at more than $1,000.

Mrs. Barbara Meuleman, Kiel High School forensics coach, accepted the Central Wisconsin Conference forensics trophy from John Sandberg, Chilton High School principal, following the league meet at Chilton Saturday. New Holstein won second place and Chilton placed third. (Connors Photo)

Byrnes Asks HUD To Act on Water

Supports Appleton Information On Abatement of Pollution

Rep. John Byrnes, R-Green Bay, Monday urged federal officials at Chicago to take "prompt and favorable action" on Appleton's $1.5 million water grant application.

He made his request to Edward Bruder, acting director, the regional office of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Byrnes said that Appleton officials last week filed additional information which Bruder had requested at a joint meeting of city and state officials at Chicago three weeks ago.

The city's application for the water grant, which would help finance a $4.5 million Lake Winnebago pipeline and filtration plant expansion, was filed with the regional HUD office last year.

Efforts Being Made

Byrnes told Bruder, after studying copies of the information sent him by Appleton officials, that every effort was being made to abate Lake Winnebago pollution on local, regional and state levels.

Byrnes also cited that money to be spent on equipment for the expansion would serve a double purpose because most of the facilities could be utilized if and when Appleton decides to eventually go to Lake Michigan.

Lake Michigan was the first choice of water consultants and Winnebago, the second. However, it was determined the city could not afford a Michigan pipeline project, and with a serious water problem, had to go to Winnebago as a stop-gap measure.

Consultants have given assurance the city will obtain an improved quality water from Winnebago, compared to the present Fox River source.

Byrnes impressed upon federal officials the information sent them by city officials was in the form of letters and affidavits from consultants and others in official capacity.

The permanency of the proposed improved water treatment plant is evidenced by the statement of the engineering firm of Alvord, Burdick and Housen, Byrnes said

"They stated the present plant, with improvements, will be a permanent installation regardless of whether the source of raw water supply is changed at some future time from Lake Winnebago, as now proposed, to taking the supply from Lake Michigan," Byrnes added.

He noted the engineers said the expansion project could meet Appleton's water needs until the year 2,000.

"Due to the critical nature of Appleton's water situation," Byrnes declared, "I urge your prompt consideration of this supporting evidence and your favorable action on the matter of requesting a fund reservation for this project."

Fatality Victim Was Native of Appleton

Robert E Schultz, 19, West Bend, who died Sunday night after an automobile accident, was born in Appleton, and is survived here by his maternal grandmother, Mrs. August W. Trettin, 523 W. Eighth St.

He was a sophomore at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, and is survived in West Bend by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin H. Schultz, one sister and two brothers, and his paternal grandparents.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church. Friends may call at the Schmidt Funeral Home, West Bend, after 3 p.m. today.

Chilton Public School Faces Influx of Parochial Pupils

Parishes Plan to Drop Two Grades

CHILTON—The public school system can expect an influx of approximately 150 parochial school pupils next year, the board of education learned Monday night.

Giving rise to the problem was overcrowded parochial school facilities and an anticipated shortage of teaching nuns.

A citizens committee from St. Mary parish informed the board it wished to send 120 seventh and eighth grade pupils from the parish school to public schools for the 1967-68 term because the school will be losing two of its eight teaching nuns.

Although parents of seventh and eighth grade pupils from St. Augustine School will not meet with the pastor until Wednesday night to discuss the problem, it is anticipated that 32 pupils from that parish school also would be transferred to the public school system.

Await Word

The influx of pupils would push next fall's public school enrollment in the two upper grades to about 252. Both teachers and classroom space would be required. There are four public school teachers presently handling those grades.

Supt. A. W. Gordon told the delegation he would await word from St. Augustine parish before embarking on a study of the situation.

Although the full complement of three teaching nuns is expected to return to St. Augustine next fall, enrollment pressures are jamming classrooms.

Enrollment at St. Mary School in the first four grades is 56 pupils each. The fifth grade has 48, sixth and seventh (next year's seventh and eighth), 60 each, and 71 are in the eighth grade.

Report Back

Gordon indicated it would take four to six weeks after receiving the report from St. Augustine parish to determine the immediate course of action of the public school system. Groups from both parishes would be called in then and report back to their congregations for approval of the shift.

There was some speculation that the shift might prompt a more prolonged study of public school facilities if in the future the parochial schools will be handling only grades one through six.

Members of the St. Mary delegation, headed by the Rev. Thomas Dillonberg, were Arthur Hugo, V. G. Reinkober, Mrs. James Knauf and Bert Ketter.

Village Public School Has Straight A Student

LITTLE CHUTE — Sue Vander Wyst, a freshman at the new public high school, was the lone student to make the straight A honor roll for the first semester, according to Leo Bronkalla, superintendent of schools.

Appleton VISTA Youth Will Work in Pennsylvania Town

Gary Croatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Croatt, route 4, Appleton, was one of 50 trainees who were recently graduated from a VISTA training program at the University of Maryland.

Croatt

From last fall until January this year Croatt, 20, was assistant to the swim coach at the YMCA and a student at the University of Wisconsin - Fox Valley Center. He attended the Milwaukee Institute of Technology, and earned an associate of science degree in 1966 in restaurant and hotel management. A winner of a scholarship from the Restaurant Association, he was graduated in 1964 from St. John High School, Little Chute.

VISTA, the volunteer corps of the Office of Economic Opportunity, sends workers, over 18, to projects that request aid in poverty pockets within the United States and its territories. They serve for one year, although they may extend their term of service at the end of the year.

As a Volunteer in Service to America, Croatt will spend one year working with the Bristol township community action program in Levittown, Pa.

Mrs. Peter Gerhartz, Stockbridge, received the traveling trophy for the largest sturgeon registered in the area from Stockbridge Chamber of Commerce president, Cliff Mayer, left, during the annual Sturgeon Festival Sunday. Her 112 pound catch, registered at Stockbridge Harbor, also earned her a permanent trophy from the Geo. Walter Brewing Co., Appleton. The presentation was made by Roland Marx, general manager. Cities Urge Earlier End for Study

Representatives of several Wisconsin cities, including Appleton, are pushing to have the State Legislature and Gov Knowles set one year as the timetable for studying state aids and shared taxes.

A bill calling for a special committee to take two years, reporting back by Jan. 1, 1969, has been attacked by members of the Alliance of Cities.

The legislation was adopted by the state Senate last week but the final vote in the Assembly encountered a delay until sometime this week.

Legislator opposing the two-year time limit for the study say the pleas of various mayors, city managers and common councils should be heeded by requiring the report to be completed within a year, or earlier.

Special Session

The Alliance, which includes the membership of Appleton, Green Bay, Sheboygan, Manitowoc, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac here in the Fox Valley, is also pressing for a special session of the legislature to take up urban problems — including the tax question — this fall.

The Appleton Council acted last week by passing a special resolution which was sent on to the governor and lawmakers at Madison.

And Raymond E Puddy, president of the Fond du Lac Common Council, wrote the governor and legislature, pointing out that "time is of the essence in establishing a manner in which property tax relief can be given to cities throughout the state. . ."

Officials of the state's 20 most populated cities feel studies of previous blue ribbon committees have pointed out the inequities that exist in shared tax formulas.

They claim to have solutions to the problems and want the legislature to hear them out.

Marion Tips Menominee In Tourney

71-70 Win Earns BABA Meet Title; Manawa Gains 3rd

MARION — Behind by nine points, Marion staged a fourth quarter rally to edge Menominee, 71-70, here in the Badger Amateur Basketball Association championship tournament game Sunday night.

Manawa took consolation honors by downing New London in the opening match, 107-91.

Sunday afternoon Marion won the tournament opener by defeating Manawa, 83-71, and Menominee came from behind to upset regular season champion New London, 75-72.

Trailing midway in the final period, Marion suddenly caught fire and went ahead for the first time, 60-59, on a basket by Ken Frailing with 4:38 remaining. Another quick field goal by Frailing, and one by Lee Much, gave Marion a 64-59 lead.

Brandenburg led Marion with 18 points, followed by Frailign with 17. Al Boyd paced the Menominee All Stars and led all scorers with 20. Vaughn James added 16.

Won Handily

Paced by Bill Rohde with 30 points and Bob Jeske with 29, Manawa won handily for the consolation title. New London Curwood, reduced to only six players when several left to play in another tournament, fought back to cut the lead to 16 points after trailing by 28 at the end of three quarters.

Bob Erickson led New London with 33 points, followed by Bob Doverstein with 24.

In the afternoon openers Marion and Manawa were tied after one period 10-10. Marion led 40-30 at halftime and 62-47 after three periods. Gary Raether led Marion with 28 points. Rohde paced Manawa with 20.

Fought Back

New London led Menominee at halftime, 40-31, but the All Stars fought back and went ahead on a pair of free shots by Dick Frechette.

Vaughn James led Menominee with 22 points. Jim Patritto led New London Curwood with 22

An All-Tournament team was selected by the managers and secretary-treasurer of the BABA at halftime of the championship game. They included Rohde, Manawa; Erickson, New London; Raether, Marion; and Boyd and Frechette, Menominee.

Brunner also presented trophies, including the Northern division season trophy, to first place New London, and tournament trophies to winners Marion, runner - up Menominee and third place consolation Manawa.

Championship game:

MARION (71) — Frailing 8 1 0; Brandenburg 9 0 2; Raether 4 1 3; Parks 5 3 4; Robenhagen 4 0 0; Much 2 0 0; Pockat 1 0 0. Totals 33 5 9.

MENOMINEE (70) — James 9 0 3; Grignon 5 3 2; Boyd 10 2 2; Frechette 1 1 1; Lepscier 7 0 1. Totals 32 6 9.

Waupaca Arts Festival

Voices, Orchestra Join For Excellent Concert

BY BARBARA SIMMONS WEBSTER

WAUPACA — This community's music lovers were presented with a profoundly religious experience Sunday when the Waupaca Community Chorus presented Vivaldi's "Gloria" and Gounod's "St. Cecilia's Mass."

Gerald Knoepfel, with his skill and sensitive musicianship carried the chorus through the most difficult passages with ease.

An orchestra replaced the organ and piano accompaniments of former years. It added greatly to the color and balance of the performance The felicitous combination of voice and instrument made the climactic passages come alive with emphatic tone.

Miss Mari Tanaguchi, soprano; Mrs. Karen Winters Daehn, contralto, and Austin Boncher, baritone, soloists of former performances, added the perfection of their voices and interpretations to the musical entity. Justic Parrot, tenor, a soloist with the group for the first time, showed great beauty and clarity of tone.

It would be remiss not to mention Miss Aleine Miller, pianist and organist, who has given so generously of her time and talents at the piano or organ for this and all former performances of the chorus. Without her sureness of technique and Knoepfel's forceful direction, a performance of this quality would have been difficult to achieve.

A community the size of Waupaca should be congratulated for it's ability to present music of such undoubted excellence. The concert was part of the Waupaca Fine Arts Festival.

No Candidate For Little Wolf Assessor Post

MANAWA — The Town of Little Wolf ballot April 4 will not list a candidate for assessor. Incumbent Arthur Patri declined the nomination at the Town of Little Wolf caucus Saturday at Manawa city hall and no other candidate was nominated.

4 Members of Chilton Family Hurt in Crash

Three Cars Damaged In Accident Near Readfield

NEW LONDON — Four members of a rural Chilton family received minor injuries in a three-car accident at 5 p.m. Sunday at County Trunk D and U.S. 10, just east of Readfield.

Loyal Peterson, 54, route 4, Chilton, complained of back injuries; Darlene Peterson, 10, a bump on the leg; Clyde Peterson, 13, a bruised leg, and Alvera Peterson, 38, a chest bruise. All were passengers in a car driven by Alvera Peterson and were advised to see their family doctor.

Waupaca County Police said a car driven by James L. Wickham, 31, Milwaukee, was traveling south on County Trunk D and failed to stop for an arterial at U.S. 10. The Wickham car was struck in the right rear by the Peterson car which was traveling east on U.S. 10, police said.

Out of Control

The Wickham car went out of control and traveled about 300 feet south before coming to a stop. Police said the Peterson car spun out of control, traveled south on U.S. 10, ran up over a snow bank and struck a car owned by Sandra Dien, 17, Dale, which was parked in the Dunbar's Supper Club lot.

Cars Damaged

Wickham's station wagon received about $200 damages, the Peterson car was listed as a total loss, and damage to the Dien vehicle was estimated at $50.

None of the seven persons in the Wickham car were injured, police said.

Most Precious Blood School Asks for Hot Lunch Program

New London District Board Approves Plan for USDA Funds

NEW LONDON — The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) will be asked to include Most Precious Blood Catholic School pupils in the public school lunch program since the board of education Monday approved a request from officials of the parochial school.

Most Precious Blood, through the Rev. George Beth, asked the district to approve including it in the lunch program so the parochial school could seek approval from the USDA. Father Beth met with Superintendent H. James Ramsdell and Steve Fuhrmann, food manager, prior to Monday's session.

The USDA is in charge of funds the parochial school would receive in a lunch program, while the State Department of Public Instruction administers funds to public schools.

Supervise Serving

Under the program, the public school would prepare the food, deliver it to the school and supervise the serving. The parochial school would be in charge of serving, cleaning and furnishing dishes and local administration of the program.

A price of 35 cents per meal has been suggested, with the New London School District receiving 30 cents for purchase of food, preparation of meals and delivery. The public school also would receive the available aids, such as USDA surplus commodities.

Most Precious Blood would pay for serving expenses, dishes and utensils and workers out of the 5 cents per meal it would receive.

The church board will have to submit the program to the USDA for final approval.

Emmanuel Lutheran Church, the only other parochial school in the district, has its own hot lunch program.

Other Board Action

In other business, the board approved a suggestion by Ramsdell that a two-day tour be approved for the senior high school choir.

The tour would include one concert on a college campus, two concerts at high schools and one concert as a community function.

Ramsdell indicated about 45 students would be involved and that the expense to the district would be for a bus and a driver. The first night, students would stay at the site of one of the concerts and would be housed by the host, while the second night students would stay at a motel using funds they had raised in concerts and projects.

A tie vote to continue a policy which allows students participating in interscholastic sports to use physical education class for study hall was given a favorable majority when Gordon Reidenbach, president, voted in favor of the policy.

Invest Funds

The New London National Bank was designated an official depository and surplus funds anticipated at $600,000 were approved for equal distribution between the National and the First State banks.

Funds to be invested on a short-term basis will be $200,000 at the National bank to June 30; $200,000 in the First State to July 30, and $100,000 in both banks to Aug. 31.

Bids on a 67-passenger school bus chassis and body are to be sought for the April meeting.

A canvass type census was approved for the second consecutive year because of the accuracy displayed in the 1966 school census.

By general consent, the board approved presenting district bus drivers with a $150 per month starting salary compared with $130 now. Pay will be boosted to $155 per month for the second semester through three years: $160 for the fourth and fifth years, and $165 per month after five years. The board also approved the driver's request to consider a kindergarten route as two-thirds of a normal route, instead of half a normal route.

The drivers proposed a starting salary of $140 per month with a higher rate for more experienced drivers.

Courthouse Employes Reject Union

Vote 4-1 to Keep Representation by Their Association

Outagamie County courthouse employes, by nearly a 4-1 margin, Monday afternoon voted down union membership in favor of continued representation by the County Courthouse Employes Association.

The certification election, ordered by the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB), saw voting by two separate units. Maintenance, custodial and clerical employes, including those working part-time, voted 39-13 in favor of the courthouse bargaining unit over the American Federation of State, County and Municipalities, Local 1761.

Two employes included in the larger group voted for neither unit — the third choice on the ballots.

The other balloting unit was comprised of 11 caseworkers in the Outagamie County Welfare Department. Ten of the caseworkers voted for the courthouse bargaining unit while one voted for no representation.

WERB Order

The caseworkers figured in a dispute over balloting, and it was by WERB order earlier this month that they were allowed to vote for other than the courthouse association. The dispute had delayed balloting, first of its kind in the Outagamie County courthouse.

However, several other work units, including highway and hospital employes, are union members.

Only five eligible employes failed to vote in Monday's secret ballot election in the courthouse annex.

Excluded from the voting were department heads, supervisors, nurses, elected officials, court reporters, secretary to the corporation counsel, and sheriff's department personnel, who earlier retained a bargaining agent.

If there is no formal objection, the courthouse employes group will be certified by the WERB as the bargaining agent in matters of wages, hours and working conditions.

PORTAGE (AP) — A preliminary hearing will be held in Columbia County Court Friday for a 42-year-old Columbus man, charged with attempted murder in connection with the weekend shooting of the wife of a soldier serving in Vietnam.

Richard D. Roberts appeared Monday before Court Commissioner Arthur W. Swanson on a charge of attempted first degree murder in the shooting of Mrs. Elfriede Howe, 39, in her Columbus home early Saturday. Mrs. Howe, whose husband Walter, is serving with the U.S. Army in Vietnam, was struck in the chest by a 12 gauge shotgun blast. She is in critical condition in University Hospitals, Madison.

Roberts also is charged with attempted burglary with intent to commit a felony while armed with a dangerous weapon.

Tipsy Driver Fined $200

Clintonville Man Changes Plea, Admits Charge

WAUPACA — Russell A. Dean, 28, 174 S. Madison St., Clintonville, arrested March 5 for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages, appeared Monday in Municipal Justice Court and was fined $200 and costs after changing his plea to guilty.

Dean pleaded innocent March 6 and a trial was scheduled March 26. He appeared Monday and changed his plea. Justice George Whalen revoked his driver's license for one year.

Dean was arrested by county police on the city's east side.

Legal Opinion Awaited on UW-GB Plan

the total cost of the UW's "minimum module" to $23.8 million, according to a companion document submitted at the meeting.

University officials maintained again at the session that if the campuses are to be held to less than their original $26.5 million request, planning basis should include the construction of the libraries on the campuses before other structures. Cost for those buildings and site and utility work would come to at least $13.2 million.

The latest CCHE request was devised through use of a proposed shut-down of operations of existing first and second year centers in Green Bay, Racine and Kenosha. Through the plan, a student enrollment of 5,100 could be reached in the second year of operations of the new schools, according to the agency's estimates.

Leonard has led Building Commission opposition to higher campus spending, basing his position on low student population figures during the first years of use of the new institutions.

Enrollment

The 5,100 enrollment figure, which includes 2,100 students expected at the UW-GB, was derived by expecting that all projected freshman-sophomore students at the area centers would transfer to the four year university in 1970, projected junior-senior enrollments for the new campuses, and by adding in several hundred new students expected to be generated above previous estimates because of the defering of four years of educational opportunity at one site in the respective areas.

Leonard expressed interest in the method of deriving the new enrollments, which was not explained to him at the meeting, and said that he would investigate it before approving any expanded financing proposals based on such computations.

Action was postponed when it was explained that the deadline for receipt of additional funds by planning agencies will not come until April 15, and that action could be taken on the proposals at an April 10 meeting of the Building Commission.

Any action taken before receipt of the opinion, Leonard decided, could too easily be overruled by the legal decision — and Kaiser would be expected to refuse the funds before being told of the action's legality anyway, Leonard said.

Appleton on Brink Of Landing Industry

Planners Suggest Purchase of Old Airport From County; Want Buffer Strip to Isolate Homes

The City of Appleton appears to be on the brink of landing a new industry after the city plan commission recommended rezoning the old Outagamie County airpodt land for industrial purposes.

At the same time, the commission stipulated that an attractive buffer zone be created along Ballard Road for a depth of about 70 feet for the protection of residential areas to the west.

The commission took its action at the urging of the city council's newly-created Commercial and Industrial Development Committee.

Build Plant

Ald. John MacDonald (7th), committee chairman, said a firm which indicated interest in erecting a $1 million plant on a 25-acre site fronting on Glendale Avenue, has made a verbal commitment to meet the asking price for the property.

However, it would appear the development of the 153 acres of airport land will have to be a cooperative project between the city and Outagamie County, with the former adding to its tax base.

Sylvester Esler, county board chairman, said the county wants to sell the old airport property to the city, and indicated the $450,000 or so asking price could be paid off on installments over a 10 to 15-year period.

Esler said the county was not interested in just selling the 25 acres. He thought the city should become owner of the property and sell it off as the industrial park expands.

Area Ideal

"This is an ideal area for a new industrial park," Esler told the commission and other city officials. "It is the kind of a setup Appleton needs if it wants to get any new industry."

In conjunction with the rezoning recommendation, the commission also asked the board of public works to meet with county board officials as soon as possible to negotiate for purchase of the land.

The county board will convene Tuesday, and again in April.

MacDonald said the new plant would also provide the city with a sizable addition to its tax base, which admittedly, has been ailing in recent years as the result of some firms locating outside the city in so-called "tax island" areas.

Both Walter Rasmussen, city planner, and Eugene Franchett, representing the Fox Valley Regional Plan Commission, said the old airport site would be ideal for industrial development. They emphasized the "green spot" buffer should and would be included in any plans to develop the area.

Protection for Residences

MacDonad and others said the stipulation for the buffer zone would be acceptable to all concerned and was meant specifically for the protection of the residential owners on the city's far northeast side.

Ald. William Errington (15th), in whose ward the airport property is located, urged the commission to "take a real hard look at the overall picture."

Errington indicated he would oppose the rezoning unless it took the entire airport area into consideration. He also told the commission that some residents are circulating petitions against having any industrial development in that part of the city.

(The old county airport was annexed to the city more than a year ago when Appleton purchased land for the new municipal garage building located on E. Glendale Avenue extended.)

"When you get these things and try to expedite them there is a tendency to lose sense of direction," Errington told the commission. He repeatedly insisted he would oppose plans for an industrial park unless there was a long-range plan for developing the entire airport.

Carry Tax Load

Errington said, however, that the natural green strip and other plantings to provide a buffer would be most acceptable to him. He claimed residents in the area had been "carrying the tax load for the city" and he did not want to see their property values lowered.

There was general agreement among other city officials. That is why the stipulation for the park-like buffer along Ballard Avenue was made.

"This, gentlemen, is something the city cannot afford to sit on," MacDonald declared, referring to the offer to purchase the land at the old site for new plant construction.

"I must assume with this much money going into such a project, it will be an attractive-looking building as are modern industrial plants today," MacDonald commented.

MacDonald warned unless the city did act with some expediency, it faced the possibility of losing the industry. "The last thing in the world I would like to hear is that Appleton lost out because it dragged its feet," MacDonald asserted.

Need Tax Base

"God knows this city needs the tax base," Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd), a committee member injected. "If we goof on this now, our chances for the future will be hopeless."

Kalata and others on the committee pointed out that Appleton has had local industrial expansion but no new major industries locating here over a long period.

"You get a few industries started on that old airport and others will locate there, too," Esler advised the group. He also agreed that residential growth to the west and north should be protected and would under the plan proposed.

Changing View Saves Johnson From Beating

Congress Emerged From Conservatism During Truman Era

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The changing times have had a quieting effect on Congress. There is still just as much noise from the Capitol. But it's a different kind of noise.

And, just because it is, President Johnson doesn't get the same kind of lashing that was inflicted on President Harry S Truman. One reason, of course, is that the cast of characters in Congress has changed.

But that's only a minor part of the reason. The attitude in the country is different.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal ended in 1938 with the passage of the minimum wage law. From then on Roosevelt and the country put all their resources into getting ready for a war and then fighting it.

Unforgettable Day

On Sept. 2, 1945 Japan formally surrendered and four days later Truman sent a message to Congress. He had the tremendous task of reconverting the country to peace. He never forgot that day, as he made clear in his memoirs.

"It was on that day," he wrote, "and with that message that I first spelled out the details of the program of liberalism and progressivism which was to be the foundation of my administration."

He wanted to carry on with the unfinished New Deal and asked Congress for extension of Social Security, an increase in the minimum wage, national health insurance (now medicare), continued war against slums, new regional developments like the TVA, a full employment bill, and continuance of wartime economic controls.

Conservation Coalition

But at that time Congress in both houses was mostly dominated by a coalition of conservative Republicans, led by Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, and Southern Democrats.

Taft, more than any one man, was Truman's constant critic. There was such unbroken uproar and opposition to Truman that the Democrats lost control of Congress to the Republicans in 1946.

Bit by bit Truman got some of his proposals through but Congress took one momentous step. It wouldn't give him a "full employment act" but it gave him an Employment Act in 1946.

In that act, for the first time in American history, Congress said the federal government had a responsibility for the general welfare. All the progressive social legislation which followed in the years since then can be considered a natural consequence of both the nation's needs and the responsibility the government had to assume as a result of that act of 1946.

Dividing Line

And right here is the dividing line in the difference between the treatment Truman got from Congress and the treatment Johnson gets.

With Truman the nation was shaking off its historic and extreme conservatism — although not quite as the right wing in this country today can testify. But social and welfare legislation, starting with Truman after the war, gradually came to be regarded as a national need, not a wild-eyed dream.

Nothing shows that better than the record of the 89th Congress in 1965. It approved Johnson's "Great Society" programs by the bundle, the greatest production performance in American history.

Legislation Natural

These are just a few of the programs it approved: a health program for the elderly, easier registration for Negroes wanting to vote, aid for education, improved Social Security benefits, rent subsidies for low-income families.

While Johnson's 'Great Society' is simply an extension of Roosevelt's New Deal and Truman's Fair Deal, the country and Congress now have come to consider social welfare legislation as natural and necessary.

This is why Johnson doesn't get from Congress the beating Truman had to take on domestic needs. Ironically, Johnson's main criticism in Congress — on the war in Vietnam — comes not from the Republican leaders, who support him, but from some of his own Democrats.

Major Developments Unlikely at Conference in Thailand under a newly reached agreement with Vietnam's Southeast Asian neighbor.

But sources said the big bombers will begin Vietnam raids on April 1. At present, the Stratoforts must fly 2,500 miles from their base in Guam to reach Vietnam. The switch would reduce flying time from base to target from six hours to one hour.

The United States acknowledged for the first time last week that U.S. fighter bombers are attacking North Vietnam from Thailand air strips.

Johnson will be accompanied to Guam by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Also making the trip will be Robert Komer, a special presidential assistant who oversees U.S. efforts to bolster the South Vietnamese economy and improve civil facilities.

Meeting with the President and other leaders will be Gen. William C. Westmoreland, American commanding general in Vietnam, and Ambassador to South Vietnam Henry Cabot Lodge.

It is expected the meeting will last about two days.

The conference site hasn't been announced but with no hotel in Agana, Guam's capital, it is assumed the President and his advisers will meet and stay at Andersen AFB 20 miles away.

With a fairly new and sophisticated communications room at Andersen, modern quarters and plenty of space for the conferees — probably in one of the new areas where bomber crews are briefed in great secrecy — security should be comparatively easy to maintain.

he did not specify in what role.

He said only: "I intend to stay in the political arena of the city, the state and the nation, further to advance the principles in which I believe. I am certain that my efforts combined with those of the Republican Party will enhance the dignity of the human race."

The order authorizing the arrest of Powell anytime he came into New York State was signed Nov. 28, 1966, by State Supreme Court Justice Arthur Markewich. So far as is known, Powell hasn't been in New York since.

The authorization is under appeal. It was issued after a jury trial had found that Powell had wilfully defied two court orders to appear for an examination in connection with a defamation suit he lost to Esther James, a Harlem widow.

His troubles with Mrs. James led in part to his exclusion from Congress, which he is fighting in the courts. The special congressional election was called. Meanwhile, to fill the vacancy,

U.S. naval ships and gave up a large amount of arms and supplies. Naval officers felt today's interception may prove to be as important.

Half a dozen heavy Communist mortar attacks in the central highlands marked the ground war Monday and today. One U.S. soldier was reported killed and 75 were reported wounded.

Heavy weather again moved in over much of North Vietnam, limiting U.S. warplanes to 92 missions Monday. Most were against supply lines and rail targets in the southern coastal area.

The Communist trawler was spotted by a Navy Neptune patrol plane 25 miles off the coast of Quang Ngai Province, about 325 miles northeast of Saigon.

The destroyer Brister, the Coast Guard cutter Point Ellis and the faster, 50-foot Swift patrol boat No. 78 were dispatched to intercept the trawler.

When the Brister let go a long-range warning shot across the trawler's bow, the Communist vessel opened up on the approaching Swift boat with machine-gun fire. The Communist bullets ripped into the Swift's hull and inflicted considerable damage but caused no casualties, a U.S. spokesman said.

Ran on Beach

Bracketed by fire from the Brister and the Ellis, the trawler ran on the beach an hour after being sighted.

About 40 minutes later, before ground troops could reach the scene, an explosion ripped through the trawler.

Initial reports said she was destroyed, but a small boat from the destroyer Brister carried a landing party to the scene, and it recovered a quantity of uniforms, some small arms in cork packaging and what a Navy spokesman in Saigon described as "considerable contraband."

South Korean marines were moved in to attempt to apprehend the Communist crew but results were not immediately known in Saigon.

Last May and June two large Communist trawlers were intercepted under almost identical circumstances. Both ships yielded a large haul of munitions with Chinese and Russian markings, and U.S. officials made much of this as proof of Hanoi's infiltration of arms into the South.

The heavy series of mortar attacks in the central highlands in the past 48 hours was taken by U.S. officers as another example of Communist infiltration of supplies. They noted that the attacks were concentrated within five miles or so of the Laotian and Cambodian frontiers.

Time account) and for that matter neither did the President. The language is just all wrong. Nothing like that was said.

"They talked about Vietnam. The senator gave him his proposals and the President expressed his point of view," Mankewicz added.

The Time report says the feud between Johnson and Kennedy, which had its beginnings in the 1960 Democratic Convention, flamed into open warfare when Kennedy returned from Europe amid rumors he had received in Paris a significant peace feeler from North Vietnam.

Warned Kennedy

According to Time, the President is said to have warned Kennedy about his Vietnam stance, telling him: "If you keep talking like this, you won't have a political future in this country within six months. In six months, all you doves will be destroyed."

Time says that at one point, Johnson used the phrase, "the blood of American boys will be on your hands." Finally, says Time, the President told Kennedy, "I never want to hear your views on Vietnam again," and also was reported to have said to the senator, "I never want to see you again."

Mankewicz denied that the President had used the language attributed to him in direct quotes by Time.

"He didn't say that 'I never want to see you again,'" Mankewicz said. "I've seen that report two or three other places and I've denied it. He did not say 'the blood of American boys will be on your hands.'"

Referring to Time's account of Kennedy telling the President, "I don't have to sit here and take that ————," Mankewicz said: "If that language was used it was closer to 'I don't have to sit there and listen to you talk like that.' But I don't know that he said it at all."

The Time article also says that when Johnson asked Kennedy to go before the press and say that the United States had never received a genuine peace feeler from Hanoi, the senator said that unless he saw all the pertinent communications he could not make such an announcement.

"I'm telling you that you can," Johnson is quoted as telling the senator. Time adds: "Bobby, implying that the President was not to be trusted, refused to accept that assurance."

Mankewicz denied this version. He said that the President asked Kennedy to deny a Newsweek magazine report that he had received a peace feeler while in Paris.

Kennedy, said Mankewicz, agreed to do this because he hadn't received a peace feeler. Kennedy issued the denial right after the conference with Johnson, said Mankewicz.

"Time never checked the quotes from the senator," said Walinsky. Walinsky said Kennedy had seen the Time article.

Time did not say from whom it had received the report of the conversation.

A few weeks after the conversation, Kennedy made a Senate speech calling for a cessation of U.S. bombings of North Vietnam.

Wife Shoots Husband Trying To Protect Her

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—Several months ago Dorothy Sawyer, 43, was surprised in her home by a prowler who tried to attack her.

She and her husband, Plymyre, 49, have been extra careful since then. As Sawyer left home in the darkness early Monday for work, his wife called to him: "Circle the block and see if you can see anyone."

For 15 minutes Sawyer drove around the block. Then he returned home to reassure his wife. Startled by his noise, she grabbed a .38 caliber pistol and fired four times at a figure in the dark.

"Don't shoot, Dorothy! It's me. Don't shoot!" Sawyer cried.

Two bullets hit him in the abdomen.

Sawyer was in fair condition today in San Bernardino Community Hospital. His wife was in the same hospital being treated for shock.

Increasing 'Goodies' Without Boosting Tax Seen as Major Problem

MEQUON (AP)—The basic issue facing the legislature is increasing "goodies" to the people without raising the already high level of taxes, according to Assembly Majority Leader Curtis McKay, R-Cedarburg.

"The voters are giving us more and more indications they don't need more taxes," McKay told a luncheon here Monday, "but at the same time the politicians in the legislature that they need more money for this, that and the other thing.

Russo said Bertrand interrupted to say that as soon as the shot was fired, "the world would know about it," and they would not be able to get a plane out of Cuba.

Russo said he first met Ferrie — who was found dead in bed Feb. 22 — and had known him "all the way to 1964."

Garrison asked Russo to tell the court the background of the assassination.

Legal Debate

"I had occasion to have a friend who was in the Civil Air Patrol," Russo said.

At this point, Shaw's attorneys objected on grounds the testimony was hearsay.

A long legal debate followed.

Russo testified that he knew Bertrand as "Clem Bertrand," not Clay Bertrand. Garrison had alleged that Clay Bertrand was an alias used by Shaw.

A New Orleans lawyer, Dean Andrews Jr., told the Warren Commission that a "Clay Bertrand" telephoned him after the assassination and asked him to represent Lee Harvey Oswald, named by the commission as the lone assassin of Kennedy.

The stipulation of facts showed that $94,869 was transferred to Dodd's and his wife's bank account in New York from what was called Testimonial Account No. 2.

Various Events

A total of $232,809 was deposited in this testimonial account from various fund-raising events in 1963-65. The largest amounts listed were $79,222 from the 1965 dinner at which Humphrey spoke and $79,693 in campaign contributions.

From the amount transferred to Dodd's bank in New York, the stipulation set forth, the senator spent $9,479 to fix up his home in North Stonington, Conn., transferred $4,900 to his son Jeremy, and used $31,783 for repayment of loans — including in part money he had borrowed to pay income taxes.

Among a multitude of expenditures listed in the stipulation were such items as liquor bills, football tickets, hotel and motel charges, parking tickets — and an outlay of $21.24 to fly his pet dog from Washington to New London, Conn., in November 1963.

Lichen Planus Recently Described Medically

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain what lichen planus means. — L. B.

Dear Doctor: I have recovered from a rather severe bout with lichen planus, and would like your opinion as to cause and treatment, and proper rest, diet, etc., to be followed now. Everyone is so interested in this disease, yet most of my friends never heard of it. — B. V.

Lichen planus was first described medically several years ago, which does not necessarily mean that the disease appeared for the first time then, but that for the first time it was recognized as a specific ailment and described so that it could be recognized as such.

We still don't know what causes it, although there are some suspicions.

It is a skin disorder featured by small papules (tiny raised areas) of a lilac or violet color. It can appear anywhere but most often it invades the inner side of arms or legs. (Lesions of mouth and genitals can occur; it rarely affects the rest of the face, the scalp, palms, or soles.)

The papules occur in groups varying in size and shape, and their most objectionable trait is the itching which usually is quite intense. They may last a few months and disappear or may linger, uninvited, for a year or so, which is no picnic.

In very severe forms, the ailment involves the toes, and ulceration may be a complication.

Treatment is not all that we would wish. The steroid drugs, especially in cream form and applied locally, may help.

It has been noted that lichen planus may occur following use of certain drugs, the antimalarials, gold salts, bismuth and some others.

There is no particular diet or pattern of rest to follow an attack — or at least there is no indication now that these are significant.

Dear Dr. Molner: Enclosed is 20 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for your booklet on upside-down stomach. — Mrs. J. F.

Have sent booklet on "Hiatal Hernia," which is another name for the same condition.

Dear Dr. Molner: Why does a person crave soda crackers? I have to have them to nibble on all the time. I have had an operation for ulcer and tumor but craved crackers before that. I eat them constantly. Can they be harmful? — Mrs. V. T.

Such crackers are close to being pure carbohydrate, and I can't see any reason for your craving unless you just don't get enough to eat. You may need the salt on the crackers.

Most likely it is (a) just a nibbling habit; or (b) a psychological response of some sort. The crackers would be harmful only if you eat so many that you do not get enough other foods containing necessary nutrients, or if you have a weight problem, because the carbohydrate represents a lot of extra calories.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any foundation for the belief that when a woman starts taking hormones to help her through menopause that she will have to continue taking them the rest of her life? — C. G.

None whatever, although there is a strong tendency to continue use longer than heretofore in some cases.

Goldwater Favors U. S., Soviet Treaty, With Reservations

The Law and You

Passing on Right Permitted Only in Specific Situations

May a motorist legally pass on the right a vehicle that is stopped waiting an opportunity to make a left turn?

This is a situation which frequently leads to a traffic violation. The law is quite clear: The traffic code states that the operator of a vehicle may overtake and pass another vehicle on the right only under conditions permitting such movements in safety and only if he can do so without driving off the pavement or the main traffic portion of the roadway . . . and then only under certain conditions, including when the vehicle overtaken is making or about to make a left turn.

Thus if it is necessary to drive off the pavement or main traffic portion of the roadway onto the gravel shoulder, it is unlawful to pass on the right.

In a recent case before the Wisconsin Supreme Court, a driver was found negligent in an accident where he was attempting to pass a halted vehicle on the right. The halted vehicle was courteously waiting for another car to make a lefthand turn across the highway into a driveway. The car passing on the right ran into the turning motorist and caused a serious accident.

The motorist who was passing improperly sought to excuse his conduct on the grounds that in the next block the highway widened to include more lanes and that by local custom drivers frequently passed on the right at this location. The Supreme Court refused to accept this argument, stating "a custom which violates an express command of a statute will not serve as justification of the violator's conduct."

Since in the case before the Court it was clearly established that the motorist was passing at least partially off the pavement and on the shoulder, he was held liable. In addition, he was subject to a fine for violating the highway code.

The court further emphasized that "roadway" means that portion of the highway between the regularly established curb lines or that portion which is improved, designed or ordinarily used for vehicular travel, excluding the burm or shoulder.

The Philosophy of Protest

Various student demonstrations in Wisconsin this year have ranged from the recent burning of art at Whitewater to the efforts at the University of Wisconsin in Madison to prevent the recruiting of employes on campus by a chemical company which also makes napalm. Sometimes the protests can be regarded as merely a sign of spring. The current ones have been somewhat encouraging in that they concern intellectual and moral matters and should be regarded as something of an improvement over the panty raids and goldfish swallowing of a few years ago.

But while most protests are the work of only a few, college students generally seemed to have overcome the apathy about affairs on and off the campus which permeated their attitude a decade ago.

It is true that the most ardent demonstrators do not believe so. But there really are some good and sufficient reasons for some of the demonstrations and they do tend to bring reaction from the majority of students if only by their giving some thought to the matters.

Psychologists have pointed out that the current college generation is the product of an age in which adolescence is extended because of the need for more and more years of education. The university student in particular finds himself in a position of reliance upon the finances of his parents long after he has reached the usual age of maturity. Presumably some of the campus demands for increased authority and independence stem from the frustration of not realizing one's maturity.

Unfortunately some of the student protests involve the attempt to deny to others the free expression of opinion and activity which the protestors demand for themselves. But while this must be firmly opposed, not only by university authorities but by other students and faculty, the reasons need not be despised.

For the college student today is plagued, not only by his own lack of self-sufficiency, but by the vast number of contradictions among his elders. The war in Vietnam remains the largest area of conflict because, whether or not this nation is right in its belief that communism must be halted in that torn country, the nature of the war has brought horror to those we are trying to protect. But there are other concerns — the examples of dubious ethics in high places, the evidence that to some extent something more than equality can be bought and is sold, the charges and counter-charges of feet of clay on so many heroes — all this gives the university student, probably at the height of his idealism, something validly to protest.

Why, he well may ask, should the printing of a four letter word in a university newspaper be almost hysterically denounced in a society where such words are heard on every street corner, barroom and cocktail party? What has long hair to do with sexual morality? Is there not something mildly inconsistent about a civilization that condemns marijuana smoking but reaps a big income from what may be the gradual suicide of tobacco and alcohol? What can he make of a nation verbally dedicated to the equality, rights and dignity of the individual but where more and more the student in the larger institutions especially is becoming a series of numbers, an assigned seat in a lecture hall, a statistic in enrollment projections? And in the world outside he views the organizational or military man, even more a machine cog whatever his take home pay or his executive title. Even the dirty sandals and blue jeans, smelly as they may be, can be regarded as a symbolic protest against situations where the outward and visible sign is not always indicative of an inward and spiritual grace.

There seems to come a time, as it did at Berkeley last winter, when students and faculty recognize the inconsistencies in their own behavior and discover that protests for their own sakes are interfering with the purpose at hand. And while many demonstrations are full of followers and conformists, the encouragement rather than the stifling of individual opinion and behavior should work against being part of the crowd whatever the crowd is for or against.

We should not forget that American history tends to uphold the lone dissenter against the mass and certainly there was no more flagrant defiance of law and order than the Boston Tea Party.

True righteous indignation — not merely the parroting of slogans cooked up by someone with an axe to grind — is heartwarming and constructive. We are not trying to incite students to riot. But their elders should be cautious in criticism to distinguish among areas where protest is warranted, where it acts to curtail others, and where it is merely an echo of the voice of the turtle throughout the land.

A Questionable Veto

The suggestion is in order for Mayor George Buckley to have second thoughts over his recent veto of sending the Appleton municipal planner and traffic engineer to the National Association of Planners Conference at Houston in April.

The mayor's action can only be construed as penny-wise and pound-foolish in frowning on the key man in the city's daily and long-range planning program attending a conference where he can rub shoulders and exchange ideas with some of the nation's top planners.

What might be a serious planning problem in Appleton may already have been solved by a planner in some other part of the U.S. who would be eager to discuss the solution. Exchange of information and ideas is encouraged between representatives of industry, and operation of multi-million dollar municipal government should be governed by the same policy.

The mayor and Common Council have policies regarding out-of-state travel, but requests for attendance at conferences by department heads should be considered on their merits. In this case, Appleton representation at the National Conference of Planners would seem a must. Actually, the mayor's veto at this stage may hold no official standing because it should have been presented at last week's council meeting.

So with the desk supposedly clear, we suggest the mayor "forget it." Good planning shouldn't be weighed in terms of the dollars and cents it takes to send a department head to a national conference.

Gray Areas in Taiwan

Probably more than most nationalities, Americans like their politics to be black or white. Our impatience for immediate solutions to world problems gives us no time to consider grey areas where right and wrong may not be absolutely defined. Since we do not recognize the Peking government of China and consider it Bad, we must conversely consider the Nationalist Chinese government on Taiwan as Good. But there are some Taiwanese who don't think so.

When the Chinese Nationalists fled to Taiwan after the victory on the mainland by the Communists, they continued the dominance of Chinese over Taiwanese as far as representatives go This was based on considering Taiwan as merely a province of China but the trouble is that the Taiwanese far outnumber the surviving Chinese Nationalists. Any move for independence of Taiwan is considered subversive by the Chinese Nationalists and understandably so. An independent Taiwan would undoubtedly deny them not only a haven but a base for the dream of coming back into power in China.

A University of Wisconsin graduate student, a native of Taiwan, went back to his homeland a year ago to do research on Taiwanese intellectuals during the Japanese control of the island or at least so he says. But the Chinese Nationalist Government arrested Hwang Chi-ming and charged him with sedition. It was claimed that he belonged to a Taiwanese independence movement which seems to have its headquarters in Madison, that he met with an independence leader in Tokyo, and that his return to Taiwan was really to further the independence movement rather than to do scholarly research. Mr. Hwang was convicted at a secret trial and sentenced to five years in prison.

A Taiwanese independence movement of course has to be considered subversive by the Nationalist Chinese since they did control Taiwan long before the Red Chinese came to power and drove them from the mainland. With the current near civil war going on among Chinese Communists, there has certainly been renewed hope among the Nationalists that they might after all be able to take command once more of the entire nation.

But the Chinese dominance on Taiwan and its heavy-handed methods in suppressing Taiwanese ambitions have made it increasingly unpopular on Taiwan. Economically Taiwan has thrived but it is not a political democracy in American terms.

President Has Outlined Legislative Program, but It's All Rather Vague

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — In a score of messages from the White House to the Congress, the President has laid out what is virtually his complete program for this year. But what is it?

Kraft

The answer, and the first thing that has to be said about the program, is that hardly anybody knows what it is. The second thing that needs to be said is that through the haze there is dimly discernible a thoughtful approach to the county's central domestic problem — the problem of translating into effective administrative action the staggering legislative achievements of the last Congress.

The uncommunicative quality of the presidential messages this year looks to be almost deliberate. The messages have been spewed out at a bewildering clip — almost one for every two congressional working days in the first six weeks of this year. They have ranged over subjects with nothing in common — from crime, for instance, to trade with Southern Rhodesia.

Even on matters that lend themselves to concentration, the messages have been diffuse. For example, in the apparent interest of avoiding bureaucratic fights, there have been separate statements on youth, older Americans and health.

NO RETREAT

Through this confusion, however, it is apparent that, despite the changed shape of the Congress, the President is not retreating from the Great Society program. He has endorsed, once again, all the most controversial features of his program from last year including rent supplements, model cities, the Teacher Corps and steps toward open housing.

Not only is the President not standing still, but he is moving beyond the legislative program to the problems of administering the Great Society. And here there emerge three tendencies.

First of all, there is a tendency towards a new kind of decentralization of government. The President's program is predicated on the understanding that the federal government cannot run from the center delicate programs deeply affecting local communities At the same time, there is an appreciation of the inadequacies of the present jungle of conflicting state, county and local governments.

The result is a discreet move toward the creation of new agencies for local application of federal programs. Thus the President's program calls for the creation of child and parent centers, comprehensive health centers, and senior citizens centers to coordinate local application of federal programs in these fields. In another variation on the same theme, there is the plan for setting up an independent corporation to manage educational television.

Secondly, there is implicit in the President's program a reshaping of the federal bureaucratic structure to meet the needs of a rapidly changing society. The chief weakness of the federal structure has been the tendency of departments and agencies over the years to fall into he hands of groups of clients.

MERGER PROPOSED

The classic example of such weakness are the Commerce Department, with its orientation toward the business community, and the Labor Department, with its orientation toward the unions. By proposing to merge these two departments, the President is sketching out the possibility of a constant breaking up and reshuffling of all agencies dominated by client interests — a bureaucracy of interchangeable parts.

Lastly, the President's program lays special stress on the importance of experimentation in groping towards solutions of problems that are still not well understood. In the Head Start program this year, there is a giant pilot study around the question of whether two-year-olds can absorb schooling. Research is the keynote of the programs for crime and air pollution.

These complicated administrative innovations and reforms do not lend themselves to public exposition. And it may be that the best way for the President to push his program through is to negotiate on it with the Congress in the calm climate that sets in after a rain of unread messages.

But, if so, that is only a temporary condition. In the long run this President or another is going to have to bring the country face to face in an explicit way with the thorny problems of running the country.

Looking Backward

Late Northeaster Hits County

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Post for March 28, 1867.

What a Storm! During Monday night, a northeast snow storm set in, and by Tuesday morning it had grown to quite a degree of severity.

All day Tuesday the snow fell as fast and as thick as any during the entire winter, and it did not wholly stop until about 6 o'clock in the morning of Wednesday.

The depth that fell was fully 8 inches, and if we could have had it a month earlier, what sleighing we would have had! There would have been a good run, indeed.

25 YEARS AGO

With Charles Johnson the youngest and 72-year-old Anton Pfluger the oldest, 105 civilian volunteers registered for Civil Defense work at Brillion. Members serving on the registration board included Mrs. W. L. Boyden, Mrs A J. Seip, Mrs. L. H. Hubregtse, Mrs. Otto Bartz, Mrs R. R Toepel, Mrs John Pfluger, Mrs. Robert Goldsmith, Mrs. Charlotte Egan, Mrs. John Sheehy, Mrs. Arthur Lau, Mrs. Edward Janke, Mrs. Henry Horn and Miss Harriet Andrews. They all were American Legion Auxiliary volunteers.

Mrs. Willis Elsner was elected high priestess of Valley Shrine No. 10, White Shrine of Jerusalem. Others named to offices included Harlow Wickert, Mrs. Josephine Verstegen, Harry Damm, Mrs. Leslie Pease, Miss Ruth Wolf, Mrs. H. J. Weller and Mrs. Clyde Cavert.

More Fringe Benefits Being Sought by Some Legislative Members

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Some of the fringe benefits for members of the legislature being pushed in the present session may raise the question whether these politicians are not asking too much too fast in the way of emoluments.

Wyngaard

The legislature as an institution is notoriously unable or unwilling to see itself as its constituents see it. The best example was in the 1965 session when the lawmakers in a bipartisan exhibition of stubborn eagerness ignored friendly counsel, hurriedly pushed through an excessively generous salary increase, and promptly encountered a stinging veto from the governor as friendly advisers had warned they would.

Only after that repudiation did they accept the idea of a detached review of the salary question by an outside commission, as Gov. Knowles among others had suggested. The commission, as could have been forecast, agreed that some increase in salary was needed and justified, recommended what was in fact a fair boost in historical perspective, and secured its enactment with scarcely a ripple of public objection.

NOW THEY WANT MORE

This sideliner was among those who had accepted the justification for higher legislative pay as a form of insurance against the degeneration of legislative representation.

More cautious persons would probably guess that a salary boost of 50 per cent would be sufficient for a while.

But already there is talk about providing machinery for future salary adjustments. Half a dozen propositions floating around the legislative halls for less conspicuous but nevertheless equally tangible beneficences of their own devising.

There is a plan to increase the expense allowance for residence in Madison. This is perhaps justified. But there is another to increase the expense allowance for the lawmakers when they are living and working in their home districts. There is a measure to provide premium pay for leadership positions. The list of those positions is defined at greater length and generosity than an objective outside commission advising on the subject would be likely to endorse.

There are new prequisites in the way of staff assistance that are less susceptible to identification, but they are real and desirable, nevertheless. The principal men of the legislature now have special assistants in a greater variety and number than ever before. Some of them function primarily as political helpers, rather than as legislative technicians. Some of the legislative secretaries function as private secretaries, especially during the long months of the year when the houses are not in session.

TRAVEL PRIVILEGES ASKED

Telephone and postage privileges have been vastly extended, over the standards of 20 years ago, or even 10 years ago.

But perhaps most dubious of all of the fringe benefits being asked is the proposal for expanding travel privileges at public expense. One proposition would permit legislators, with the nominal consent of a legislative committee, to travel virtually anywhere in the world where they could find an excuse. Another would defy the historic idea that the legislature does its work at the seat of government, in the state capitol at Madison, by allowing standing committee chairmen to hold "hearings" anywhere in the state, and to take a secretary with the committee, all at the expense of the state budget.

There may be occasions that justify a special hearing elsewhere. The current deliberations about the regulation of the snowmobile probably provide an illustration. But to permit any committee chairman, as an indulgence of whim, to schedule meetings in distant places of his own choosing must be dismissed as a proposal for unmitigated junketeering.

Can We Sacrifice Law to Get Order?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The people who clamor most loudly for "law and order" seem to think that the two words are interchangeable and identical — but they are not, any more than "assault and battery" or "flotsam and jetsam."

Harris

Actually, most of these people are more interested in "order" than in "law" — and they seem willing to sacrifice the latter to get the former. The Adam Clayton Powell case is a perfect example.

I happen to think the man is a villain, and a disgrace to the congressional seat he purports to serve. But unseating him without proper legal and constitutional grounds would be a greater evil than any he has perpetrated. Yet this is exactly what most people want.

"Order" might be served by bouncing Powell, but "law" would not. The law is clear on this point: The voters of his district elected him, and only the voters of his district can recall him, as long as he has the proper legal qualifications for the office.

Everyone in the Congress knows this. Yet the public clamor has been so great and persistent that the Congress voted for his removal on extremely shaky if not downright illegal, grounds. The law may be twisted, or ignored, to restore order.

And this is what people want, despite their protestations to the contrary. They are willing to let policemen break the law — and they break it every day — to put down crime and disorder. They are willing to let district attorneys break the law — and they break it every day — to convict putative violaters of the civil order.

But "law" and "order" are not identical phrases — although it is the task of jurisprudence to keep them linked together. If we are more concerned with order than we are with law, we will end up with a police state, as many other countries have done. Only if we keep them firmly in tandem can we maintain a democratic society for long.

We can have 100 per cent order — if we want that as our ultimate objective. I would rather pay the price of a little disorder, and not give up the restraints and safeguards of the law, even though this makes it harder to hunt, to hold, and to punish wrongdoers. No one ever promised that a policeman's lot would be an easy one.

In the end, genuine civil order can rest only on the law, on a high regard and respect for the law by the average citizen. If the law is bent and knotted as a weapon against people we disapprove of — like the Powell ilk — then we are simply playing the game of illegality against criminals, and we win not because we are right, but only because we are stronger. Order imposed this way just breeds contempt for law.

1st Performance of All-School Play Set Wednesday Night

KAUKAUNA — First performance of the all-school play, "The Crucible," will be given in the student commons at 8 p.m. Wednesday with other performances scheduled at the same time Thursday and Saturday.

Advance ticket sales have been held due to limited seating capacity in the commons and tickets will only be sold at the door if seating remains available. The play deals with the witchcraft trials in Salem, Mass., in the last century and features Lois Schmidt in the lead role as accuser.

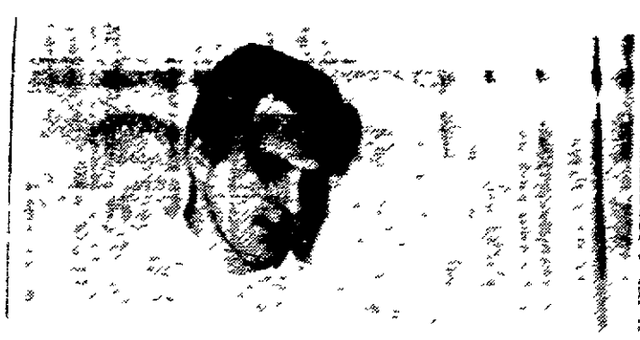
Student Director

Joseph McCarty is serving as student director while Thomas Schafer, instructor, is serving as adviser. Members of the costume committee are Susan DeGoey and Vickie Kuchelemister. Costumes were ordered from New York. Ushers are Janet Knapp, Mary Ann Feldkamp, Lynn Goetzman, Margie Kuehn, Linda Otte and Jane Schultz.

A new portable lighting system will be used and working on stage and lighting will be Christopher Driessen, Charles Heindel, Steve Driessen, James Nagan and Charles Albertz.

Ticket committee members are Peggy Strauss, Linda Kettner, Michele Steffens, Mina Gajewski and Jane Simon and programs will be handled by Barbara Kluster, Ginger Schaumann and Linda Otte. Working on publicity are Anne Schmitt and Jill Hardtke.

Make-up committee members include Jane Driessen, Peggy DeBruin, Jill Hardtke, Mary Pat McCarty, Ina Weber, Mary Neisen, Margaret Bambery and Maria Coonen



Looking Over Some of the 60 volumes of "Hope of the Nation" presented to Kaukauna Community Hospital by six area business places are Mrs. Berenice Elliott, hospital administrator, and Neil Steinberg, assistant administrator. The books contain short biblical or religious stories designed to help comfort patients during confinement. A book will be placed on each bedside table in the hospital. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Circulate Petitions

Kaukauna Group Asks Parking Limit Change

KAUKAUNA — A group of interested citizens has started circulating petitions in various business establishments of the city requesting the council to consider two-hour rather than one-hour parking limits in the business areas.

Parking has been a problem for city officials for years and the American Automobile Association (AAA) has been requested to conduct a parking survey in the city. The AAA is expected to begin the survey early this spring

Persons favoring the two-hour limit feel the one-hour restriction does not allow ample time for general shopping or for visits to a doctor or dentist's office They feel tickets should not be issued to violators when the street has many vacant stalls, and the violator is not really keeping others from parking.

Proponents of the one-hour limit indicate a two-hour restriction would permit store employes or tavern patrons to take up stalls which should be utilized by shoppers. In meetings between city officials and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, additional off-street parking is the most sought-after service from the city.

Since the city does not have parking meters, revenue with which to purchase off-street parking would have to come from the general budget, a point to which some aldermen object. Police have been enforcing the one-hour parking limit strictly the last few weeks. Mayor Gilbert Anderson can attest to that He paid a parking fine Monday night for overtime parking on Lawe Street

Veteran Nurse Ready for Duty

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Inez Turley, 78, who took a physical last month for possible recall to active duty in the Army nurse corps, says, "I am ready."

Mrs. Turley admitted Sunday that the computer ordering her recall might have goofed, but added: "I can at least serve in some hospital in the states to relieve a regular nurse for Vietnam."

She has worked at Willis-Knighton Hospital here since 1961.

Mrs. Turley was a Red Cross nurse during World War I in France, Spain and Germany. Discharged as a nurse captain after World War II, she maintains reserve status.

3 Youths Fined After Fist Fight

Three Appleton youths who were involved in a fist fight in the 400 block of N. Appleton Street about 1:10 a.m. Monday, were fined $50 and costs each, or 24 days in jail, after they pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct.

The youths, who appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 on complaints brought by Appleton police, were Jerome C. Spatz, 20, 506 E. Spring St.; Walter W Wallerman, 19, 1801½ S. Jefferson St., and Richard D. Kramer, 19, 817 S Kernan Ave.

Car Skids on Ice, Crashes Into Another

KIMBERLY — Slippery roads early Monday morning were blamed for an accident which resulted in about $450 damage, but no injuries, according to village police.

About 6:40 a.m. a car being driven east on Maes Avenue by William Crowe, 26, route 1, Kaukauna, was involved in an accident with an auto being driven by Thomas Van Himbergen, 18, 436 N. Main St., as the latter skidded into the intersection of Maes Avenue and N. Sidney Street. About $300 damage resulted to the Crowe vehicle and $150 to the Van Himbergen auto.

SPEBSQSA Chapter to Seek New Members in Kimberly Rehearsals

KIMBERLY — In an effort to increase membership, the Kaukauna - Little Chute Barbershop Chapter will hold rehearsals in the band room of the village hall at 8 p.m. March 21 and 28.

Sessions are designed mainly for interested men from Kimberly and Combined Locks although singers from rural areas are also welcome. Information on the group can be had by calling Jake Lamers, A. Cooney Couillard or Kenneth Brigham.

Lunch and refreshments will follow the rehearsal.

Valley Welders to Confer at Appleton

The Fox Valley Section of the American Welding Society will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, at the Appleton Elks Club.

A panel discussion on "Gases — Their Manufacture and Uses" will be moderated by Bill Hart of Valley Welding Supply of Appleton.

William R. Arner and R. L. Thuerbach of National Cylinder Gas, Division of Chemetron Corp., will serve on the panel. Two other local experts in the field of gases will be named by Hart and will participate in the discussion.

Valley Planners to Revamp Structure

Council of Elected Officials Would Qualify for Increased Federal Aid

"Greater involvement" of elected officials in regional planning matters, and subsequent increases in federal grants, are being sought by officials of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission.

At a meeting Monday of the group's policy committee, organizational changes were discussed which would, in effect, place increased planning responsibilities on the shoulders of the chief elected executives of the 12 member - municipalities. The changes have been considered recently as a result of new federal metropolitan development legislation which would increase by 20 per cent the federal grants available on specific projects.

Grants Increase

The increase would apply to the total project cost, not just the percentage granted by Washington, but the structure of the commission must be modified so it is composed of elected officials rather then non - elected citizen members, Eugene Franchett, executive director of the commission, said.

Franchett was given authority to draw an organizational chart of the new group to be presented at Thursday's executive committee meeting.

Officials indicated an interest in forming only the highest echelons of the proposed "Council of Governments" and leaving the remainder of the organizational arrangements, such as ad hoc committees, to the new council.

Need Change

Since the proposal is subject to approval of the existing commission, officials did not estimate a date by which it may take effect. It will be presented to the executive committee, and probably referred back to the constitution and by-laws committee, since a new set of governing rules would have to be set up.

Essentially, the Council of Governments would:

—Make the chief executive (mayor, village president, town board chairman) and one other elected official from each community a member of the council, the highest group on the organizational scale. The council chairman and vice chairman would be chosen by members and non-elected citizens would serve as council members.

—Provide for the formation of an executive committee which would have each municipality's chief executive as a member, thus making the executive committee half as large as the council. Additionally, officials indicated, the council chairman and vice chairman would automatically be members of the executive committee.

Beyond those changes, the proposed council would remain much the same as the existing commission, they indicated.

Citizens Serve

At the present time, citizen advisers and technicians from the member municipalities serve on committees to study regional planning and its effects on local areas.

Franchett said the council members should be given one vote each so that the two officials from each community may vote differently if they desire. The existing commission has three members from each community, not necessarily elected officials, but they vote as one using "unit rule."

The prime mover behind the proposal, Franchett said, is new federal legislation for grants which requires that there be an updated comprehensive plan for urban areas, that there be a coordinated planning program and that the planning be "responsible" to elected officials.

More than 90 similar councils have been created in the country during the past year, he said, so the member municipalities could receive the added 20 per cent in grants.

If the proposed council is formed, the director said, "It will provide the forum for discussion of these planning problems and try to work out some mutual solutions.

"Most of the other councils of government in the country," he added, "are doing actual planning but their functions are slightly broader (than the planning commission's) and they involve more elected officials."

Ask to Provide Natural Gas in Sherwood Area

SHERWOOD — Permission to bring natural gas to this area is being sought from the Town of Harrison by Wisconsin Public Service Corp.

Representatives of the utility's Chilton office and Francis Schneider, route 1, Menasha, and William Engler Jr., Chilton, representing the new High Cliff areas development west of here, met with the town board Thursday to discuss the matter.

No action was taken at the meeting, but town officials say they will approve the installation to include the Village of Sherwood.

It is believed that the line servicing the area would be tapped into existing lines along State 57, near Hilbert. No definite plans were made, or installation date set, officials said.

A natural gas line for the Darboy area was approved by the town board several years ago.

Extensive Damage in Mishap Caused by Ice

KAUKAUNA — Extensive damage resulted to two vehicles, but no one was injured in an accident at Seventh Street and Quinney Avenue about 9:15 p.m. Sunday.

According to police, a car being driven by Lawrence Wolfinger, 23, route 3, Kaukauna, was making a left turn from Quinney onto Seventh when his car struck a patch of ice and skidded into a legally parked auto owned by Jerome L. Coonen, 300 E. Seventh St.

Veterans Seek Additional Aid From Assembly

Bill Introduced to Include Vietnam GIs in Benefits

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — An extension of benefits to Wisconsin military service veterans in a variety of ways is asked by the State Department of Veterans' Affairs in a bill introduced into the legislature by a bi-partisan group of assemblymen.

Among major provisions would be the extension of civil service preference to Vietnam veterans, the same as now granted to other veterans, and other expeditionary forces, and an increase in the maximum amount of economic assistance loans from the state agency to $2,000 from the present level of $1,500 is sought.

Suggested Changes

The measure would increase the annual appropriation for veterans' loans and aids from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000, while the total cost of a home on which a housing loan can be made is decreased from $20,000 to $18,000. The latter change is modified, however, by an exclusion of the land and outbuildings involved in the home development as a basis for valuation.

Other suggested changes in the state veterans' benefits law would:

Clearly establish the eligibility of dependents of deceased veterans and extend eligibility to resident unmarried widows, widowers and minor or dependent children of deceased Wisconsin veterans.

The value of the estates of Grand Army Home members which are not subject to probate would be increased from $500 to $1,000.

Income earned by Wisconsin servicemen stationed outside the state would be exempt from the Wisconsin state income tax.

New Vocational Leaders Want Aid

MADISON (AP)— State vocational-technical leaders renewed their request today for the restoration of $2 million in state aids for equipping local institutes.

The State Vocational, Technical and Adult Education Board asked for the total in its $34.4 million budget for 1967 - 69, but the governor recommended denying the amount.

Philip Lerman of Milwaukee, president of the state board, told the legislature's Joint Finance Committee that $2 million should be provided "to help newly created districts get started."

$91 to Heart Fund

SHERWOOD — A total of $91 was collected in the village for the Heart Fund. Mrs. David Huhn was chairman.

Nelson Asks End To Use of Taxless Bonds by Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D - Wis., said today Wisconsin taxpayers are subsidizing other states through federal taxes to woo Wisconsin industries elsewhere.

He proposed legislation which he said would curb the pirating of Wisconsin industry by out-of-state communities.

Thirty - four states now use more than $550 million in tax-free bonds to induce industries to move from states, such as Wisconsin, which do not authorize their use, Nelson said.

He said this is unfair to states which insist on orderly economic development.

Nelson proposes abolishing use of tax-exempt municipal or industrial development bonds to attract industries by allowing a company to benefit through tax loopholes.
